Moscow in Peril; British Slowed Up in Libya

NAZIS ASSAULT 'INNER DEFENSE' OF RED CAPITAL

Claim Breach Within 16 Miles of City.

New and menacing German thrusts to the north and south of Moscow and the apparent slowing up of the British offensive in Libya last night presented a gloomy outlook for the foes of the axis. Conflicting reports from both areas did more to confuse than to clarify the battle trends, and the seriousness of the Russian and British setbacks could not yet be discerned. The war dispatches:

(Maps on pages 6 and 7.)

BERLIN, Nov. 26 (AP).—German assault troops armed with machine guns, heavy grenades and mortars threw their combat strength tonight against what military sources called Moscow's "inner defense lines."

A spokesman said "we are making very good progress in that sector." The weather, it was said, was favorable enough to permit continuing steady pressure.

[Apparently the shock troops followed a German tank break-thru which a Vichy broadcast reported had been made within 16 miles of Moscow, in a sector southwest of Klin. Klin is 50 miles northwest of Moscow.]

Seven railway lines leading into Moscow were blasted by bombers. Several moving trains were reported derailed and 20 others damaged. Heavy damage was claimed to soviet men, trucks, and tanks by aerial bombardment.

Fifteen Russian planes were said to have been shot down on Tuesday—fewer than usual, the Germans said, because not so many were in the air.

Mention Two Fighting Areas.

MOSCOW, Nov. 26 (AP).—The soviet communique tonight said especially fierce fighting took place today again in the vicinities of Volokolamsk, 65 miles northwest of Moscow, and Stalinogorsk, 120 miles southeast of the capital.

Turn North After Break-Thru.

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP).—Powerful German forces have achieved a new break-thru southeast of Moscow, and have turned north in the opening phases of a developing battle of encirclement, official soviet advices acknowledged tonight.

The break-thru was in the Stalinogorsk sector 120 miles southeast of Moscow, and east of the hard contested city of Tula. The Germans, using tanks, planes, and infantry, advanced to the outskirts of a town identified in the soviet dispatches only as "V," but which may well have been Venev, 40 miles northwest of Stalinogorsk and a little more than 100 miles southeast of Moscow.

At least some of the German forces have swung back west from "V," the dispatches said, apparently with the object of encircling Tula and cutting off the highway between Tula and Serpukhov, which is 50 miles south of Moscow.

Southern Arm of Pincers.

In broader outline, however, the drive east of Tula appeared to be the long southern arm of the pincers on Moscow itself, reaching northward in an effort to block off the Red capital from the east.

West and southwest of Moscow, at Mozhaisk and Maloyaroslavets, the Russians said new German attacks were beaten back. However, they admitted the Nazis had occupied several villages in the vicinity of Klin, 50 miles northwest of Moscow.

In the latest development of the Russian counterassault above Rostov, on the front in southern Russia, soviet dispatches said the Germans had been pushed back six more miles in sectors where they already had lost from 37 to 60 miles, and had been dislodged from new entrenchments.

BRITISH UNITE FOR BATTLE

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 26 (AP).—Two large forces of imperial British troops united tonight in the Rezegh area and moved forward for a decisive battle for Libya.

The axis forces in that critical zone had been weakened by the earlier deployment of a German column eastward across the Egyptian

HOUSE DEFEATS AMENDMENT TO DICTATE WAGES

Predict Shelving of Price Rule Bill.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—By a 218 to 63 vote, which foreshadowed pigeon-holing of all price control legislation for the present, the house today defeated a proposal to set up a government dictatorship over the wages of the nation's workers.

Rep. A. H. Andresen, who assailed dictatorial character of price bill.

The chamber then went ahead with debate on a measure which would delegate to an administrator appointed by the President supreme control over the prices paid by the consumer for all commodities. But there were frequent predictions that the ultimate result would be recommittal of the bill to the banking and currency committee, an action expected to dispose of the issue at this session of congress.

Wage Freezing Proposed.

Today's vote was on an amendment sponsored by Rep. Albert D. Gore [D., Tenn.] authorizing the government to freeze all wages at their present levels. The administrator later could permit the increase of wages for certain groups if he found that they were being injured by the wage ceiling.

The overwhelming vote against the measure was preceded by warnings of some members of congress that the extraordinary powers the bill would confer upon the President's administrator might be used to force upon the country a totalitarian type of rule. A number predicted that a fear of economic dictatorship would doom the legislation.

Serving to increase the vote against the price control measure, it was believed by capital observers, was the prospect that Leon Henderson, price coördinator, would be President Roosevelt's choice for the post of economic czar. Rep. Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the committee on un-American activities, recently had told the house that Henderson and some of his assistants have communistic sympathies.

Cites Dictatorship Threat.

Impassioned oratory, five hours of it, preceded the vote on the Gore amendment. With the Democrats divided, the balance of power rested with the Republican minority. Many Republicans, wishful of some curb against a threatening and disastrous inflation caused by the outpouring of billions upon the arms program, were hesitant.

The break came when Rep. Harold D. Cooley [D., N. C.] took the floor and addressed the minority.

"You Republicans," he shouted, "have been talking about a dictatorship for eight years. Well, here it is!"

He was followed by Rep. E. E. Cox

BAD CHECK PASSER'S VICTIM MEETS HIM AGAIN AND ENJOYS IT

A tall stranger with a southern accent and engaging manners went into the gasoline filling station at 520 Greenleaf street, Evanston, yesterday and asked for a blank check. He brought back unpleasant memories to Arthur Sax of 1215 Washington street, Evanston, the station attendant.

Sax found a check book and while the stranger had his pen in hand slipped away and summoned policemen, who arrested the visitor. He said he was Edward L. Cordner of Dallas, Tex., and confessed that he had cashed at least 20 bad checks recently on the north shore.

"I am enjoying this," said Sax. "This is the same fellow I cashed a check for a couple of weeks ago. It was in another filling station and I lost my job for letting him have the money."

4 Are Soldiers for 2 Sides in War Same Day

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE FINNISH EASTERN FRONT, Nov. 26.—This morning four Estonians were soldiers in the Russian army—but planning to escape. Tonight they were volunteers in the Finnish army eager to serve against the Reds.

The quick change of sides came when a unit of Russians on the East Karelian front, hard pressed by the Finns, was ordered to withdraw. After the Reds had retreated the Finns heard a call from their trenches and discovered the Estonians.

Kristjan Palusalu, a heavyweight wrestler who won two world championships in the 1936 Olympic games, told their story.

Taken from Tallinn.

Palusalu was among 20,000 Estonians mobilized in Tallinn in July for service in the Red army, service in soviet labor camps, and some of them destined for prison camps.

He was one of 60 Estonians in a large group of prisoners transported to a site on the White sea to construct an aviation camp.

The Estonians, plotting escape, collected a small amount of food, but could get only one rifle with ammunition. They split into groups of seven and drew lots for the rifle. Palusalu's group lost, but, equipped with a compass, started a trek of several hundred miles toward the Finnish frontier.

Starvation threatened and they entered a village to obtain food. Discovered and arrested, they were sent to Archangel where they were sentenced to be shot. They were put in a small cell with 40 other condemned prisoners.

Out of Touch with GPU.

Several times each week groups of the prisoners remaining alive were brought before a judge. The judge said he was no longer in touch with the GPU [secret police] in Moscow and offered the prisoners the choice of 10 years at forced labor or going to the front. Most of the prisoners, including the Estonians, chose army service.

The Estonians were given two weeks training and whisked to the front facing the Finns. Political commissars watched their moves and their hopes to escape grew faint. Then today, their chance came.

DANES PROTEST PACT AGAINST REDS, FIRED UPON, SWEDEN HEARS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 27 [Thursday] (AP).—The Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter today reported police fired into crowds in trying to break up demonstrations in Copenhagen yesterday against German-occupied Denmark's adherence to the anti-comintern pact.

The paper said hundreds of Danish students gathered in front of the royal palace, singing the national anthem and crying out against Foreign Minister Eric Scavenius, who signed the pact. Police dispersed them, the account said, but they marched to the office of the Nazi paper, Faederlandet, the Rigsdag [parliament], and the foreign office to demonstrate anew. It said police battered many heads and arrested 40 persons in quelling one crowd and fired into new throngs who renewed the uproar last night.

[German authorities fine city of Paris 1,000,000 francs (about $20,000) for bomb explosion in restaurant. Story on page 10.]

DRIVERLESS CAR FOUND AFLAME CIRCLING FIELD

A 1939 sedan, worth perhaps $600, was stolen yesterday from in front of 925 Cuyler avenue. The owner, Robert B. Goddard, 939 Cuyler avenue, a mechanic, reported the loss to Town Hall police.

At 9 o'clock last night Patrolmen James Ryan and Adam Madura of the Chicago Lawn station, were cruising past 67th street and Pulaski road when they saw a strange light moving on the prairie. Inspection showed that it was Goddard's car, following a steady circular course, driverless and ablaze. They put the fire out, but not before the car was damaged badly.

Goddard, notified of his loss, was sad and puzzled.

Hull Gives Jap Envoys a Peace 'Blueprint'

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—The United States tonight handed Japan what was believed to be a blueprint for peace in the Pacific, but it was based on the "nonaggression" doctrine preached for years by Secretary of State Hull, and hence its reception was considered highly uncertain.

Japan's two envoys, Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura and Special Emissary Saburo Kurusu, were given what was officially described as a "document" when they called on Hull about 5 p. m. for a crucial conference.

After an hour and 15 minute talk with the secretary of state they emerged smiling but silent. Hull, who escorted them to the door, also smiled.

Then the waiting press corps was informed by a state department official that the Japanese were handed, for their consideration, a paper that was the culmination of several conferences in recent weeks.

"Unnecessary to Repeat."

It is unnecessary to repeat, the officials said, what has been said so often in the past that it [the document] rests on certain principles with which the correspondents should be entirely familiar in the light of many repetitions.

Hull has repeatedly emphasized the necessity of abstinence from the use of force, noninterference by one nation in the affairs of another, settlement of all problems by peaceful negotiation, and observance of the sanctity of treaties.

However, he also has emphasized the need for equality of commercial opportunity for all nations.

Whether he held out the hope of economic concessions to Japan in return for a halt in her present course was not made known.

Considered an Offer.

In some informed quarters, however, tonight's document was regarded as an offer by the United States which—if accepted by Japan—would achieve at least a temporary truce in the Pacific.

Some diplomatic sources felt that the creed often enunciated by Hull could be translated into practical terms in the Pacific if Japan were to stop its armed expansion, including the invasion of China and the occupation of French Indo-China.

U. S. BUILDS RED SEA BASE; BRITISH ASK 2-FRONT AID

Envision Army of 5 Millions at Cost of 110 Billions.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Map on page 5.)

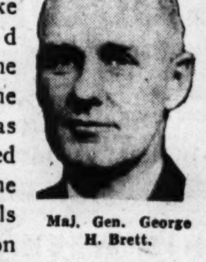
Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—Great Britain is demanding desperately that President Roosevelt take the United States into the war against the axis powers as an unlimited belligerent. The British appeals are based upon representations that soviet Russia's position in Europe apparently is hopeless, and the British situation in Africa and the near east consequently is gravely threatened.



Maj. Gen. George H. Brett.

This information emanated from conferences of high administration officials today as they studied reports from American observers and awaited the result of the battles for Moscow and Libya.

Other Facts Brought Out.

From the same official sources it was learned that:

1. The administration's so-called "victory" program, adopted after consultations with British officials, contemplates additional appropriations by congress of 40 billion dollars in the next six months. This would raise the total cost of the administration's war program to 110 billion dollars.

2. The first combat units to be sent overseas to fight the axis forces will consist of an air force for the British Isles and small expeditionary forces for Africa and possibly Iran (Persia). Ultimately, however, the "victory" program contemplates an American army of 5,000,000 to 8,000,000 men.

Building Red Sea Base.

3. The United States army is constructing a 15 million dollar base at Massaua, on the Red sea, in British occupied Italian Eritrea. The firm of Johnson, Drake and Piper of Minneapolis is building the base for the army engineers. Altho the United States has been supplying materials under the lend-lease act for the construction of bases, port facilities, railroads, and airdromes — ostensibly for British use—in northern Ireland, in northern Africa, and in Iran, on the Persian gulf, the Massaua base is the first to be constructed in Europe, Africa or Asia directly by and for the American government. Pan-American Airways is building two bases in Liberia, on the west coast of Africa, for possible use of the army in operations against Dakar in the event of a German drive down the African west coast to that French outpost.

British Planning Revealed.

4. Maj. Gen. George H. Brett, chief of the army air corps, cabled to the war department from Cairo, Egypt, on Sept. 22 that all British planning in the middle east had contemplated American war participation, with combat forces, prior to that date. As a result of their expectation that the United States soon would enter the war, Gen. Brett reported, the British were guilty of "inexcusable delays and inefficiency" in their preparations.

The war department refused to confirm or deny this information, or to comment on it.

Gen. Brett now is in London, presumably on his way back to the United States.

The implication of Gen. Brett's cablegram was that the British believed they could depend upon American intervention in the war as a full-fledged belligerent by Sept. 22. Nothing was said about any commitments on which they may have based their expectations.

Month After Sea Meeting.

Gen. Brett's cablegram, however, was dispatched just one month after the conclusion of President Roosevelt's conference at sea with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and the announcement of their joint eight point declaration of principles. This declaration pledged the collaboration of the United States for "the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny."

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D., Mont.), leader of the senate anti-war forces, apparently referred to Gen. Brett's cablegram in a statement he issued for THE TRIBUNE predicting that the administration will request additional armament

EXPECT U. S. ARMY TO START FLYING PLANES OVERSEAS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—Well informed military authorities indicated strongly tonight that it was only a matter of time until the army air corps ferry command would begin flying military planes across the Atlantic to Britain.

Bombers, which already are being flown over in large numbers by a British-Canadian organization, Atfero, and also fighters may eventually be taken across by American army airmen, it was said. Their flights would supplement rather than replace those of Atfero, according to these informants.

Can Go by Stages.

So far as is known, trans-Atlantic ferrying to date has been limited to bombers of long cruising range. But fighters with only medium distance range probably can be taken over by jumping them from United States continental bases to the British isles by way of Newfoundland, Greenland and Iceland.

Attention was focused afresh on the activities of the ferry command today by a war department press release summarizing the activities of this organization to date under the leadership of Col. Robert Olds of the air corps, who organized it several months ago.

This official review said that "altho up to the present time, the air corps ferry command itself flies no ships across the Atlantic, it is responsible for getting them to take-off points."

Future "Anticipated."

Inquiry as to the significance of this reference produced an authoritative statement that "the future is being anticipated."

Congress recently removed neutrality act restrictions barring American merchant ships from belligerent ports. It has been argued that if merchant ships can take dismantled planes across the ocean's surface there would appear to be no reason why the planes should not be flown across.

Another development bearing on this situation is the fact that as American plane production increases in the coming months, Atfero may find itself badly pushed to keep them moving to the front. Still another aspect is that the development of bases around the north Atlantic has progressed rapidly in recent months to provide landing points for planes incapable of flying the full distance from North America to Britain.

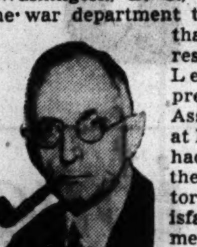
REVEAL 'SQUEEZE PLAY' IN U. S. GRAB OF PLANE PLANT

War Dept. Tells Terms of Aid to Air Associates.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—The war department today disclosed that prior to the resignation of F. Leroy Hill as president of Air Associates, Inc., at Bendix, N. J., it had insisted that the board of directors furnish "satisfactory management" as a preliminary to obtaining federal financial assistance and having the company's plants returned to private operation.



F. G. Coburn.

At the same time the department denied charges which it said had been made by Hill and "appeared recently in the newspapers" that there had been "unwarranted and arbitrary interference by the war department" with the management of Air Associates.

"There has been no such interference," the department said in a formal statement.

Deny Counter Proposal.

Likewise it declared there was "no truth in the statement that the company proposed Mr. Acre to be manager and that the war department objected. No such proposal ever was made." [Raymond Acre is head of Air Associates' Los Angeles plant.]

Frederic G. Coburn, who has been chairman of the board of McLellan Stores company, has been elected president of Air Associates, Inc., the board announced today. Coburn is a member of a New York engineering firm, and a graduate of the United States Naval academy and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He served in the navy as a naval constructor until 1919.

In announcing on Nov. 19 his resignation and that of Harold I. Crow, vice president, Hill said the board of directors had asked the resignations "in order to comply with the demand of the war department."

The war department took over operation of the Air Associates plants on Oct. 31 after labor difficulties had resulted in stoppage of production.

$500,000 Advance Arranged.

The war department said that when it took possession of Air Associates it found that the company did not have means of meeting its obligations to banks and other creditors, and an advance of $500,000 was agreed on in coöperation with the navy "to remove the financial pressure and finance continued operation." The statement added:

"As part of the arrangement the war department asked for and received the assurance of the board of directors of the company that satisfactory management would be placed in charge, so that the war department might withdraw from the plant and be reasonably assured of management in which it had confidence.

"The president and his assistant then resigned at the suggestion of the board of directors."

For the future, the department declared, "We have confidence that capable management will be obtained and that army control soon can be withdrawn and operations resumed under private management."

PEDDLER DIES IN STREET.

Isadore Silverman, 58 years old, 1233 South Homan avenue, fell dead yesterday in front of 1122 South Troy street. He was a peddler.

TRUCK LOADERS RETURN TO WORK; WIN PAY BOOST

Freight loaders employed by the major trucking companies in and around Chicago returned to work yesterday after accepting a compromise settlement of their demands for more wages and changes in working conditions. A total of 2,300 loaders, members of local 710 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters [AFL], had struck Monday.

The loaders accepted an increase in minimum pay from 55 cents to 67½ cents an hour, with time and one-half for more than 10 hours in one day or 54 hours in one week. They had demanded a minimum of 75 cents an hour and an eight hour day.

Union officials and representatives of the companies signed contracts during the day which made the new scale retroactive to Nov. 16, the date on which the former contract expired.

2 Caught Stealing Coin Box Held for 'Mischief'

Two youths seized Tuesday night while trying to steal a coin telephone in a University of Chicago building were charged with malicious mischief yesterday. They are Robert Ehrlich, 4919 Dorchester avenue, and Warren Clarke Jr., 6845 Chappel avenue. Each is 17 years old.

Last Newsprint

Bringing a cargo of 3,133 tons of newsprint from Canada, the motorship Chicago Tribune docked on its 15th and last trip of the 1941 season yesterday.

As it drew up to the wharf on the north bank of the river alongside THE TRIBUNE's new warehouse, its captain said it will make the return trip to Thorold, Ont., as soon as it is unloaded, and will remain there until April, when navigation reopens.

He added that it brings on each trip a little more than a week's supply of the white paper on which THE TRIBUNE is printed.

The Quebec and Ontario Transportation company, subsidiary of THE TRIBUNE, has six boats plying between Chicago and this newspaper's Canadian mill at Thorold, below Buffalo, on the Welland canal. A seventh, the Colabee, belonging to a second subsidiary, is engaged exclusively in ocean traffic.

Several leased ships have assisted also in bringing 42 cargoes, averaging about 2,700 tons each, to Chicago from Canada since April 1.

ANTI-STRIKE BILL GIVES PRESIDENT NEW AUTHORITY

Tentative Provisions Told by Rep. Ramspeck.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—Acting Chairman Robert Ramspeck [D., Ga.] of the house labor committee revealed today the provisions of a tentative draft of legislation intended to stop strike interference with the defense program in line with recommendations of President Roosevelt.

Ramspeck, who attended a conference on strike legislation called by the President, drafted the bill at the direction of the committee.

It would recreate the national defense mediation board in the executive office of the President. That agency's services could be invoked after "collective bargaining or other conciliation and mediation procedures" had failed.

Public Would Be Represented.

If, during subsequent mediation, either employer or employé members refused to participate, the chairman could create a panel consisting of only public members of the agency.

Should mediation fail, the President "in his discretion" could create an emergency arbitration board which would make recommendations for settlement of the dispute in 30 days.

This organization could be composed of an indefinite number of persons, but at least one would represent the public.

If within five days after publication of the arbitration board's findings, employés rejected the recommended settlement, they would be deprived for six months of their rights under the labor relations and Norris-LaGuardia acts, as well as unemployment compensation.

[The Norris-LaGuardia act prohibits federal courts enjoining strikers from peaceful picketing.]

Seizure Power Provided.

If the employer rejected the arbitration findings, "then the President shall be authorized to and in his discretion may take possession of and operate the plant in behalf of the government of the United States."

Ramspeck also would provide a 60 day "cooling off period" during the activity of the mediation board.

Accused Purse Snatcher Caught in Police Chase

A young man snatched a purse from Mrs. Louise Taylor, 4420 Cortez street, at Cicero and Chicago avenues last night, but was chased and caught by Policeman Patrick Culhane, who was near by. At the Austin avenue police station the prisoner said he was Robert Forrester, 19 years old, 4820 Chicago avenue.

KENOSHA LABOR REGIME TIED UP BY CITY STRIKE

Municipal Workers Quit as Six Are Fired.

BY THORNTON SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kenosha, Wis., Nov. 26.—City employés, members of an AFL union affiliated with the state, county, and municipal employés' union, went on a strike today against the city government which has been controled by organized labor since the election of last April. The strike is in protest against discharge of members of the union by Le Roy Wolfe, former teacher who was made city manager by the labor controled council.

LeRoy Wolfe.

A coalition of organized labor last April elected five of the seven members of the council and four of the seven members of the school board. The elected officials all are AFL men or AFL sympathizers. The CIO is represented in only one of the three larger industries—The Nash-Kelvinator corporation. The federation unions are in the Simmons company and the American Brass company, and dominate the local labor situation.

Police Not Affected.

The strike was authorized last night and the walkout today paralyzed most city services. Policemen and firemen, who are members of a separate union, were not affected.

Firemen at a station adjacent to the city hall made coffee and served it most of the day to pickets who paraded before the hall.

Officials of the city employés' local claimed 180 of the 210 employés were out. A skeleton crew was kept on emergency duty in the city water works. The city hall was deserted except for City Manager Wolfe, who said he had no statement to make because he had received no official notice of the strike.

Three Policemen Fired.

The walkout followed the discharge yesterday of six city employés, most of them with long years of service. Strikers say they were fired with less than half an hour notice.

The three policemen, Wolfe said, were discharged for reasons of economy, the others "in order to insure better coöperation with the city government."

The union executive board after a three hour meeting tonight expressed determination to continue the strike without compromise. They will seek sympathetic action from other local unions.

Elopers, Each 16, Give Up Jobs; Will Resume Studies

Denver, Colo., Nov. 26 (AP).—The future was pretty rosy, what with $28 a week coming in to Mr. and Mrs. Merlin C. Schil, each 16 years of age. They eloped last May with 50 cents, landed jobs in a Denver sandwich shop, and got along so well they sent home Thanksgiving greetings. This was the first word parents had from them. Today, at police headquarters, a tearful session with young Schil's parents resulted in the pair agreeing to return to Omaha and high school. The parents said there would be no attempt to annul the marriage.

ROBBED FOR FOURTH TIME.

George Robertson, co-owner of a dry cleaning establishment at 3349 Indiana avenue, was robbed yesterday for the fourth time in three years. A Negro threatened him with a knife on a porch at 8030 Prairie avenue and took $30.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

THE QUESTION.

What is your favorite method of killing time while waiting for some one?

WHERE ASKED.

Dearborn station.

THE ANSWERS.

Carl Anderson, detective sergeant, 738 West 61st place—I know what you're going to say: "Just like a postman taking a walk on his day off." Anyway, while I'm waiting I read detective story magazines. Maybe that's a sort of disguise. Who'd ever expect to find a detective reading a detective story magazine?

Mabel Kaplitz, office worker, 905 Margate terrace—I've never employed waiting time to better advantage than I am right now. See this bag? It's my knitting stuff. And this sweater? It's for Bundles for Britain. Some soldier will get this khaki sweater, and I'm mighty glad to be making it for him.

C. H. Pimm, passenger agent, Joliet, Ill.—The preparation for a little session of waiting, I always say, is to fill your pipe with tobacco and then sorta sit back and study people's expressions. Just like a movie, you see expectancy, hope, worry, and resignation. But if I have to wait too long, the pipe loses its attraction and the people aren't so interesting, and I start thinking up adjectives to use on the one who has kept me waiting.

Jane Ward, Coronado, Cal.—Depends on where I am and for whom I'm waiting, but I can think of occasions when I've had trouble controling my blood pressure. Can't say that I ever sit still long enough to do a good job of reading, or anything else.

Ervin Mayer, airplane mechanic, Herrick, S. D.—I'm not very good at waiting. When I have to wait I start off by picking up a magazine. I skim thru the pictures, read a few titles maybe, and what's under the pictures, then I'm ready to pace the floor and prepare a little speech for the guy, or girl, who forgot to be on time.

Mrs. C. F. Zadnichek, housewife, Houston, Tex.—I don't know how I passed my time waiting before they started these cross word puzzles. Really, I look forward to a little time on my hands now, just so I can get my puzzles done. They're such good time passers because you can drop them anywhere and pick them up again where you left off.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 26 [Special].—Two Quakers, Arnold Chase Satterthwait, 21 years old, a junior at Haverford college, and Frederick Howard Richards, 22, a sophomore at Swarthmore college, today were sentenced to a year and a day each at a federal prison farm for their refusal to register for the army draft. Both men, who will serve their time at the farm for conscientious objectors at Danbury, Conn., are of early American ancestry.

FOR SOCIETY, ALL ROADS LEAD TO ROME'S EMBASSY

Italian Envoy Outshines Even the British.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—The battle of the embassies has entered the third social season of the war. The objective is to influence American foreign policy. For Washington social circles, however, the objective is invitations and let principles go hang.

The most coveted invitations in the capital today are not those of the British embassy. The Italian embassy has toppled the British embassy from the undisputed position it held for years.

The reason is Don Ascanio dei principi Colonna, the Italian ambassador, who is a descendant of one of the Eternal City's most famous families. The holder of a title which spans centuries is a personification of cold haughtiness which is to Washington society what the army searchlight is to the moth.

The Essence of Nobility.

The prince's wife is Donna Elly Colonna, a serene and beautiful Greek woman. Both seem to Washington society to be the essence of nobility. They entertain at numerous dinners and there isn't a society matron in the capital who would not unravel every sock she has knit for Britain to sit at the Colonna dinner board.

The appointment of Prince Colonna is regarded as a diplomatic coup of Il Duce. Mussolini found the Achilles' heel of Washington—love of nobility—and ruled out business men, politicos and career men as envoys. In addition, he has staffed the Italian embassy with an assortment of marchesi and counts.

The discovery was not that of Il Duce, however. The British were aware of the weakness long ago and have played upon it.

A British Masterstroke.

The British, other embassies recognize, pulled a masterstroke in arranging for the visit of King George VI, and Queen Elizabeth just before the outbreak of the war. Ambassadorial selections during the war period have been a marquess in the person of the late Lord Lothian and a viscount, the lanky Lord Halifax.

The British embassy and purchasing mission are staffed with title holders. A parade of British nobility has made its way to the capital since the outbreak of the war, including the duke of Windsor, formerly King Edward VIII; the duke of Kent, younger brother of the king, and Lord Mountbatten, cousin of the royal family.

The British not only are cultivating society but also are out to charm the general public. With this in view the embassy has been conducting a school for British subjects in this country in the art of "understanding" Americans. Some 1,000 of his majesty's servants and their wives are attending this course of twelve lectures in the Library of Congress. The lectures are to cover American history, the army and navy, press, literature, geography and folk ways.

Vichy Takes Up Idea.

The Vichy government has recently taken to the trail blazed by Britain and Italy. The Vicomte and Vicomtesse de Bourgoin, the Baron and Baroness Baeyens, Vicomte and Vicomtesse Daru and the Marquis and Marquise de Levis Mirepoi are names on the French roster, which recall the glitter of Versailles in the day of Louis XIV.

Not until Vichy began exporting remnants of its nobility to its embassy here did Gaston Henry-Haye get a nod from Washington society. Now he is considered important social game, and society matrons have taken to brushing up on their boarding school French.

The German embassy, which is without titles, has dropped out of the social race. Observers are confident that if the Nazis were to add a prince, baron or margrave to the staff that Washington socialites would beat a path to the embassy.

The most successful member of the titled colony in the capital is Crown Princess Martha of Norway, who has become a favorite of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

She has purchased a town house on the outskirts of the city and summers at Cape Cod. She is often a White House guest and has been entertained frequently in the Roosevelt family home at Hyde Park, N. Y.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 26 (AP).—Small detachments of Brazilian troops already are on the border of Surinam [Dutch Guiana] and reinforcements in undisclosed numbers are preparing to move up to help the United States forces guard bauxite deposits there, it was reported here tonight.

Warn Against Desperadoes.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 26 (AP).—Desperadoes swarming in the notorious penal colonies of French Guiana were described today in the newspaper El Heraldo as "a serious danger, for they rapidly could be converted into an expeditionary force of 10,000 men under technical command."

This statement was made in connection with the entry of United States troops into neighboring Dutch Guiana, which had the prior approval of Venezuela and other Latin American republics, the newspaper said.

STATE STREET WILL CONTINUE HOLIDAY MUSIC

The State street council has changed its mind and will broadcast Christmas music thru amplifiers, Elmer T. Stevens, president, said yesterday. Several weeks ago the council announced the practice would be abandoned because of complaints that the music interrupted business in loop offices. After public protest, however, the council agreed to continue the music, Stevens said. The programs will begin Dec. 16 and continue thru Christmas eve, from noon until 8 p. m. each shopping day. In deference to the office workers, each selection will be followed by 7 to 8 minutes of silence.

ROOSEVELT SAID:

On January 3, 1940, in his annual message to congress President Roosevelt said:

"I can understand the feelings of those who warn the nation that they will never again consent to the sending of American youth to fight on the soil of Europe. But, as I remember, nobody has asked them to consent—for nobody expects such an undertaking."

WHEN THIS LADY CROSSES STREET, TRAFFIC STOPS!

New York, Nov. 26 (AP).—A lady who was stopped by traffic seven months ago got even today when she went out for a stroll and halted the flow of automobiles at every crossing.

She is Mrs. Andre Duvallon's 2 year old Dobermann Pinscher named Lady, and her first encounter with vehicular travel netted her a fractured spine. Mrs. Duvallon's husband rigged up a wheeled crib which supports Lady's weight and yet allows her to propel herself with her two good front feet.

So unusual is the contrivance that trucks, buses, taxicabs, and private motorists do naught but gape as Lady crosses streets.

REVEAL JAMES' CREW KILLED BY OWN DEPTH BOMB

Survivors Say Blasts Hit Men in Water.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox today admitted that the crew of the U. S. destroyer Reuben James was blasted by two of her own depth charges while they struggled in icy water as the vessel was sinking off Iceland after being torpedoed.

The admission came as the capital buzzed with discussion that 30 to 60 of the warship's 100 dead might not have died except for the explosion of the charges as the sinking ship reached the depths for which the charges were set.

The navy department had suppressed the story of the survivors of the Reuben James for two days. Not until the interventionist New York Herald-Tribune printed the stories of survivors, who blamed a large share of the death toll to the blasts of the vessel's own depth charges, did the navy acknowledge that it had such information.

Two Blasts, Says Knox.

Knox said that two depth charges exploded in the water after the vessel was struck by a torpedo, presumably from a German submarine, may have had a "serious" effect on the crew. He did not explain why the navy had not made the information public until after its publication by the New York newspaper.

The depth charges, Knox explained, were left set for instant use on the "Y" guns of the Reuben James. The "Y" guns, so named because of their shape, fire the depth charges, which are known as "ash cans," from the stern of the ship.

As the "ash cans" are loaded on the guns they are set to explode at varying depths. The charges are of such force as to split the seams of submarines altho they may explode several hundred yards away.

Two Left in the Guns.

Ordinarily, the "Y" guns are not loaded until they are about to be charged and the fuses of depth charges are not set until they are placed on the guns. If the bombs are not fired they are removed and the charges unset.

Two charges of the Reuben James were left set on the "Y" guns of the vessel because the craft had been dropping the bombs against submarines for two days before she was torpedoed, navy officials said. One charge was set to explode at 50 feet and the other at 100 feet.

Survivors said that the Reuben James was struck by a torpedo at 5:30 a. m. More than 100 of the James' complement of 145 men, who were not killed by the initial blast, plunged into the icy water and swam for three life rafts, according to survivors.

Men Tossed Out of Water.

Twenty minutes after the torpedo struck, while dozens of men were threshing about in an effort to find the life rafts, the stern of the James went down. In a few moments the first depth charge exploded, hurling a tremendous column of water into the air. A second blast followed.

Men were tossed out of the water. Life jackets were torn off. One raft was cleared of eight occupants.

When the force of the two blasts subsided, only 45 of the 100 men who jumped into the ocean were left to be rescued, survivors said.

KNOX ADMITS HE DID NOT WRITE FOR MAGAZINES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox today disclosed that four navy articles which recently appeared under his signature in American magazines were written by members of the staffs of the periodicals because he was too busy to write them himself.

He acknowledged he found time to indorse checks for $2,225.69 in payment for the articles. The money, he said, was turned over to the Naval Relief society, which is supported by contributions.

Knox said he received $1,000 from Collier's; $75.69 for the English rights to an article which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post; $400 from Liberty magazine, and $750 from the American magazine. He explained that the Saturday Evening Post had sent him a check for $1,000, but that he refused to accept it and turned it back to the magazine staff writer and a naval officer who collaborated with him.

The secretary detailed his magazine ventures at his press conference in reply to newspaper criticism. He read adverse editorial comment in the Waterloo, Ia., Courier and the Jacksonville, Fla., Times Union for his alleged sale of exclusive news to magazines.

Knox said that he is always ready to publicize the navy but resented the "unjustified insinuation that I took money for exclusive news." He said that on the one occasion news appeared in one of his magazine articles, it was wholly due to the enterprise of the "ghost writer."

NAVY CONSIDERS DRAFTEES SINCE ENLISTING FALLS

Parents Curb Youngsters After Torpedoings.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox disclosed today that the navy is considering taking a quota of draftees in order to help man the expanding fleet.

Knox blamed the torpedoings of the destroyers Kearny and Reuben James for a drop in naval enlistments which has forced the navy high command to consider filling up naval ranks with conscripts.

However, it was learned that the naval high command has been expecting a downward trend in enlistments for months despite the recruiting campaign which is under way.

Knox said the drop in enlistments since the destroyer incidents was due almost exclusively to withdrawal of parental consent for young men under 21 years of age.

Under its present program the navy needs 13,000 recruits a month. Beginning next July it will need at least 15,000 a month.

Volunteers have been coming in at the rate of 10,000 to 11,000 a month, which is short of current needs. After the Kearny and Reuben James incidents, volunteers dropped off to 9,000 a month, but an upward trend has developed in recent weeks.

"Up to the present time we see no need for selectees in the navy," Knox said, "but we can't foretell the future. We hope and would like to man the navy on a voluntary basis thruout the emergency, but with the swift expansion taking place we may have to resort to selectees."

The navy first ran into recruiting difficulty a year ago. It lowered the enlistment age from 18 to 17 to encourage enlistments which had fallen off as a result of the passage of the national selective service act.

At the same time the navy lowered the initial enlistment term to four years for the young men it hoped to get. The customary enlistment is for six years.

The navy has shied away from conscripts because their term of service is not long enough for the building of trained personnel. The 30 months of draft service, which is enough to turn out an excellent soldier, is not enough to train a man for intricate duties aboard a man of war.

PEACE GREETING CARDS URGED BY AMERICA FIRST

Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the America First committee, yesterday asked all committee members to send America First Christmas cards this year. The cards will have the words "Peace on Earth—Good Will Toward Men" across the top and on each side will be America First seals, the bottom half being left blank for personal messages. Some members already have sent their Christmas mailing lists to the committee, Mrs. Fairbank said. The cards sell for 5 cents each and all orders must be in by Dec. 10.

NAVY PUTS GUN ON U. S. VESSEL IN JERSEY YARD

Hoboken, N. J., Nov. 26 (AP).—Navy officials today supervised the mounting of a cannon aboard a United States Maritime Commission 5,000 ton freighter here at the Tietjen and Lang shipyard.

The gun was mounted on a raised platform on the stern of the vessel, which was painted a battleship gray.

Anti-aircraft emplacements were constructed on the ship, and vital deck points such as the radio shack and the wheelhouse were protected by reinforced concrete.

BRITISH DEMAND AEF TO BOLSTER 2 SAGGING FRONTS

Fear Defeat in Libya and Collapse of Russia.

appropriations of 40 billion dollars in the next six months.

"I have it on the most reliable authority that the British planning in the middle east contemplated American entry into the war alongside of the British before last September," Sen. Wheeler said. "The British expected American maintenance facilities and organizations, American supplies, and American combat units. They are receiving to date everything but the combat units."

Brett Doubts British Success.

Senator Wheeler did not mention Gen. Brett's cablegram to the war department, nor did he reveal the source of his information about the British expectation of American armed assistance by September.

In other official quarters, however, it was learned that Gen. Brett's cablegram was extremely pessimistic as to British prospects in the middle east. He predicted the current British offensive in Libya, but expressed doubt that it would succeed because of inadequate British planning, the inefficiency of their supply system, and their apparent desire to take it easy until the United States comes in to help them.

While the British were sitting back waiting, Gen. Brett reported, the axis powers constantly reinforced their army in Libya by air transport. The American air corps chief intimated that the British were in constant danger of a German-Italian offensive from Libya into Egypt, against the Suez canal, and that regardless of the outcome of the war in Libya, the British would face an even greater threat from German hordes pouring down thru Turkey and the Levant states to the Suez canal and the delta of the Nile.

American Tanks Outclassed.

Current dispatches to the war and state departments, it was learned, indicate that Gen. Brett's forebodings were extraordinarily well founded. Altho American strategists have not abandoned hope for a British victory in the battle of Libya, now raging, the situation of the British forces is said to be extremely precarious.

The American 13 ton tanks, of which the British had about 200, are said to be too lightly armed and armored for the heavier Nazi tanks. The Germans also have a tremendous advantage in anti-tank artillery, according to dispatches from the battle front. They have an anti-tank gun of 40 to 50 milimeters which is far superior to the British and American anti-tank weapons because of its great mobility and tremendous muzzle velocity, the reports indicate.

The administration's strategists are gravely concerned about the British offensive in Libya, as its failure would be a mighty blow to British prestige and Russian morale. The offensive was undertaken in advance of American armed assistance, it was learned, only in response to imperative demands in England that a second front be created to encourage Russian resistance and enhance Britain's prestige with Turkey.

Believe Russian Army Doomed.

Dispatches from the Russian front are even more pessimistic. The experts believe that Moscow is doomed and that the Russian army will be reduced to such an impotent status within a few months as to permit the withdrawal of large German forces for a drive into Africa.

Dispatches from American observers indicate that the Russians not only are desperately short of tanks, aircraft, and artillery, but actually are running short of small arms in many places.

There are reports of civil disorders in Moscow. The Russian transportation system is said to have been overwhelmed in the rush to move arms factories and large sections of the population westward to the Urals.

Averell Harriman, chief of the American aid mission to Moscow, is said to have been 100 per cent wrong in his report to President Roosevelt on the capacity of the port of Archangel. As a result of his information the administration sent about 10 times as much war equipment to Archangel as the port facilities could accommodate. The bottleneck there has resulted in the accumulation of war supplies on American docks, while a new route of supplies thru the Persian gulf and across Iran is being organized.

Where Billions Will Go.

The new requests for additional appropriations, it was learned, will include 10 billion dollars for the air force, 10 billion dollars for ordnance and signal corps equipment, and 20 billion dollars for lend-lease aid to Britain and other foes of the axis powers. This total of 40 billion dollars does not include the 7 billion dollar arms appropriation bill now pending in the house.

Appropriations, authorizations, and requests thus far made in the administration's armament program aggregate more than 70 billion dollars, including the pending 7 billion dollar bill and 13 billion dollars of lend-lease appropriations heretofore voted.

The proposed "victory" appropriations are based upon war department plans calling for the creation of an army of 5 million to 8 million men by 1943. British Prime Minister Winston Churchill has intimated that it will be impossible to land an army on the continent of Europe for an offensive against Germany before 1943.

High Officers Alarmed.

It was learned that many high ranking officers in both the army and the navy are becoming extremely uneasy as the administration's war program reaches more and more fantastic proportions. It is becoming increasingly obvious, they say, that the United States cannot undertake the colossal task of carrying the war to Hitler and winning it without destroying the republic at the same time.

The army especially is said to be demanding that war with Japan be averted. High ranking officers are said to be appalled by the prospect of being engaged in Europe, Africa, and the near east, and having to send troops to the Philippines, Siberia, China, Indo-China, and Malaya at the same time. The navy also is said to be sharply divided on the issue of fighting Japan, with about 75 per cent of the officers being opposed to risking a two ocean war with a one ocean navy.

Taxes Only a Sample.

"If the American taxpayer thinks the present tax rate is high, he should realize that he hasn't seen anything yet in the way of taxes," Sen. Wheeler's statement said.

"We have appropriated 13 billion dollars to be given away to Britain, Russia, China, and any other country that comes to Washington and asks for it. If the present so-called 'victory' program outlined by the United States and Britain is carried out, I predict that it will be necessary for the government to come to congress within the next six months and ask for 40 billion dollars more.

"This program has nothing to do with the defense of the western hemisphere. It contemplates the dispatch of a large American Expeditionary Force to Europe. The first contingents will, of course, be called token armies. They probably will consist of a complete combat air force for the British Isles and small expeditionary forces for Africa and the near east."

Flyers Lured to China.

In addition to his information about the British having expected the United States to enter the war by September, Sen. Wheeler said he had learned from high official sources that 500 American army flyers had been urged to volunteer for service with the Chinese air force and had been permitted to resign for that purpose.

"They were given a bonus by the Chinese government, probably out of lend-lease funds," Sen. Wheeler said. "They were promised the best and latest American planes to operate—that is, Curtiss P-40E's. Instead they are getting obsolete P-40B's, which the British refused to use in any considerable quantity.

"In some instances their motors flew to pieces, yet they are being sent not only to China, for the use of our boys in the Chinese air force, but also to the Philippines, for the use of our regular army flyers, while practically all of our best planes, the P-40E's, are going to England and Russia. What the English and the Russians can't use, we are turning over to our own men."

CLAIM AMERICA LEADS BRITAIN IN TANK PRODUCTION

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—The United States, a defense official asserted today, already has outstripped Great Britain in the race of tank production.

Military sources said at least half of the American tanks are being rushed to far flung battle lines, under the lend-lease program, for service against the axis. Production schedules of 33,000 light and medium tanks annually have been suggested as part of a proposed "victory program."

URGES OUSTING OF THOSE WHO BREAK PLEDGES

A constitutional means of recalling public officials who violate their election pledges was urged last night by the Rev. John A. O'Brien, professor at Notre Dame university. He spoke before several hundred persons at an America First committee rally in Hammond.

"When momentous issues are at stake we cannot wait for the next election," said Father O'Brien. "By that time millions may have been killed and the country ruined. If our government were as responsive to the will of the people as the cabinet in England the Roosevelt administration would have been thrown out of office long ago, as was the Chamberlain régime."

Prof. Maynard C. Krueger of the University of Chicago, addressing another America First rally in Wheaton, warned that when the post-war reaction comes, the people will ask themselves whether they have been saps or whether they have been betrayed. The answer, he continued, will be that they have been betrayed and were saps for listening to President Roosevelt's campaign promises.

French Warships Ready to Leave Port, Seamen Say

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 26 (AP).—Masters of two sailing vessels arriving here today from Casablanca, French Morocco, said French warships stationed there had been refitted and were ready to leave the port.

MOSCOW IN PERIL; BRITISH DRIVE IN LIBYA SLOWS UP

Nazis Assault Capital's Inner Defenses.

frontier near Sidi Omar—an unsuccessful counter offensive of diversion, as the British command described it, in which a third of the column's tank strength was smashed before it reached the border.

Moreover, the German commander, Gen. Erwin Rommel, faced a strong new concentration of British tanks heretofore held in reserve—an indication that the initial great tank clashes had left the British far from spent in that arm—and was himself urgently trying to bring up reinforcements for the supreme test.

New Zealanders Make Contact.

The British juncture in the main theater of Rezegh was effected by the arrival, to merge with the main British armored infantry and South African infantry concentrations, of the New Zealand troops which had beaten their way forward near the Mediterranean coast line after overrunning Gambut.

Just north of Rezegh, the men of the British Tobruk garrison were steadily advancing eastward, it was officially announced, for the rendezvous.

Far to the south of all this action, the British left wing had crossed more than two-thirds of the desert toward the Gulf of Sirte. A British bombing raid on the axis airdrome of Agedabia near the coast suggested that this force had decided to attempt a full march to the sea to cut off northern Libya and sever the coastal routes to western Libya.

"Great Struggle" Developing.

It was about Rezegh, however, that the great struggle was developing—perhaps a final struggle altho there were indications that it might be some time in unfolding.

Axis forces in this theater were not encircled to the extent that they had been four or five days ago, having improved their situation by a series of fierce counterattacks.

But a British military spokesman declared that this had little bearing on the situation now. Since the sole British objective was the destruction of the axis armies, he added, the British position was as favorable as it ever had been.

Admit "Hard Scrap" Is Ahead.

Official word that the British now were deploying tanks not previously in action suggested that Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham's army was even more strongly equipped with armored forces than it had appeared at first to be, but while optimism prevailed at imperial headquarters, the strength of the Germans and Italians was not being deprecated.

"We have a fair idea of what remains of the German forces and the indications are that just as hard a scrap lies ahead as has taken place in the past four or five days," said the military spokesman.

The Germans, it appeared, were prepared to fall back upon Derna to the west with whatever can be salvaged if they lose in the approaching showdown.

Australian Army Tests Compressed Air Mortars

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 26 (AP).—An Australian wartime invention, a mortar type gun which uses compressed air propulsion instead of ordinary explosives, is being tested by the Australian government. It is known officially as the "Kirby gun," taking the name of its inventor, who says the absence of flash when the gun fires gives it an important advantage. The gun is said to be capable of throwing a missile 1,200 feet in the air and of handling a variety of missiles.

'CONTINUOUS DAY' LOOMS IN FRANCE TO SAVE ON COAL

VICHY, France, Nov. 26.—Because of the dearth of coal and the resulting decline in electric current and illuminating gas the "continuous day" may be adopted for workers in France.

This means operation of workshops, offices, and stores from 9 or 10 a. m. until 4:30 or 5:30 p. m., eliminating the lunch interval to take full advantage of daylight hours. A number of trades already have adopted this system.

Elevators must no longer be used for any floors below the fifth, while escalators must cease to operate. The sale of electric appliances for domestic use is also forbidden.

Pilot's Wife Falls Out of Plane, Escapes Alive

NOME, Alaska, Nov. 26 (AP).—A woman fell out of her husband's mail plane today near the arctic circle, and suffered only broken legs and arms and concussion. She is the wife of Pilot Don Emmons, flying for the Ferguson Airways. She hurtled out of the plane when it was about 20 feet above the ground at a 90 mile speed, and was taken to the hospital at isolated Kotzebue.

EARLY ACCUSES NAZIS OF PLAN TO RAZE BELGRADE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—Germany was accused by the White House today of planning to destroy Belgrade by shellfire and bomb because anti-Nazi guerrilla operations are conducted from the capital of subjugated Jugo-Slavia.

Stephen Early, Presidential press secretary, referring to a memorandum on his desk, declared:

"There is a statement given to the government by several of its intelligence services to the effect that the Germans have determined to make a final assault on Belgrade, from where the Germans are convinced the action of the Chetniks [Serbian guerrillas] is conducted.

"According to the declaration of a high German official, the bombardment to which Belgrade has been subjected will be nothing to compare with what is in store for the city. The Germans have decided to raze Belgrade."

CLAIM REDS HAVE HUGE STORES OF ARMS IN FAR EAST

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 26 (AP).—The Journal de Geneve said today that German claims regarding destruction of the Red army and soviet war production were unjustified and that huge Russian reserves still exist in the far east.

Attributing command of the Red army of the far east to Marshal Vassily Bluecher, the paper said he still has 20 divisions of infantry [about 360,000 men], six divisions of motorized troops and his entire force of heavy bombers untouched by the conflict in the west. Some forces from western Siberia have been drawn to the front, however, the paper said.

[Marshal Bluecher's whereabouts has been a mystery since about three years ago, when there were indications he had been removed from the far eastern command.]

The paper estimated soviet production in areas east of the Volga river at 2,500 tanks, 2,000 planes and 10,000 trucks a month. "For artillery the situation is not so good, and is still worse for munitions. Eighty-five per cent of these were manufactured in regions either occupied already by the Germans or directly threatened by them," the article said. Enormous stocks of munitions were accumulated east of the Volga before the war started, however. Russia has enough shells stored there to last thru three months of heavy fighting and enough bullets for six months.

AUSTRALIA SPLIT INTO TWO CAMPS BY CONSCRIPTION

Slump in Recruiting Adds Weight to Problem.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Nov. 26 [Passed by the censor].—Australia is divided into two bitterly hostile camps on the question of conscripting soldiers for overseas service.

Altho not a great deal appears in the controled press, neutral observers believe the political front is likely to split wide open on the issue, particularly if the far east pot continues to boil.

Conscription has become a question of tradition. In the last war, the Australians rejected compulsory service in a referendum, and the forces abroad were kept at full strength by volunteers. Now, the anti-conscription forces claim they do not need compulsory service and many regard it as a reflection on their patriotism even to discuss the topic.

Recruiting Figures Slump.

Nevertheless government officials say the recruiting figures at present are far behind those in the last war. For this there is a variety of reasons, some dating back to the battles of Greece and Crete.

Australians were angry about those campaigns and were not slow in showing their anger. A TRIBUNE correspondent in Australia last June found outspoken resentment against the empire forces. Australians felt free to say that next time it would be up to somebody to provide arms, tanks, and airplanes if they were going to provide the men.

Recruiting slumped heavily at that time and government investigators found this was largely the result of the influence of womenfolk who did not want to expose their husbands and sweethearts to needless risks.

Prefer to Serve at Home.

The far eastern crisis, which many Australians feel is a direct threat to them, also hinders overseas recruiting. The country has compulsory service for home defense and many men prefer to serve in that capacity. This attitude is reflected in letters from middle eastern troops, many of which ask, "What are we doing here, with the Japs blowing hot and cold at this time?"

The prime minister has found it necessary to deny a persistent rumor that Gen. Sir Thomas Albert Blamey, commander of the Australian imperial force, made his recent visit home to discuss the withdrawal of Australians from the middle east.

The third factor slowing down recruiting is the high wages paid wartime workers.

At the beginning of the war, the labor party went on record against conscription, and now that it has come to power [John Curtin, Laborite, recently became prime minister], it finds itself with a bull by the tail and cannot very well come out for compulsory service.

Proponents Cite Unfairness.

Those who favor conscription say it is not fair for men from New Zealand, England, and other parts of the empire to be compelled to serve abroad and not the Australians. They point to Gen. Blamey's remarks on his arrival from the middle east recently that "the carnival spirit" of Australia made him "sick." He said that men and more men are needed to provide trained reënforcements and added: "We are not pulling all possible weight."

Returned soldiers said the same thing. Warrant Officer Harry Watts, home from Tobruk, Libya, said at a recruiting rally in Sydney, "You are not fighting a war. You are enjoying it." Watts, however, is against conscription.

Conscription has worked well in New Zealand, the man in the street believes. For the first year, service was on a voluntary basis as a result of the Labor party pledge; but at a conference last Easter the attitude changed and conscription was introduced. Now men 21 to 45 are liable for overseas service, altho to date only single men have been called up. Conscientious objectors are put in internment camps and raise food.

Price Fixing Is Assailed.

Statistics show that Australia has only 2,517,642 men between 14 and 65. It is said a huge army can be provided only at a cost to war industries already short of men. The Sydney Daily Telegraph recently described the man power position as "a muddle without plan or direction; each of the services, the war industries and the civil industries grabbing where it can, canceling each other out."

Price fixing and the 40 hour week in New Zealand are reducing the output of war industries and depriving the fighting forces of recruits, according to testimony before the armed forces appeals board by representatives of the Auckland footwear manufacturer's association.

S. Edwards, chairman of the association, testified that the manufacturers could not meet the quota of 950,000 pairs of military shoes by 1942 unless overtime is allowed at ordinary rates of pay. With prices as now fixed the payment of overtime scales would mean that the shoes must be produced at a loss.

Sixty-two employés have been excused from military service to work in the shoe factories, and the appeals board has been asked to exempt 65 more. Edwards pointed out that the short work week made it necessary to withhold these men from military service in order to meet the shoe quota.

Battles Rage in African Desert

Developments yesterday in the British invasion of Libya. The situation in the vicinity of Rezegh was in doubt, with the British telling of the merging of two columns of troops and the Germans claiming to have their enemies surrounded. The character of the battle between the tanks is such that either claim, or both, could be true. The inset map illustrates the westward sweep of the southern column, with dotted lines indicating possible British goals.

BRITISH DESERT DRIVE STOPPED, GERMANS CLAIM

Invaders Now Encircled in Libya, Nazis Say.

BERLIN, Nov. 26 (AP).—The official news agency DNB today quoted military sources as saying that the British desert offensive in Libya was stopped and the British forces encircled, that strong British tank forces had been put out of the war, and that the number of prisoners and the amount of booty was growing steadily.

The German high command did not go so far, altho it claimed "further successes" thru axis counterattacks. British thrusts out of beleaguered Tobruk were declared shattered.

Claim "Offensive Superiority."

Dienst Aus Deutschland, an authoritative commentary, said the heavy British losses in war material made it inevitable that the offensive would become progressively weaker. The trend of the battle, Dienst said, showed "clear offensive superiority of axis troops."

German submarines torpedoed a British battleship off Sollum, the high command claimed. On Tuesday a large British warship was reported damaged by an aerial torpedo.

Dienst also indicated that German submarines—one of which recently sank the British aircraft carrier Ark Royal—were sent to the Mediterranean especially to help the Italian fleet meet the present British African drive.

Trap British Below Rezegh.

ROME, Nov. 26 (AP).—Further British units have been wiped out by axis forces in the Libyan desert, it was announced here today at Italian headquarters.

Both Italian and German forces surrounded and trapped a British unit south of Rezegh, the Italians said. They asserted also that three British divisions had failed to make any gain against the Italian Savona division which is defending the frontier area of Sollum, and they said Italian and German tank formations had been able to make daring thrusts into the British lines on Tuesday.

It was acknowledged, however, that the fighting continued unabated.

SEIZE U. S. OBSERVERS AND WRITERS IN LIBYA, ITALIANS ANNOUNCE

ROME, Nov. 26 (AP).—Two United States observers, "various English and American journalists," and a second British general have been captured in Libya, Italian headquarters announced today.

A communique said the Americans were among more than 5,000 captives already in camps. They were taken, it was claimed, south of Rezegh, in the central theater of the present desert warfare.

The second British general claimed captured was identified as Gen. B. F. Armstrong, [presumably a brigadier] commanding a brigade of the 1st South African division. No names were given for the Americans supposedly taken.

[The claim found no confirmation in London or Washington, altho it was realized that a check would take time. The reported capture of a South African general corresponds with the British report of Tuesday that a South African infantry unit was taken by surprise by an axis tank column and had hard going until tank reënforcements arrived. The first British general reported captured by the Italians was said to be a Gen. Sperling, who could not be identified in London.]

M. P. Wins Commons Row; Gets O. K. to Visit Ulster

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 26.—After weeks of delay and heated debate in commons, John McGovern, Independent Laborite member of parliament, got a permit today from Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison to visit Northern Ireland. He is expected to leave next week.

[McGovern at first was denied permission when it was disclosed that he wanted to investigate the detention under the defense of the realm act of Cahir Healy, Northern Ireland (Ulster) member of parliament.]

TANK OBSERVER FOR U. S. ARMY IS KILLED IN LIBYA

Arizona Sergeant Shot in German Tank Raid.

CAIRO, Egypt., Nov. 26 (AP).—Sergt. Delmer Park of Phoenix, Ariz., a United States army observer with the British tank forces in the Libyan desert campaign, was caught in a surprise thrust of German tanks yesterday and killed. He was 21 years old.

Park was the first American casualty of the present desert war. Before going to the front, he had been one of a group of United States technical sergeants who helped get tanks in shape for combat.

Camp in Germans' Path.

Park, who reënlisted recently, camped with a group of British tankmen in the desert some miles from Sidi Omar Monday night. At dawn they arose to continue on to a certain formation of American tanks.

The camp was in the path of the German armored vehicles and they opened fire. Park got a machine gun bullet in the side and died two minutes later.

Funeral Held in Cairo.

The body was brought to Cairo by truck and buried this afternoon in the British military cemetery with simple ceremony.

American activity in the war in this area, now embracing virtually everything short of actual combat, is so extensive that a large building is being taken over to house the British aid mission of Brig. Gen. Russell L. Maxwell. Altho the United States legation in Cairo has 54 rooms, it no longer is able to accommodate all American offices.

RAF CASUALTY LIST INCLUDES EIGHT AMERICANS

LONDON, Nov. 26 (AP).—An air ministry casualty list today included eight Americans serving with the royal air force. They were:

Killed on active service: Pilot Officer L. A. Chatterton of the Eagle squadron, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Pilot Officer L. D. Louden, Mist, Ore.; Sergt. J. M. Maxon, born at Galesburg, Ill., wife at Montreal.

Missing and believed killed on active service: Pilot Officer W. M. Bishop, Cleveland, O.; Pilot Officer John Richard Cox of Chicago; Pilot Officer H. H. Hay, Kansas City, Mo.; Pilot Officer F. J. Kruszynski, Brooklyn.

Died on active service: Acting Squadron Leader P. D. Dear, San Francisco.

The death of Chatterton was reported Oct. 27. Survivors from a ship torpedoed in the Atlantic said on Sept. 9 that Hay, Bishop, Kruszynski, and Cox were missing.

[Cox, the Chicagoan, was 26 years old and had lived with his wife, Anita, at Blackstone avenue and 52d street until his enlistment last June.]

BRITISH TO CLEAR TRACKS FOR WAR; CRACK TRAINS GO

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Because British railway companies have sent a substantial number of their best locomotives to the middle east and Russia and must clear tracks at home for bigger and heavier freight trains, some of Britain's long distance passenger trains are to be curtailed, it was made known today. Reductions of these services were made to meet increased munitions and coal production. Some sleeping and all dining coaches are to be withdrawn first on the east coast route to Scotland.

MISS BARBARA BOWEN.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 26 [Special].—Miss Barbara Bowen, member of a prominent Honolulu family, was described tonight by her uncle, Col. Manuel M. Garrett, as considering herself fortunate that she learned in time that the man she expected to meet at the altar was held in Monterrey, Mexico, on a charge of slaying his elderly bride.

Miss Bowen, 28, tall, blonde, and blue eyed, sailed here from Hawaii with the expectation of marrying Dr. Arthur Frederick Torrance, 55, explorer, scientist, and author. She arrived here on Nov. 12 and learned that Torrance on that day had been charged with murder.

At Monterrey, where Torrance now is on trial, he commented today that he held Miss Bowen "in great esteem" and had been "looking forward to seeing her again." Asked if he were engaged to marry her, he said, "I couldn't be engaged to her and married."

HOUSE MEMBERS TO DROP BUSINESS FOR 2D TURKEY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—Sixteen states—and the house of representatives—will celebrate Thanksgiving day tomorrow on the traditional last Thursday in November.

Altho the house is busy with the price control bill and its members had an opportunity for turkey and cranberry sauce last Thursday, when the capital generally observed Thanksgiving in accordance with Presidential proclamation, the chamber adjourned tonight until Friday. The senate, however, will meet tomorrow.

President Roosevelt carved his turkey dinner at the White House last week but he expects to enjoy another one at Warm Springs, Ga., on Saturday.

Georgia is one of the states observing Thanksgiving tomorrow. The others are Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, and—of course—Vermont.

RIBBENTROP BIDS U.S. TO DISOWN F.D.R.'S POLICIES

BERLIN, Nov. 26 (AP).—Germany's foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, appealed indirectly to the American people today to disown what he called the "catastrophic policy of their government" and declared lease-lend assistance to Germany's enemies would bring United States to an "economic crisis the like of which no land has ever seen."

Joachim von Ribbentrop.

Speaking before representatives of the 13 anti-comintern signatory governments, Von Ribbentrop defied the United States to try to hold up the so-called new order in Europe or the far east.

He said Germany would win the war anyway—even if the United States enters it, and that the big loser would be the American taxpayer.

"I believe the American catastrophe of 1929 would be child's play in comparison," he said. "I believe the day is coming when the American people will awaken to call the President and his Jewish counselors to account."

LOVE STILL IS IN DICTIONARY, BUT FRENCH CENSOR IT

PARIS, Nov. 26 (AP).—Love is not the same in the France of Marshal Petain. The authority for this is the French academy.

The famous and exclusive body of scholars pondered for 12 weeks in an academic way and then struck from the French national dictionary two quotations which illustrate the meaning of love.

They were: "He passed his life in making love," and "He made love to all women." The academy held that these references were unworthy of Petain's "new France."

MOTHERS SEND GREETINGS WITH YANKS' SMOKES

"Share Our Christmas," Boys Are Told.

"Smokes for Yanks!"

They came with Christmas greetings yesterday. Mothers of boys in the service sent poems with their gifts to cheer the sons of other mothers. Girls sent cards with presents to faraway boys. Men who served in the World war inclosed messages that showed they understood with their own favorite brand of cigarets and cigars.

"We will light our Christmas tree at 11:30 Christmas eve." wrote a Hyde Park mother. "Whoever you may be, find out what time that is out there on the Atlantic, and light one of these cigarets at the same moment. We will all be thinking of you and our own boy, who is in camp, and we hope you will both share our Christmas happiness."

Time Is Short!

Cash, cigarets and cigars came in a steady stream yesterday in response to the warning that the time is short for sending "Smokes for Yanks!" to American boys on patrol duty in the Atlantic and in the American bases at Christmas time.

Aurora business men have hastily organized a ball for Wednesday night in the Sky room of the Leland hotel in Aurora. Five orchestras will play free. Admission will be three packages of cigarets or 50 cents a person.

Tonight will be "Smokes for Yanks!" night at the walkathon in the Coliseum. Morrie Sidell, owner of a cigar store at 201 North State street, puts a package of cigarets in his "Smokes for Yanks!" collection box for every carton given by a customer.

Dog Delivers Smokes.

Fritz, a standard schnauzer terrier, helped deliver the Western Specialty Clubs association's cigaret gifts yesterday. Altho a very smart dog indeed, who will walk a tight wire at the association's dog show in the Coliseum Saturday and Sunday, Fritz tried in vain to put the cigarets in thru the top of a "Smokes for Yanks!" box until his mistress, Mrs. Voltaire Defoe, came to his aid.

"Smokes for Yanks!" checks should be sent to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower, Chicago. Cash and cigarets and cigars may be left at THE TRIBUNE's public service bureaus in Tribune Tower or in the loop at 1 South Dearborn street. Cigars, cigarets and tobacco may be dropped in the "Smokes for Yanks!" boxes.

REBEL STOMACH IS CALLED NEW U. S. AFFLICTION

"The Great American Rebellious Stomach" is our comparatively new national disorder, Dr. Albert Soiland of Los Angeles, Cal., asserted in the current issue of Hygeia, the health magazine, published yesterday. He said this country has surpassed all others in developing weak, nervous and gravely diseased stomachs, which contribute to the increasing death rate from heart disease in young men.

Dr. Soiland attributed these afflictions to the physical lethargy of modern times, the introduction of rich, rare and racy foods and their too rapid consumption, and the "deadly cocktail."

EVANSTON CLUB REJECTS OFFER OF BONDHOLDERS

Members of the Country club of Evanston voted last night to refuse an offer of bondholders to take over the clubhouse at Lake street and Oak avenue. The club is in default on a bond issue of $107,000, and the bondholders' intention was to sell the property to the city of Evanston for a city hall. The city has bid $85,000 for the site. Warren Wheary, president of the club, said the organization probably would go into 77B bankruptcy and make a campaign for more memberships.

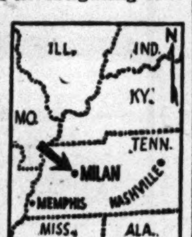
SENATOR BRANDS WASTE ON ARMS PLANT 'SHOCKING'

Former Employes Tell of Aged Kin on Pay Rolls.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—The senate defense investigating committee today heard testimony of alleged waste and extravagance in building the Wolf creek shell loading plant at Milan, Tenn., which Chairman Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.] termed "shocking" and Sen. James M. Mead [D., N. Y.] said was a "sordid story."



Arrow locates Milan, Tenn.

The cost of the plant originally was estimated at 20 million dollars, but the committee heard that 51 millions already has been spent, altho it still is incomplete.

The committee recently heard two days of testimony at Memphis and reopened hearings here today with the stories of two former government employés who left the project last June because, they said, they could not tolerate the way "things were run."

Puts Aids on Other Pay Roll.

T. D. Thomas, former chief auditor, testified that Maj. Paul Brewer, constructing quartermaster subsequently transferred, had a number of his own appointees put on the contractors' pay roll because "they were paid salaries the government wouldn't tolerate," altho the government "paid everything in the long run."

Leo B. Helzel, former chief timekeeper, related that Brewer had his father, aged 71, on the contractors' pay roll at $40 a week as "general foreman in charge of water barrels." Helzel added that he himself had his own father on the pay roll at one time at 65 cents an hour in "the rubber boot department" and "all he did was kill flies."

Idle; Paid Double Time.

It was, he said, "rather the practice of every sub department head to hire at least one relative to work under him." Frequently, he added, men reported for work and found nothing to do, and sometimes received double time while idle.

Thomas testified that Brewer, an assistant, and a secretary drove to Milan from a project at Mineral Wells, Tex., in three separate automobiles rented at government expense. When the rental exceeded the cost of the cars, Thomas added, the government bought two of them for $1,453 each and the third for $1,395 when they could have been purchased new at $1,050 each.

SENATORS CUT CLAUSE ON STARTING OF WORK OUT OF WATER TREATY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—The senate foreign relations committee struck from the Niagara water diversion treaty today a clause some members feared might pave the way for work to start on the St. Lawrence seaway without further congressional authorization.

The committee voted, seven to six, to delete a paragraph in an exchange of notes between the state department and Canada against which Sen. Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.] and others had complained.

Chairman Connally [D., Tex.] said he would present the treaty, with the committee's reservation, to the senate Thursday.

PARAGUAY COUP DEFEATED AFTER THREE DAY CRISIS

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 26 (AP).—Reliable sources said tonight that President Higinio Morinigo of Paraguay has defeated a bloodless coup d'état of pro-axis color after a three day crisis beginning on Nov. 19. During the period heavy army reserves were called into Asuncion and mounted troops patroled the streets at night.

The dispute, it was reported, started when President Morinigo refused a request of Police Chief Santiviago for special honors for the body of Former President Eduardo Schaerer, who died on Nov. 11 in Buenos Aires. Schaerer was the founder of the proaxis political entity called the "Schaereristas."

Santiviago then used the dispute to demand that Morinigo resign, and the president quickly mobilized the army. For three nights street lights in Asuncion burned all night and all citizens were kept off the streets by the troops. Finally Morinigo forced the police chief to agree to a truce, the reports added.

PETAIN REPORTED HOLDING OUT ON JOINING THE AXIS

Hitch in Expected Parley Is Indicated.

New York, Nov. 26 (AP).—Reliable reports received in New York tonight suggested a hitch in German-French negotiations, with Marshal Petain holding out against outright membership in the axis.

These reports, from well-informed neutral sources, seemed to be supported by the failure of leaders of the two countries to meet this week, as had been expected.

Chief Reasons Listed.

Petain's reported resistance to German bids was said to be based largely on recent war developments. His chief reasons were listed as these:

1. The Italians again have pressed their aspirations for French territory in recent talks with the Germans.

2. The French have received reports that German losses in Russia are extremely heavy.

3. Uncertainty of the fighting in North Africa, coupled with the belief that the Germans will be unable to develop a pincers movement against the Suez canal this winter.

Informed sources pointed out that the Germans would not consent to a meeting with Vichy leaders until they were sure they would gain a satisfactory agreement.

Berlin Makes Suggestions.

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

VICHY, France, Nov. 26.—Suggestions as to France's attitude toward the anti-comintern meeting in Berlin come from Berlin in a dispatch printed in all Paris newspapers today.

It is explained that France could not participate in "the great political events occurring in Berlin, seeing that normal diplomatic relations have not yet been reëstablished between the axis powers and France."

Nevertheless, added the dispatch, the events certainly should interest France in the highest degree, "as an important member of the European community and as an eminent representative of western civilization." The article proceeds to show that had the Red army beaten Germany it would have been France's turn next and "French civilization would have come to an end."

NAZIS FINE PARIS MILLION FRANCS OVER CAFE BLAST

Cash Penalties Replace German Firing Squads.

PARIS, Nov. 26 (AP).—The German commander of Paris fined the city 1,000,000 francs [about $20,000] today for the bombing of a Nazi-requisitioned restaurant—a method of reprisal which is replacing the shooting of hostages.

The announcement by Col. Gen. Ernst von Schaumberg was the first disclosure of the bombing. Those responsible for the bombing have not been caught.

The Germans also ordered all restaurants and cafés in the Latin quarter of the left bank, Paris, along the Boulevard Saint Michel and Boulevard Montparnasse, closed at 5 p. m. from Nov. 27 to Nov. 30, inclusive.

Parisians were warned of "grave consequences" which might follow repetition of the bombing, particularly if German soldiers were killed.

Second Fine Against a City.

Today's levy was the second collective fine since the Germans called a halt on Oct. 27 to shooting hostages in reprisal for acts against the occupying forces. Up to that date 188 Frenchmen had been shot by German firing squads.

Three days later, the city of Bordeaux was ordered to post 10,000,000 francs [about $200,000] pending capture of the killer of a German officer.

The newest bombing took place after police had announced they had cleaned up the headquarters, in the 11th arrondissement [ward] of Paris, of a ring which they suggested was responsible for most of the assaults against Germans.

500 Serbs Reported Slain.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 26 (AP).—Five hundred Serb guerrillas have been killed and 1,100 taken prisoner in the last few days, latest reports from former Jugo-Slavia indicated today.

Five Norwegians Executed.

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 26 (AP).—Five Norwegians have died before a firing squad after a German military court's sentence on charges of espionage and membership in a secret organization which helped Norwegians escape to England for military service.

Four others were given ten year sentences. Two were acquitted.

ATTORNEY GETS 9 MONTHS FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

Orrin A. Luster, a lawyer and son of former Municipal Judge Max Luster, was sentenced to nine months in jail yesterday on two charges of embezzlement, and placed on probation for four years and three months by Judge U. S. Schwartz in Criminal court.

Luster, 36 years old, was indicted last spring on five charges of embezzlement totaling $65,000. He pleaded guilty last month to two of those charges, involving $6,083. He obtained the money from taxpayers on a promise to save them penalties, but kept the money. Since indictment he has promised to make restitution, and on that premise asked for probation.

8 BILLION DOLLAR ARMS BILL WINS FIRST HOUSE O. K.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—A house appropriations subcommittee today gave approval to another huge defense supply bill—totaling close to 8 billion dollars—more than three-fourths of which would go to the army for ordnance, aircraft, construction at military posts, and other items.

The subcommittee was reported to have modified an administration proposal that it be given complete leeway in transferring military equipment, appropriated for since March 11, to foreign lands.

Committee members said funds in the pending bill were divided in such a way as to give the house an opportunity to decide how much could be used for lend-lease purposes.

The new bill, to be reported next week, provides some slight reductions in the $6,687,369,046 estimate submitted for the army. Other major provisions were said to have provided more than 600 millions for the navy and 200 millions for other purposes, including defense highways. A number of deficiency items also were included.

BATTLE TO LIFT CURB ON BRITONS' LIBERTIES FAILS

Home Minister Retains Imprisonment Power.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 26.—After a bitter debate in the house of commons today, Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison emerged with his powers under defense regulation 18B intact—still able to detain any individual whom he suspects of being capable of acting in a manner prejudicial to the state in wartime. Morrison's main strategem was a threat to resign and a challenge to commons to vote on the issue, offered in such a manner that a negative vote would have been construed as a vote against the Churchill government.

The debate on the much condemned regulation arose from an amendment to the measure which would have curtailed Morrison's arbitrary powers. Offered by Sir Irving Albery, Conservative, the amendment would have provided an appeal to an "independent tribunal" for any person jailed by Morrison. This right of appeal is not included in regulation 18B.

Measure Called "Vital."

Answering charges from some members of parliament that the regulation infringes on "Britain's most cherished tradition"—individual liberty—Morrison said:

"I say to the house that, unpleasant as this regulation is, obnoxious as it is to British tradition, obnoxious as it is to me [I do not like this regulation; nobody would wish to maintain it just for the fun of the thing], it is vital to the security of the country in time of war."

Morrison then challenged the house to vote, but commons decided not to accept the challenge, since a negative vote might have involved the fall of the government. However, political sources said tonight, supporters of the amendment will seek to force another debate so that a "free" vote may be taken.

In offering the restriction against Morrison, Albery called the home minister's powers "un-British and contrary to our most cherished traditions," citing concern felt in commons at the abolition of the "judicial safeguard of the liberty of a British subject against arbitrary executive acts." While admitting some control is necessary, he said a court should be able to detain those who should be held.

Sees a Threat of Fascism.

Sir Archibald Southby, also a Conservative, warned:

"State control of the individual, if allowed to grow unchecked, must inevitably lead to something of the tyranny of Naziism or communism."

He called it a "travesty on justice" to allow the detention of a citizen "without charge, without trial, without appeal, and with no legal protection whatsoever."

Capt. Basil Peto, another Conservative, said:

"We are not fighting Fascism abroad to have it riveted on us at home."

Ernest Evans, Liberal, warned commons that its duty is to insure that the authority given the home minister is not exceeded or abused.

Flight Lieut. Robert Boothby, Conservative, pointed out that parliament had intended that the regulation should allow imprisonment of suspects only for a few weeks or months, and not extend to the present lengths, to "what amounts to penal servitude for several years."

URGES 'GENERAL STAFF' TO DRAW POSTWAR PLANS

Sir Herbert Gepp, Australian manufacturer and member of the British Purchasing commission, last night called for the appointment of a "general staff" composed of representatives of "all the democratic countries" to draw plans for postwar reconstruction.

Sir Herbert Gepp.

He spoke before 200 members of the Chicago section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in the Medinah club. C. C. Austin, chairman of the group, presided.

"Part of the war effort is to think continuously, constructively, and intensively about the reconstruction which must take place in all the democratic countries when peace again comes," Dr. Gepp said. "We all have excelled in postmortem diagnosis of the past, but we have not applied the observed results so as to prepare for the future."

He said the whole world would look to the United States for leadership after the war.

Shelving of Price Control Legislation Predicted.

[D., Ga.], who appealed to the house in fiery fashion.

"The time is at hand," Cox declared, "when this house has an opportunity of demonstrating to the country that it has recaptured its independence and self-respect. It has the opportunity in its hands to give evidence of the fact that it expects to have something to do with writing legislation from now on.

Hits Licensing of Industry.

"The Gore amendment should be beaten down and of course the house is going to throw out the amendment to restore to the committee bill the provision for licensing industry. When that is all over, then this whole question should be recommitted to the committee for them to write a bill in keeping with what is apparently the sentiment of this house and of this country."

"I am glad," commented Rep. August H. Andresen [R., Minn.], "that the Democrats are at last alive to the dangers of the dictatorship in this country. This bill is, of course, part of a dictatorial scheme to remake America."

"It is a bill," agreed Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott [R., Mich.], "to turn over the economic destiny of 132 million people to an individual."

Rep. Dies walked to the well.

"The issue here is Leon Henderson," he asserted. "All that Henderson has ever said in reply to my evidence that he has communist leanings is that I am not a responsible member of congress. Mr. Speaker, I am sick and tired of the arrogance of the burocrats that have infested this government and I am going to vote to recommit this bill because I refuse to put into the hands of the enemies of this country vast powers to strangle our whole economic and political system."

Tired of Inaction.

Dies said he was weary of presidential failure to clean the government structure of communists and Fascists.

"I have submitted to the President the names of 1,126 members of a subversive organization employed by this government and I am sending, in addition, to the White House the names of 15,000 Nazis, many of whom hold positions in our defense industries," he said. "I am going to use all the power at my command to get the White House to take whatever action is necessary."

The house engaged in a heated battle over an amendment, sponsored by the committee, which would permit the administrator to buy and sell commodities in order to assist in enforcement of his decrees.

Republicans Map Course.

Republicans held a conference this morning and Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts, the minority leader, later announced that there was a strong move to send the entire subject to price control back to committee. There was decided opposition to the licensing features of the bill, Martin said.

"Anyway, why all the hurry?" he asked. "The senate is not going to take up price control before next spring."

The house postponed until Friday further action on the measure.

Lady Mountbatten Flying to Britain After U. S. Visit

New York, Nov. 26 (AP).—Lady Edwina Mountbatten, wife of Lord Louis Mountbatten, British naval officer and cousin of King George VI., departed today for London aboard the Yankee Clipper accompanied by her daughter, Pamela, 12. She visited 22 American and 10 Canadian cities explaining British relief organizations. Her husband preceded her to England after a short stay in this country as commander of the aircraft carrier Illustrious, being repaired at Norfolk.

MAID ROBBED IN STREET.

Miss Mae Brabenetz, a maid employed at 199 Lake Shore drive, was robbed of $5 and her fox scarf and muff valued at $200 early today by two Negroes shortly after she alighted from a Chicago avenue street car at Seneca street.

SCHOOL BOARD TO FIGHT SALES TAX ON LUNCHES

The board of education yesterday ordered its attorney, Richard S. Folsom, to sue for an injunction to restrain the state department of finance from collecting 2 per cent sales tax on lunches sold to school children.

Folsom has given the board an opinion holding that schools are exempt from the tax. This theory was supported by F. O. Washam, director of the school lunchrooms, who said the lunches were sold because state law requires it and that the board had been exempted in previous years.

Representatives of the Chicago Teachers' union requested that their pay be restored to the levels prevailing before a 23½ per cent pay cut was applied in 1933.

Climax of Meeting

Full dress rehearsal of an historical dramatization of the Illinois Supreme court—including what Lincoln said to Douglas when they won a murder case together, and how a powerful blow was struck at slavery in a decision of 1841—was held yesterday in the headquarters of the Chicago Bar association at 39 South La Salle street.

The dignified depiction of the state's history will climax an all-day meeting of the Illinois State Bar association tomorrow and will be a feature of the evening dinner tendered to the present Supreme court justices in the Palmer House.

More than 1,000 lawyers from all sections of the state will attend the day's sessions. Noted Chicago lawyers will be among the speakers.

ARMORED TROOPS FIGHTING BETTER IN MANEUVERS

Learn to Keep Tanks from Being Easy Targets.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camden, S. C., Nov. 26.—The army's two armored divisions were much more efficient today in their participation in the final phase of the "battle of the Carolinas" than they were in last week's maneuvers.

An instance of their success was the capture of an entire Blue anti-tank battalion, including all the unit's 75 and 37 mm. guns, by the Red 2d battalion of the 2d armored division.

The increased effectiveness of the armored forces is partly due to the knowledge they gained in the first phase of the exercise that they can avoid enemy anti-tank gun nests by shunning highways.

Tanks Had Followed Roads.

The enemy Blues were aware that troops engaging in American maneuvers habitually follow roads, so it was elementary for them to mass anti-tank guns along highways.

Thus far in the devolpment of modern war weapons, properly handled tanks are more mobile than anti-tank guns.

Present weaknesses in the handling of modern weapons by practicing forces are a lack of knowledge of the weapons' performance, lack of initiative in utilizing their full performance, and lack of experience synchronizing dive bombers, tanks, and motorized infantry.

Report Delay in Air Support.

The air officer with the armored corps reported today that an hour and 15 minutes elapse during the maneuvers from the time an advanced element commander requests dive bombers and the time the bombers fulfill the request.

It was pointed out that tanks must not stop if their advance is to be successful because they can be destroyed by sufficient gunfire and in much less than an hour and 15 minutes.

FALL INJURIES KILL FARMER.

Gibson City, Ill., Nov. 26 [Special].—A 30 foot fall in an elevator shaft at his farm several weeks ago proved fatal today to Charles Johnson, 81, farmer living near here. He died in a Champaign hospital.

SLAIN LAWYER'S AUTO FOUND; TWO BOYS ARE SOUGHT

Leesburg, Va., Nov. 27 [Wednesday] (AP).—Loudoun county officers said early today that an automobile owned by Ward Loveless, Washington, D. C., attorney slain at his home here Monday, had been found at Cumberland, Ky. Kentucky police reported that two "boys" whose homes were at Bluefield, W. Va., had abandoned the green coupé, and were being sought.

"Their names are known to Cumberland police," he said. One of the boys is 16 years old, the other 17.

Police said discovery of the car, missing since the bullet riddled body of Loveless was found stuffed into a china closet at his country home, was a major break in the search for his killers.

Sheriff Paul Alexander, Commonwealth's Attorney Charles Harrison, and Virginia State Trooper Helms left at once by automobile for Cumberland.

KANKAKEE RESIDENT DIES.

Kankakee, Ill., Nov. 26 [Special].—Henry C. Hertzberg, 61 years old, life resident of Kankakee and tavern operator here many years, died today. The funeral will be Friday from St. Paul Lutheran church.

"Justice Deferred"

By William MacLeod Raine

(Copyright: 1941: By William MacLeod Raine)

SYNOPSIS.

Jack Waugh, who, when a small boy, saw his father ambushed and murdered in Santa Rita, returns there 20 years later determined to bring the murderers to justice. He rescues Mary Lane from a holdup and possible kidnaping and finds she is the stepdaughter of Corbett Carey, who sent his father the letter that lured him to his death. Corbett explains he had been jockeyed into sending the letter by Warren Tracy, now a foreman at the Clinton ranch. Jack is convinced Old Ab Clinton instigated the murder to gain possession of the Waugh ranch. Two of old Ab's sons are rich and prominent in Santa Rita. His older son, Brad, is running the ranch and is believed to be as crooked as his father, who, still living, owns controlling interest in the ranch. Abner Clinton III., grandson of old Ab, is Mary's suitor and a straightforward young man. He persuades his grandfather to let him try to settle the Waugh affair with diplomacy. Jack visits the Carey ranch, adjoining the Clintons, and talks to Corbett's son, Carl. He learns that Fallon, who was the first to arrive on the scene of his father's murder, now works for the Clintons, and has since the murder. Jack and Carl call on Fallon, but their visit is interrupted by Tracy and Ike Parker. In a fight that follows, Parker is disarmed and Jack gives Tracy a terrific beating. Jack hires Fallon to protect him from the Clintons. Fallon tells Jack he saw the Clinton gang, with Tracy and Brad among them, make their getaway after the Waugh murder. Old Ab hired him to keep him from telling.

INSTALMENT XVI.

THE DIPLOMAT.

Young Clinton laughed softly, carrying in his mind a picture of the humiliated and battered bully. "Tracy can't understand yet how it occurred. I wish I had been among those present."

"Ike Parker reports that you did a thoro job, Mr. Waugh. The A C joins in felicitations. We were all a bit fed up with Mr. Tracy."

"He asked for it," Carey said.

"Tracy has been asking for it a long time," Abner replied. "Ever since I first knew him when I used to go out to the ranch as a child. The mills of the gods caught up with him at last. You ought to be voted a medal, Mr. Waugh."

Jack did not unbend to Clinton's smooth urbanity, which he recognized as an approach to the real object of his call. He said, dryly, "I'm glad you are pleased."

"We're sorry, of course, that you had such an unpleasant experience when you came back to visit the district where you lived as a child. I make an apology on behalf of our family." Abner offered the olive branch smilingly, with a manner very much at ease.

"I did not find it at all unpleasant," Waugh answered coolly. "Quite the other way. I was glad the fellow made it necessary for me to lay him out."

"Then everybody is satisfied—except Tracy, who is a minority of one." Abner turned to the line rider. "I hope nothing Tracy did or said to you led you to leave the ranch, Jim. If so, I'll see that it is straightened out to your satisfaction. You have been with us a long time and you are one of our most valued men. In fact, you are really a part of the ranch. We want you to be satisfied. Perhaps you would like some other work, a more responsible position, of course, with a suitable increase in pay. We have been wondering whether we ought not to demote Tracy from foreman. His overbearing ways make trouble not only among the men but with neighbors. What do you think about that, Jim? Would a less arbitrary man make a better major domo?"

Fallon was taken aback at the question. Ever since he had been with the A C he had been what he called a two-spot, of no importance whatever. To be consulted now as to a shift in the management, with at least a hint that he might himself be placed in charge was a change.

"I wouldn't know about that, Mr. Clinton," the little man said mildly. "I reckon Warren suits the boss. He kinda keeps the boys jumpin'."

"We'll talk that over with Uncle Brad. I don't think he's very well satisfied with Tracy. Warren is too rough."

"He's rough, all right," Fallon agreed, for lack of something better to say.

"I'm glad you agree with me. We'll argue Uncle Brad to make a change. He's about ready for it anyhow. Warren belongs to the old days, when the range was a bit lawless."

Waugh's mocking smile was not too decorously concealed. "They say there is grace for the repentant sinner even at the 11th hour," he mentioned.

"The trouble with our foreman is that he isn't very repentant," Abner said.

"I was thinking of the ranch, not its foreman," Jack explained.

Clinton showed the even teeth in his brown face as he flashed a grin. He intended to be resolutely pleasant.

"If all I have heard is true, a little repentance for the sins of its past would not do any harm," he conceded. "I think I can promise that those days are over."

Fallon had been trying to find an opening to tell that he was leaving. "I'm quitting the A C," he blurted out.

"Nonsense, Jim." Abner's voice was warm with heartiness. "Not after 20 years. We can't have that. You're one of us. Don't worry about Warren riding you any more. He's thru. If you have any other grievance we'll thresh that out to your satisfaction."

"Jim is going to work for me at my ranch," Waugh contributed. "He needs a change. I think his health will be better in Texas."

"No, no!" Clinton's protest was emphatic but friendly. "Jim can't do that to us. Why, he has been with the A C since I was knee high to a duck. He lifted me into the saddle when I was learning to ride. The ranch wouldn't be the same when he was gone."

"This is very touching," Waugh said. "Oughtn't we all to rise and sing 'Auld Lang Syne' at this point?"

"I've got nothing against you, Mr. Clinton, but I'm thru with the A C," Fallon insisted. "Nothing personal at all, you understand. I just ain't very happy there."

"It's for you to decide," the peace envoy admitted. "Suppose you go back with me and have a talk with my uncle. Maybe he can get you to see differently. If not, I'll bring you back in the morning."

"No, sir. I'm staying right here." Jim set his bristly jaw. He had the obstinacy characteristic of many weak men.

"Just as you please. I thought you would feel better if you told Uncle Brad why you were leaving instead of running away like this."

"I'm not runnin' away," Fallon denied. "I'm just quitting. Can't a rider get his time if he feels thataway?"

"It's your say-so, Jim." Abner shrugged his shoulders and dismissed the subject. He turned to Carey. "I took Mary to a dance last night. She told me that she and her mother are coming out here on Thursday. Your father is coming a little later, as soon as he has finished some business that keeps him in town."

"Yes. My father told me so over the phone." Carl added, after a moment: "If you're still up here, we'll probably see something of you."

Clinton nodded. "I'll drop over." He rose from the chair. "I was dancing all night, so I think I'll get back to the ranch and turn in for a round the clock sleep."

"Be seeing you," Carl said.

"Yes." Abner let his gaze rest on the Texan. "Wish we could talk this whole thing over in a reasonable spirit, Mr. Waugh. The past is dead. Let's keep it buried. No sense in digging up an old feud."

"I'm not digging up an old feud," Jack corrected. "I'm trying to bring my father's murderers to justice."

"No doubt there were wrongs on both sides," Abner suggested. "There always were in those range troubles. You can't right them now. All you can do is rake up old coals and set them to blazing again. My people are ready to cry quits, but if you strike at them they will strike back."

Waugh smiled, bitterly. "I can understand that they are ready to call a truce. Even a satiated tiger will do that. But you might mention to Tracy and to Brad Clinton that murder never is outlawed. A man was hanged in New York the other day for a killing he did 25 years ago."

"If you get the worst of this, remember that I warned you."

"Your conscience is cleared," Jack agreed. "You can shoot at me without compunction now."

"Have it your own way," Clinton said bluntly, weary of trying to placate one who would accept no compromise. "Meet you at the war, maybe."

He turned on his heel and sauntered to the car. After he had gone Fallon excused himself. Like most ranch hands he went to bed early when he was not in town.

The other two smoked in silence for a few minutes. Waugh broke the quiet.

"I'd better leave," he said. "Before I draw you into this."

"No," differed Carl. "My father always has thought the killing of your father ought to be brought home to the guilty."

"He didn't tell me that. What he said was that I had better drop it."

"He would still say that, because of the danger to you. But if you are determined to go on, as good citizens we'll back you."

"I don't want to bring trouble down on you." Jack hesitated before mentioning another angle. "Young Clinton is a great friend of your sister, apparently. Naturally she wouldn't want her family to oppose his."

GAMBLING PROBE SPOTLIGHT TURNS TO LINCOLNWOOD

Village Trustee Testifies Before Grand Jury.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

What happened in Lincolnwood, a suburb northwest of Chicago, for which the Guzik gang paid $1,100 last July was the object of inquiry yesterday by the grand jury which is concluding four weeks of investigating Cook county's gambling.

The jury also has delved into the city handbook problem. During the afternoon it gave its approval to a plan submitted by Police Capt. Martin McCormick of the morals division, who said that it would be adopted by Commissioner Allman. This plan calls for methodical arrests, search for the actual owner of the gambling house who is to be arrested by warrant, and notice to be served on the owners of the premises to see that the nuisance is abated.

Records Show Payments.

The Lincolnwood situation, for unstated reasons, was intriguing to the grand jurors and they had issued a special subpena for Henry Modaff, who has been a trustee of the village for 22 years. For several years one of the most notorious gambling houses was in operation within its boundaries, at Lincoln and Devon avenues. The place was known as the Dev-Lin.

Records of the slot machine operations of the syndicate represented by Edward Vogel and of which Jack Guzik, ex-pander, was the big boss, were obtained by THE TRIBUNE and turned over to State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, who submitted them to the grand jury. The records also contained what was said to be the graft payment account.

The records showed three supposed payments during the month of July, itemized as follows: Lincoln Wood X 50; Lincoln Wood X 50; and Lincoln Wood 1,000. The documents, however, did not show the gangsters' receipts from that village from any gambling source. State's attorney's investigators said the income was probably included in the records of amounts turned in by slot machine collectors.

Interview Village Trustee.

Before testifying Modaff told reporters he knew nothing about the gambling operations, if any, in his town; that he was a farmer. Modaff was in the jury room for 40 minutes and he was not in a friendly mood when he came out.

This grand jury is to pass the investigation along to its successor, which is to be impaneled next Monday. State's Attorney Courtney said he will carry on his inquiry until it is completed. That means, it was stated, that scores of other village officials are still to be questioned.

COURT AFFIRMS CONVICTION OF EX-VICE QUEEN

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday upheld the conviction of Mrs. Emma Ludwig, better know as Vic Shaw, one time queen of Chicago's red light district, who is under a five year sentence for conspiracy and possession of narcotics. Mrs. Ludwig is 68 years old and lives at 2906 Prairie avenue. Sol Feinberg, alias Bloom, who was sentenced to two years in the same case, also lost his appeal. They were tried last June before Judge Charles E. Woodward.

INQUEST TODAY IN POLICEMAN'S KILLING OF FOE

An inquest will be held in the county morgue this morning into the death of Norris Robbins, 48 years old, who was shot and killed Tuesday by Policeman Joseph Feldman of the Warren avenue station when Robbins attempted to stab him. The incident occurred in front of 3005 Madison street.

Robbins was identified by his widow, Pauline, 15 North Sacramento avenue. She said that her husband, a World war veteran employed as a painter, had been acting queerly recently.

Feldman said that Robbins waited outside the restaurant at the Madison street address for nearly an hour for him to come out. When the policeman appeared, Robbins lunged at him with a knife and Feldman fired one shot at him, he said. Feldman said that he never saw Robbins before.

FREIGHT SWITCHMAN KILLED.

William Flynn, 25 years old, 5531 South Honore street, a switchman for the Chicago Junction railway, was injured fatally yesterday when he was crushed between the side of a moving freight car and a loading platform at 34th and Iron streets.

HUNT FOR CHECK PASSER TURNS UP DILLINGER'S GIRL

Lieut. John O'Malley and three plain clothesmen from the Sheffield avenue police station went to the Rienzi hotel, 600 Diversey parkway, last night in search of Walter J. Wilson, 41 years old, wanted by Fond du Lac, Wis., authorities on an embezzlement charge. A woman answered their knock and O'Malley, wishing to avoid a scene, explained politely that they wanted to talk with her husband about a minor traffic violation.

"O, yeah?" she answered. "Four big coppers and in plain clothes?"

So they took a closer look and recognized the woman as the former Evelyn Frechette, one time sweetheart of the late John Dillinger, notorious desperado. Wilson appeared then and the police took him to headquarters and Evelyn to a cell in the Racine avenue station.

Lieut. O'Malley said that Wilson admitted having passed a number of bad checks in recent weeks, the most recent for $110 at the Rienzi. Wilson said he married Evelyn in Georgia Nov. 1, where she had been traveling with a carnival.

PAROLE REACHES PRISON; TRUSTY GONE FOUR DAYS

Joseph McArthur, 27 years old, a trusty who escaped from the old prison in Joliet Saturday, might have changed his mind about escaping if he had waited until yesterday, when papers ordering his parole Dec. 15 were received by Warden E. M. Stubblefield.

McArthur, who was serving 1 to 20 years for auto theft, and Francis Holleran, 28, serving 1 to 10 years for attempted robbery, failed to return after driving a truckload of refuse outside the prison. Sunday morning they robbed a motorist of his automobile and $5. Both men were from Chicago.

If captured McArthur won't receive his parole but will spend 21 days in solitary confinement and must serve another 18 months before he may ask for parole again. Holleran's parole application was to be considered next Monday.

ON TO MURMANSK.

Secretary of War Stimson has issued a statement regarding the disposition of German and Finnish soldiers on the northern Russian front. The statement seeks to make the point that the Finns are coöperating in a move to cut the Murmansk supply line, one of the few avenues by which our lend-lease aid is to reach Russia. The secretary concludes with the ominous words:

"It is regrettable that the Finnish army should allow this condition to continue. It is not only inimical to the final interest of Finland but it enables Germany to concentrate her efforts on a line harmful to the interest of the United States."

It is only a few months since the President and the members of his cabinet were talking about the brave little Finnish democracy which alone of all the European nations honored its debts to us. Now Mr. Stimson indulges in scarcely concealed threats. When the secretary of war talks publicly about something being harmful to the interest of the United States, it is to be presumed that he speaks as the man who can do something about it with the army.

The Stimson statement inevitably raises the question of the administration's policy if the Finns reject his suggestion. Are we going to send an American expeditionary force to the Arctic to hold Murmansk and the railroad line for Russia? There can be little doubt that this is the impression which he sought to create. No doubt the interventionists would welcome action along these lines. They don't care where Americans are killed provided enough are killed to inflame the country into war.

Mr. Hoover in his recent address before the Union League club in Chicago put the case in memorable fashion.

"The preliminary demand," he said, "is likely to be for an expeditionary force to Persia or Egypt or some other place in the suburbs of Europe. . . . If we send an expeditionary force even to . . . outlying parts of this war we shall have from it a flaming of emotions from death and sorrow. . . . The inevitable end of this constant preaching of war and inflaming of fear and hate will be the demand that we hurl huge armies into Europe."

Then Mr. Hoover looked still farther ahead. "To land a force of a few hundred thousand Americans . . . would simply invite another Dunkirk," he said. "For the Germans with their inside land lines could concentrate against them. We should not forget the futility of the British landings in Belgium, Norway, and Greece. In any event, no force in the suburbs of Europe could overcome Hitler's armies. Such a force would automatically be a decoy to larger armies."

Mr. Stimson and every other member of the administration from the President down know that Mr. Hoover is talking sense. If we send an expedition to Murmansk it will go to invite another Dunkirk and thus inflame the war spirit.

SOUTH AMERICA FOR SOUTH AMERICANS.

In his occupation of Dutch Guiana Mr. Roosevelt is applying, even more so than he did in his deal for the Atlantic bases, a short term palliative rather than a permanent cure.

The European colonies on this side of the Atlantic will be a source of aggravation to American policy every time Europe gets into one of its wars, as they have in this war. Our policy should be to extinguish the foreign title and wipe out the focus of infection, rather than to obtain temporary occupation.

The United States has no desire to acquire territory in South America, but it should see to it that European acquisitions there are brought under the rule of some American nation as speedily as possible. The Guianas should go to Brazil except for that portion of British Guiana of which Venezuela undoubtedly feels that it was defrauded by the arbitration award of the '90s.

THE ARMY DOESN'T NEED COMMISSARS.

The political commissars have moved in on the 50,000 soldiers of the 9th army corps stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington. Maj. Gen. Kenyon A. Joyce, commander, announces that "qualified" officers will give 40 minute daily lectures on such subjects as "The Lend-Lease Act," "The Neutrality Act," "The Munich Conference," and "France Prior to Her Downfall."

The military instruction of our army is primitive, as has been demonstrated every time the troops have been taken into the field for large scale maneuvers. The men are underinstructed and underequipped, two factors which have contributed more than any others to the state of morale which observers agree is far from good. To turn the forces into a political army will be ruinous from the military standpoint.

Maj. Gen. Joyce may be seeking to distract attention from his military shortcomings, or to curry favor with his superiors by forwarding their political policies. But his adoption of communist technique is more calculated to depress the morale of his men than to raise it.

As we have observed before, one of the best means of improving morale in the army is to teach the soldiers more about the trade they are supposed to be learning. The lecturers, instead of reeling off the equivalents of some of Mr. La Guardia's canned sermons, ought to be addressing the troops on military subjects. What they should be telling them is what makes a German panzer division click. They should discuss the newest theories and practice in antitank warfare, the coördination of the various ground and air units in an army, and all the other subjects that our army must master before it can become a first class fighting force.

True, these discussions would necessarily go far beyond the duties of the men in the ranks, but this would be a good thing. We have an intelligent army and it will make the men better soldiers if they understand not only what is expected of them, but what their officers are trying to do. At the present stage of its training the army will not be harmed by the development of a few thousand barracks strategists, but will be helped. The strategists will at least be interested in their work.

PUT IT UP TO THE JUDGES.

Nearly half of the county's corporate expenditures are fixed not by the county commissioners themselves but by the committee on help of the Circuit court which is charged with the duty of fixing the number of employés in all of the county offices which collect fees for their services.

This year the judges of the help committee opened their hearings with an earnest admonition to the elected job holders appearing before them to search their souls and see if they could not find some way of reducing expenses and helping the county relieve its financial distress. The representatives of the county board also appeared before the committee and pleaded with it to go light on dishing out the jobs, inasmuch as the county is something more than $3,500,000 short of making ends meet.

This was all according to time honored custom. We won't at this time predict that it will do no good, but we can observe that the same things have been said in many previous years and in the previous years they never did any good.

The county government has to cut expenses or go bankrupt. The most obvious place to cut expenses is in the county offices, every one of which is jammed with unneeded pay rollers. The judges' committee on help does not have complete dictatorial power over the county budget for the fee offices. In can only fix the number of employés. The salaries are fixed by the county board. Thus the board can achieve economies in these patronage warrens, even if the judges fail to do their duty by the taxpayers.

It would be a good idea if the county board made it clear to the judges, while their hearings on help are still in process, that such economies are contemplated and inevitable. The commissioners would do well to serve notice on the judges that it is their intention to reduce the total appropriation in every fee office at least 20 per cent below the level of the 1941 budget.

The best and, in the long run, the less painful method of doing this would be to reduce the number of employés by 20 per cent. A 20 per cent reduction in pay for all employés would be inadvisable and, in these times, would work unjustified hardships on the employés who actually do the work, while additional employés would be kept on the pay roll whose help is not needed. That, however, is a matter for the judges to decide. If they will cut the number of employés by 20 per cent, pay cuts may be unnecessary.

If the judges don't act, then let the county commissioners assure in advance that they will impose the pay cuts. The responsibility will rest on the judges' heads. If the judges, in turn, want to do a little buck passing, they can call in the elected heads of the fee offices and tell them to revise their budget expenses to achieve 20 per cent economies, assuring them at the same time that they won't get more than 80 per cent of their present appropriations.

It is certain that if this program is followed there will come the most unholy clamor from the fee officers, asserting that the economy program will cripple their offices and impose on the public a tremendous loss of valuable services. In truth, the appropriations can be cut without depriving the public of a single needed service. All that is necessary is that the county officials get rid of their unneeded employés and put the rest to work.

A LOBBYIST PUTS IN HIS BILL.

Charles West, a former Ohio congressman who served for three years as President Roosevelt's personal lobbyist on Capitol hill, has filed suit against the Empire Ordnance corporation for $687,000 in payment of "services." He states that he acted as agent in getting the corporation arms contracts under an agreement that he would get a commission of 1 per cent on all the company's business. The company got government orders for 70 million dollars. Mr. West was paid $13,000 and now asks the balance of the $700,000 he says is due.

The suit is sufficient commentary on the way the federal defense agencies do business. Empire Ordnance is controled by international banking interests. These worldly wise gentlemen do not promise to pay staggering commissions for nothing. Evidently it was expected that Mr. West, in view of his past connections, could deliver the goods. He seems to have done so.

The saga is comparable to that of Tommy Corcoran, ex-No. 1 brain truster, who left Mr. Roosevelt's wing to go into the private practice of law when the armament program began to burgeon. Since then Mr. Corcoran's lobbying practices have become a Washington scandal and his fees a matter of awe. Sen. Hatch of New Mexico recently announced that he is preparing a bill to bar former government officials from practicing before government departments or agencies until two years after they have severed their relations with the government. The bill should be offered at once. It is the only means of ending the scandalous conduct of the lawyer-lobbyists who are lining their pockets thru their connections with persons in high office.

Editorial of the Day

START AT THE TOP.

[Seattle Times.]

Again declaring that the time for half way measures of defense has passed, President Roosevelt gives the American people another outline of the sacrifices he expects of them. In so doing he uses the first person pronoun plural, as usual.

In "our" daily lives, says the President, "we" must halt the waste and unnecessary use of critical materials; "we" must work longer hours to produce munitions, and "each of us must be trained in some special task that is essential to our total defense."

This is absolutely sound advice. It should apply, first of all, to government itself. "We" should mean all of us, starting in topmost places.

Scores of government agencies continue unhindered the waste and unnecessary use of materials. Hundreds of thousands of government employés stick to short hours and produce no munitions.

And how about assigning some of the higherups to tasks essential to defense? Secretary of the Interior Ickes and Secretary of Labor Perkins, for instance, should be sent where work more useful than any they do awaits the doing.

Gentlemen of fashion along the Boul Mich are eager for a view of the Linemaster's rain pants and curious about their antecedents. They are golfers' equipment and their pet name is "weather wardens." We understand that an American golfer named Tony Torrance brought the idea back from rainy England in 1935. The British species were tucked in at the ankles like ski pants, and became overheated in the sultry rains of the American summer.

Since this is the All-American season, let's start picking All-American indiscretions. Dr. Burchard's "rum, Romanism, and rebellion," which kept James G. Thanksgiving Day—the West Side.

It was, you remember, a bright, cold morning. The sky seemed to have borrowed some of the icy blueness of Lake Michigan and was flaunting it thru broken, scattered clouds. I had come from the loop, where the streets were strangely quiet and deserted, and was walking west on Washington boulevard, past grand old houses of another era. Then I saw them—a line of men, somber and shabbily clothed, ranged in a single line about two blocks long. At first I thought it was an employment line; then I saw that the men were moving slowly toward a broken little building labeled "Cathedral Shelter."

The church itself was gone—razed—and only a foundation wall of limestone blocks showed that it had occupied the entire adjacent corner. It was against the "cathedral" wall that the men were standing, waiting for their Thanksgiving dinner at the shelter.

They stood with that peculiar dejectedness of men who have come to hard grips with life—and lost: shoulders forward, heads bowed, hands thrust deeply into drab, formless coats. When they moved, it was with a leaden shuffle, weaving slowly from side to side in that habitually aimless manner of men who are forever being told to "Keep moving! Keep moving!" but who have no place to go.

Today they had a place to go: a warm dining room, a real meal, a moment's peace from the eternal buffeting. They were almost cheerful. I could hear bits of conversation as I walked along:

"From St. Paul—yeah, yesterday from St. Paul——"

"Cigaret, bud? Just the makin's——"

"Last year they had cranberries."

"No, this ain't bad. Hell, my feet ain't even cold——"

The Empty Heart of Chicago.

The geographic center of Chicago is located between California and Western avenues and 31st and 26th streets. It is indeed a dead center, for a mere handful of people live in the district. It is a manufacturing section that should have been developed into a shopping center because of its proximity to all Chicagoans, north, south, east, and west, but instead it is skirted by most of us with nary a glance.

SAVE VISION BY DETECTING GLAUCOMA.

ARE you giving proper attention to your eyes? "Yes, indeed," you reply, "and no admonitions are called for." Nevertheless glaucoma—which is responsible for nearly a third of all cases of blindness in those past middle life—continues its vicious assaults.

This malady strikes when, for some strange reason, the fluid within the eye is unable to drain away as rapidly as it should. Health demands that there shall be a perfect balance between the in and the outflow. Whenever too much enters or too little leaves the tension within rises. We need not theorize about the cause because thus far the answer is not forthcoming. But we know what happens—namely, a gradual reduction in the field of vision which may persist until most of it has been lost.

Now and then the disorder comes in a series of attacks. During the intermission the eyes may be normal. Later, rigidity again mounts. Some victims develop a state of constant pressure which is higher than normal with resulting chronic glaucoma.

The acute phase may be ushered in by an episode which lasts for an hour or so when sight becomes blurred and the eyes feel uncomfortable. Occasionally, colored halos will be observed, particularly around distant lights. If recovery follows within a short while the matter is dismissed as of little moment until a more severe incident arrives. In the next bout the pain may be agonizing, with a rather rapid loss of vision. In addition, nausea and vomiting may dominate the picture.

All too frequently the physician will ascribe the symptoms to a digestive upset and fail to spot the optics as the chief offenders. If he is alert—desirous of exploring every possibility—these structures will be inspected critically. If he finds a dilated pupil which fails to react to light, and if the eyeball feels hard to the touch, he may well suspect glaucoma. One need not be an ophthalmologist to understand the systemic reactions. Any one who complains of mild discomfort in one or both orbs, with haziness lasting from an hour to two or three days, may well consider this disease.

When it comes to treatment the patient must be in the hands of a highly trained specialist, as an acute manifestation may damage the seeing apparatus beyond repair. First of all, tension may be reduced. This is accomplished by means of drugs which constrict the pupil. A few days later a slight surgical procedure [iridectomy] is carried out. This program is vital, as 90 per cent of sight will thus be preserved. If the situation is allowed to drag along, with a second and third siege, we may be obliged to resign ourselves to the fact that full vision will never be restored. Drugs cannot be expected to take hold as they will in the early stages and it may be necessary to resort to surgery at once.

It should be stated that the extent of the injury will be greater in certain individuals than in others. Some seem to be able to tolerate an increased tension over a comparatively long period of time without much impairment. On the other hand the same amount of pressure in another may mean blindness within 48 hours.

We talk about our annual physical inventories which every one past 50 years of age should experience. But at how many of these sessions is the tightness of the eyeball determined? Without doubt, time and time again, glaucoma has been diagnosed as biliousness, migraine, or gallstones, because of the digestive disturbances.

LEAN SHANKED.

J. E. G. writes: I am 73 and my legs are now only skin and bones. What is the matter with them?

REPLY.

Lack of circulation and of exercise. If there is no trouble with the nerves you can stimulate the blood flow with hot foot baths, and the muscles with gentle massage.

COLD HANDS.

Miss V. writes: I am 20 years old and every one remarks about my cold hands. What can I do?

REPLY.

Why not hold hands with some warm-blooded, personable young man? When you go out walking, wear woolen gloves or carry a muff. Exercise—swinging the arms—will help.

"SULFA" IN SINUS.

ARTHRITIS.

REPLY.

We all would. This is a disease with many side shows and many remedies. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet listing various suggestions for treatment.

VACCINATION.

NO APOLOGY TO THE WOMEN.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—Over the radio this evening I heard from a gentleman who attends the President's press conferences that Mr. Roosevelt had sent a note of apology to the Chilean government for an article in Time magazine. The article said that, because the Chilean president was becoming more of a figurehead than an actual power, he was turning more and more to his red wine. Mr. Roosevelt was greatly aroused and termed this "a disgusting lie," and also stated that it was excellent material for Nazi propaganda.

The other evening, here in Chicago, a certain female newspaper columnist spoke in the International amphitheater and spread slanderous comments on American mothers, using the term cockroaches, etc.

Was there a formal apology from the President? Is there fear of reprisal? Do public relations within the domain mean nothing? Did the President grow indignant?

Mr. President, every mother in this country is entitled to a formal apology as much as is the late Chilean president.

R. A. Picard.

LETTERS FOR CHRISTMAS.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—A branch of the air corps, stationed at Elmendorf field, Alaska, is starting what is known as "Mail a letter to a soldier on Christmas." Many of those boys will have a much happier Christmas this year if they can look forward to finding letters resting on their bunks Christmas morning from people back in the States, especially if they happen to be from ladies.

Christmas is going to be a rather lonely affair at best for these soldiers stationed in Alaska. There will be deep snow and just four hours of sunlight, for Alaska will be in the depth of the arctic night.

So, if you will sit down and write at least two cheerful letters to these air corps soldiers you will have helped tremendously toward a big Christmas for them, and you may receive some very interesting letters in return.

Mail your letters to the Air Corps Public Relations department, Elmendorf Field, Anchorage, Alaska. Early Christmas morning before the boys are awake the first sergeant of each squadron will distribute them to the boys.

DOLLAR A DAY; DOLLAR AN HOUR.

Fort Custer, Mich., Nov. 24.—National defense workers go on strike because they make only a dollar or so an hour. They sure are doing the selectee a lot of justice. While we would do the actual fighting for a buck a day, they'd be striking because they make only a dollar an hour.

And now they hold the army on the alert to break these strikes if necessary. Why, then, go to Europe for war when we can do a lot of fighting right here among all the "good Americans"?

Maybe this sounds like a crank's complaint, because I'm in the army, but that's how the average soldier feels.

LUXURY TAX FOR GAMBLERS?

Maywood, Ill., Nov. 25.—Why must a poor working girl making a purchase of a dime's worth of powder pay a luxury tax when a gambler wins a bet and does not have to pay a cent?

It's about time this nonsense is stopped, and gambling becomes legalized, and then every gambler would pay a tax every time he won. Just think of the thousands of dollars the government or state could collect on this one item alone.

It also is not fair that the taverns must carry such a large overhead of taxes and the bookie joints none.

Mrs. Hugo Mueller.

HIS THREE WISHES.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—There are three things I should like to see before it is my time to go:

An Anglo-American alliance that benefits the United States.

A federal tax law repealed.

Mrs. Roosevelt showing a squad of rookies in her proposed women's land army how to husk corn.

C. D. MacMillan.

WHAT THE FARM OFFERS.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 25.—Well I'll be darned, and to think that any one, especially in Chicago [the very heart of the world's greatest grain basket], should call a city man a "sucker" for investing his money in a nice farm, which P. M. M. claims will only realize from 2 to 4 per cent on his investment.

He forgets that it is safe, that the owner can enjoy good credit, in necessity can always mortgage it, that he can see it, and even talk about it. He can hunt, fish, or ride; he can see the growing crops, eat the fruits, inspect the live stock. Why worry over polo, ball games, or golf, when one can go out to see his farm and talk with the tenant, and be the envy of all his acquaintances.

During the height of the depression the farm stood fast. Good tenants for good farms are always plentiful. Life insurance companies and banks fight for the loans.

Compared with any other investment it causes no worry.

LIABILITY OF UNIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 24.—I have just read a letter in your paper from John J. Woods about labor unions. Would he be kind enough to list a few instances in which unions and [or] union officials have been held financially responsible for damages resulting from union action; also when money was actually paid to the offended parties?

Mr. Woods says: "A labor union does not manufacture or sell any article or service." My impression is that labor unions are organized on the theory that they have a service for sale to each member—namely, their ability to secure better wages and better working conditions.

Mr. Woods objects to incorporation of unions, but what corrections would he think could be legally accomplished?

JUDGMENT NOTE.

Cicero, Ill., Nov. 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A few years ago I let a relative have several hundred dollars on a judgment note made out in my name signed by the relative.

1. There was no time on the note. The money had been paid to me about two months ago. I mailed the note back to my relative and it was lost in the United States mail. The postoffice was unable to locate it.

2. Could any one forge that note?

3. It was not marked paid.

4. Is there any way I can make up for the loss of that note or to prevent forgery if that is possible?

S. C.

1. Ordinarily a judgment note would be on a printed form and the form would have space for a maturity date. Do you mean that this space was left blank?

2. If the maturity was left blank it would be possible for it to be filled in in such a way that a new holder would appear to be a holder before maturity and hence to be presumed to be a holder in due course. As such, he would take clear of defenses.

3. Obviously this should have been done.

4. We see nothing effective to do now.

SAME OLD GIFTS? WHY? THERE ARE LOT OF NEW ONES

Store Counters Offer a Variety of Ideas.

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Is Dad, Johnny, or Private Jones down on the bottom of that Christmas list for the same old gift?

If so, there are many reasons this year why he shouldn't be and they all can be found on counters of loop and outlying stores. A tour of the stores yesterday disclosed this.

Take, for example, the fastidious man. He likes to buy his own shirts and ties, but have you thought of a toiletry set? There is one set which comes in husky, he-man porcelain jugs of either maroon, green, or white. The jugs, topped with two gold horse heads, contain shaving cream, after shave lotion, and powder. If he is a traveling man, he would like that leather zipper case with two brushes, and cases for his collar buttons, comb, tooth brush, and paste, and shaving brush.

Leisure Coat for Sportsman.

For the sportsman, consider the leisure coat, which is really a jacket, for lounging at home in the winter or training those jumpers in the spring. One tailored leisure coat comes in a flannel that looks like herringbone tweed. It has a yoke back and smart, leather buttons. This coat comes in tan, gray green, or powder blue.

An appropriate gift for the man who has a thousand stories to tell would be a pair of Arabian Nights pajamas. The pajamas come in a beautiful, sateen print of the Towers of Araby, and are housed in a box that is really the cover, frontispiece, and first page of the book.

For Private Jones [or is he just Tommy Jones to you?] there are many things. A suggestion for mother is to give him a warm pair of knitted ski pajamas in khaki shade. Sister might give him that clothes brush which fits into a brown leather case. Brother might come thru with that inexpensive, clear, plastic cigaret case which holds a full pack and is the shape of a deck of cards.

Drop a Beautiful Hint.

The girl down the street who is looking forward to being the future Mrs. Jones would drop a beautiful hint with a military writing kit. Made of khaki with leather binding, the kit is flat and compact. About eight by six inches long, it contains stationery, stamps, blotter pad, place for her picture, and [this might be left out] an address book. Initials will be placed on the cover free of charge.

For the miss more interested in the navy, there is a cigaret lighter of burnished chrome. It stands five inches high, and is topped with the wheel of a ship. When it is lifted to light a cigaret the lighter plays the familiar sounds of reveille.

BUSINESS GROUP WILL HONOR 4-H CLUB OLDSTERS

Fifty 4-H club boys from 45 states will be honored at a luncheon on Monday by the Junior Association of Commerce in Hotel Sherman. The youths will be presented with certificates of recognition by the association.

The certificates are presented to the boys who, due to the age limit of 21 years, will not be eligible for 4-H club work after this year. Each boy is a delegate to the National Farm Youth congress being held in conjunction with the International Live Stock exposition.

Parker Ekren, president of the association, will give the welcoming speech, and one of the 4-H boys will respond. John Strom, assistant editor of Prairie Farmer, is scheduled to speak also.

FAMILY LIFE KEY TO U. S. FUTURE FARM YOUTH TOLD

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 26 (AP).—Faith and family life were held up to young people attending the 27th annual Illinois Agricultural association meeting today as the greatest necessities for America's future greatness.

Samuel H. Thompson of Quincy, former president of the IAA and the American Farm Bureau federation, made a plea for "hard work and sacrifice" by farm boys and girls in an address before the rural youth conference held in conjunction with the association's annual conclave.

"If this nation is to continue to be the nation of opportunity and great promise, it will take the faith of this generation in the land, in themselves, in one another, in their nation, and in their God," Thompson said.

In addition to the rural youth program, the second day of the four day meeting featured conferences and annual meetings of coöperative associations and companies handling estimated farm business in excess of $100,000,000 this year.

BUMPER YEAR'S FINEST CROPS TO VIE FOR HONORS

5,000 Samples in Grain and Hay Show.

BY GAIL COMPTON.

With a bumper crop year behind them, Canadian and American farmers have dug deep into their grain bins and hay lofts to find their choicest samples of seeds and hay to send to the International Live Stock exposition.

When the exposition opens on Saturday in the International amphitheater at 41st and Halsted streets, visitors will find one of the finest displays of crops in the history of the grain and hay show which has been held in conjunction with the live stock exposition for 22 years.

Strong Display from Canada.

In the classes for wheat and oats, greater rivalry than ever before is expected between the growers on both sides of the border. Last year Canadian exhibitors carried off the title of both Wheat King and Oats King. The farmers of Montana, Nebraska, Minnesota, and the Dakotas are eager to return the two titles to the United States.

Despite wartime conditions, Canadian farmers are sending an unusually strong display of competitive samples, according to Dr. G. I. Christie, director of the crops exhibition.

More than 5,000 samples have been entered in the different classes in the grain and hay show. Judges will start the elimination of the samples on Saturday morning.

Illinois vs. Indiana.

Some of the most intense rivalry in the show is that between Illinois and Indiana farmers in the corn classes. Charles Fischer of Shelbyville, Ind., who was Corn King last year, will be back. Beverley Meal of Waldron, Ind., second girl in 22 years to win the junior corn championship for 10 ear samples, will defend her title of Corn Princess.

Illinois corn raisers will attempt to wrest these titles from their neighboring state, and also protect their honors in the class for high corn yields, and hybrid varieties.

ESTIMATE 9 MILLIONS WILL BE SPENT BY STOCK SHOW VISITORS

Chicago will be 9 million dollars richer when the International Live Stock exposition finishes its eight day run on Dec. 6, according to Association of Commerce estimates.

A record number of out of town visitors, estimated at 200,000, will spend their money freely, the association said. The higher prices farmers have been receiving for their crops and stock, and the approach of the holiday season will be the main factors behind the spending.

Association statisticians estimate that the average visitor will stay three days, spending $15 a day. Thirty-one cents of every dollar will go to the retail stores, 41 cents to hotels and restaurants, 8 cents to theaters and movies, 10 cents for gasoline and parking, and 10 cents for miscellaneous items.

Executives to Hear Arnold Talk on Curbing Unions

Thurman W. Arnold, assistant attorney general of the United States in charge of the anti-trust division, will speak on anti-trust laws and union activities tomorrow noon at a meeting of the Executives' club in the Hotel Sherman. The talk will be broadcast over W59C, the new FM sister station of W-G-N. Arnold currently is sponsoring legislation in congress which would extend anti-trust laws to cover labor unions.

FARMERS BEGIN TO RECEIVE AAA CHECKS FOR 1941

Illinois farmers are beginning to receive their federal checks for complying with AAA regulations in the past year. The checks also include parity payments on various crops.

According to officials of the state AAA office in Decatur, more than 70,000 applications for payment have been verified and sent to the Chicago disbursing office where the checks are made out.

The checks will be sent to county farm agencies where the farmers will be able to sign for them. Officials said that 70,000 more applications are in the Decatur office awaiting verification.

CHIEF JUSTICE OATH IS TAKEN BY SCHEFFLER

Judge Edward S. Scheffler was sworn in as chief justice of the Municipal court in the chief justice's chambers yesterday. Michael J. Flynn, county clerk, administered the oath of office.

Judge Scheffler was selected by other Municipal court judges to fill the office of the late Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby, who died last April 15.

In the Nov. 4 judicial election Judge Scheffler was elected to fill the remainder of Judge Sonsteby's term, which expires in December, 1942.

COMPANY TO SUE FOR MILLION OVER HOUSING PROJECT

Charges Incompetence in Construction.

Intention to file a million dollar damage suit charging breach of contract in connection with the $6,673,000 Ida B. Wells federal housing project, was announced yesterday in a preliminary action in the federal District court.

The plaintiff is the Thompson-Starrett Company, Inc., of New York. The preliminary action consisted of a petition filed by the company asking "permission to 'perpetuate testimony'" of a witness described as being near death. He is Ernest V. Lippe, who was supervising engineer of the Wells project, and who now is seriously ill in Swampscott, Mass.

Defendants Named.

His testimony, the petition said, is wanted before the principal suit is filed. According to the petition, defendants in the prospective suit will be the Chicago Housing authority, the Federal Housing authority, and the South Park Housing Architects, 80 East Jackson street, the latter including eight personal defendants and probably two more personal defendants later.

According to the petition, the architectural firm drew up the housing plans, and the individuals to be made defendants were active in various phases of the construction.

The petition explained that the Thompson-Starrett company held the general contract for the project. It charged that the company was damaged to the extent of $1,000,000 by a conspiracy on the part of the defendants to be named.

Labor and Materials.

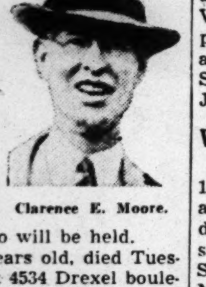
Negligence and incompetence are listed as elements in the alleged conspiracy. As a result, the petition charges, the company was compelled to spend extra large sums of money for labor and materials, and to perform numerous additional services not specified in the contract. An alleged example was cited in which copper equipment was substituted for specified less expensive metals.

J. S. Morris, attorney for the Thompson-Starrett company, said that the company has received "practically all of the contract price, with the exception of $151,000." This sum, he said, is tied up by counterclaims of the architects. Morris said that even with that amount, the company will need $850,000 more to break even on its contract.

Judge Michael L. Igoe will hear arguments Dec. 8 on whether to permit the company to take testimony from Lippe, the ailing engineer in Massachusetts.

SERVICES TODAY FOR C. E. MOORE, CREDIT LEADER

Funeral services for Clarence E. Moore, retired secretary treasurer of Charles A. Stevens & Co., and for many years known as the dean of State street credit men, will be held at 10:30 a. m. today in the chapel at 4229 Cottage Grove avenue. He will be buried tomorrow in his home town, Colchester, Ill., where services also will be held.



Clarence E. Moore.

U. S. Jury Awards $70,571 to Farmer for 315 Acres

A jury in the federal district court of Judge William J. Campbell yesterday awarded Raymond Morgan, Will county farmer, $70,571 for 315 acres of his farm situated within the boundaries of the government's new ordnance plant near Elwood. Federal appraisers had offered Morgan $59,480. He had demanded $133,000. Clarence W. Beatty, assistant United States attorney, said he did not believe the government woud contest the jury's finding.

LIEUT. KINSLEY MEMORIAL RITE SET FOR SUNDAY

Memorial services for Lieut. Rexford Raymond Kinsley, of the United States army air corps, who was killed in the crash of his bomber in nighttime anti-aircraft maneuvers over Clark field, Philippine Islands, will be conducted at 4 p. m. Sunday in the Chapel of Remembrance of the First Congregational church, Evanston. The Rev. Hugh Elmer Brown will officiate.

Lieut. Kinsley was killed Oct. 14. His brother officers held memorial services for him in the post chapel at Fort Stotsenburg, in the Philippines, on Oct. 19. His cremated remains are now in the mausoleum of Memorial Park cemetery.

Lieut. Kinsley was 26 years old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kinsley, 1211 Cleveland street, Evanston. Mr. Kinsley is a member of the editorial staff of THE TRIBUNE. Lieut. Kinsley, after graduation from the University of Missouri in 1938, worked as a reporter on the Kansas City Star. He enlisted in the army air force May 13, 1940, and was graduated at Kelly flying field last Dec. 20, with the rank of second lieutenant. He volunteered for duty in the Philippines, and at his death was in line for promotion.

In a letter to the Kinsley family, Gen. Charles P. Summerall, former army chief of staff, and now president of The Citadel, wrote that Lieut. Kinsley "died for his country as surely as he would have done had he been engaged with an enemy."

WILL OF STAMP FRAUD SUSPECT IN COURT TODAY

A hearing into the validity of the will of Rudolph [Greasy Dick] Thomas, a stamp and coin dealer, will be held this morning before Judge John F. O'Connell in Probate court. Thomas died Aug. 16 in Grant hospital. Investigators found among his property woodcuts for faking stamp cancellations and devices for perforating stamps.

The will bequeathed his estate, including a huge stamp collection valued at $100,000, to Mrs. Josephine Haeusler, his former housekeeper. The will was executed several weeks before he died in the hospital. Attorney Don M. Peebles, acting for the public administrator, filed a petition asking the court to make an investigation of the execution of the will.

Attorney Peebles has also asked that a friend of the court be appointed to conserve the assets of the estate in order to prevent forged cancelled stamps from being sold to the public. Attorney Richard A. Bierdemann, representing Mrs. Haeusler, said that a couple in Austria, who at first appeared to be a niece and nephew of Thomas, have been proved to be only friends of the dead stamp collector.

[ADVERTISMENT]
WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10c and 25c. ...

Modern GAS Ranges give "3-way Savings"

ROPER
Modern Gas Range
(1-3800-AJ)
$130.82 All range prices subject to change without notice
Turret Top • 1 Giant and 3 Standard "Simmer-Speed" Burners • a 16-Inch Bake Oven with Oven Heat Control and Built-In "Observ-alite" • a 16-Inch "E-Z-Roll" Broiler with the fine "Chromo-Grill" and Enameled Pan • 1 large "store-all" • a Roll Drawer • "Minute Minder" • Condiment Set.

Treat them to vigor-building vegetables and save three ways with a Modern Gas Range

With the new-type top burners of the Modern Gas Range it's easy to treat your family to a variety of healthfully cooked vegetables — yet make important savings in food, time and money!

Accurately controlled top burners save food by providing the exact shade of heat needed to cook vegetables the way that prevents the boiling away of precious vitamins ::: that saves more of the color and flavory goodness of vegetables. At a turn of the switch, self-lighting, super-speed top burners give the fastest cooking speed ever known — to save time when every minute counts. And because the Modern Gas Range costs less to buy and costs less to use—you can cut cooking expense, year after year.

It's no wonder that 96 out of every 100 ranges sold in Chicago are Modern Gas Ranges. It pays to save in three big ways!

STATE PAY ROLL BLOCKADE ENDS; CHECKS IN WEEK

All Except 200 Employes Will Get Wages.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 26 [Special].—The pay blockade that had threatened salaries of from 15,000 to 18,000 state employés was broken late this afternoon when state officers, after a conference with Gov. Dwight H. Green, announced that regular November salaries would be paid.

The decision was announced by State Auditor Arthur Lueder, State Treasurer Warren Wright, and Attorney General George Barrett after a fortnight of indecision during which they had said they were unable to make the payments. The difficulty was an outgrowth of an injunction suit filed in Cook county on Nov. 10.

Ask Pay of 200 Be Withheld.

The suit, filed by the Civil Service Employés Protective association, had asked that the pay of approximately 200 "temporary" employés be withheld. Judge Philip J. Finnegan then issued the prohibiting order on the ground these workers had been hired in violation of state civil service laws.

Barrett immediately informed Lueder and Wright that they should withhold the pay of all civil service workers because, he said, the injunction was loosely worded and might apply to all. If any were paid, he warned, the payee might be in contempt of court. Meanwhile he filed with the Illinois Supreme court a petition to expunge Judge Finnegan's order.

Two Months' Pay Held Up.

Yesterday, however, the justices refused to take any immediate action. It then appeared that the pay rollers would neither draw November nor Christmas vouchers. Today's conference followed and Barrett finally said that if care was used most of the state's workers could be paid. Tonight's agreement was made on that basis and all employés not specifically mentioned in Judge Finnegan's injunction order will be paid.

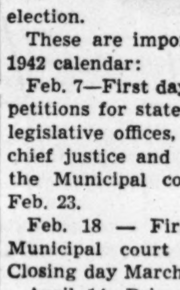
REGRETS JUDGES WON'T JOIN IN BAR COMMITTEE

Lloyd D. Heth, president of the Chicago Bar association, expressed disappointment yesterday that judges of the Circuit and Superior courts had not agreed to the association's proposal for establishment of a committee of judges and attorneys to consider mutual problems.

Replying to Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Circuit court and two other judges who wrote him of the decision, Heth wrote:

"Your letter leaves me firm in the belief that the judges are in harmony with the principle that full coöperation between the bench and bar is essential to a fair and expeditious administration of justice. The Chicago Bar association will continue its efforts to coöperate with the judges in administering the law."

WILLIE HOWARD GUEST OF ELSON AND ANSON OVER W-G-N TODAY



Willie Howard.

Willie Howard, stage and radio comedian, will appear as guest today on An Hour with Elson and Anson on W-G-N, between 3 and 4 p. m. Edith Rogers [Dahl], platinum blonde whose pleas and photograph saved Harold E. [Whitey] Dahl, American flyer, from execution by Gen. Franco in Spain, is to be a guest also.

Howard will recall some of his experiences behind the footlights.

The daily matinée comedy show features Bob Elson and Bill Anson with Jess Kirkpatrick as announcer and Paul Fogarty as producer.

1942 CALENDAR FOR ELECTIONS IS ANNOUNCED

The board of election commissioners yesterday made public the 1942 election calendar, which will be used unless the legislature should delay the April 14 primary until June 1 to coincide with the Supreme court elections and save the cost of one election.

These are important dates on the 1942 calendar:

Feb. 7—First day to file nominating petitions for state, congressional and legislative offices, county offices, and chief justice and associate judges of the Municipal court. Closing day Feb. 23.

Feb. 18 — First day to file for Municipal court bailiff and clerk. Closing day March 5.

April 14—Primary election. Registration closes March 16.

June 1—Supreme court elections. Registration closes May 2.

Nov. 3—General election, including constitutional amendment to permit sales tax exemption on food. Registration closes Oct. 5.

ASKS FOR WORK; FALLS DEAD.

A man about 55 years old knocked at the door of the home of William Maxson, 1122 South Troy street yesterday, asked for work as a carpenter, and fell dead. The victim was wearing a brown jacket, brown and blue sweater, and blue trousers. The body was taken to the county morgue.

Here Are Some Gift Ideas for Younger Folk

BY REA SEEGER.

Gift ideas for debs and subdebs rate special attention and early selection. Something to wear that is gay, colorful and new always clicks, so here goes for the newest finds in town. Take an unbelieving look at the big fluffy mittens in Dublin green, red, bright blue, and soft gray. They're the coziest finger fancies ever devised. No chilled digits no matter how subzero the weather. The palm sides are of soft, smooth leather, the fluffy fur on the outside.

For chilly feet, or for lounging about the house after a day's play on skis or tobogganing, any gay young thing would bless you always if you sent the floor mop scuffs, in brilliant colors or the neutrals. These are made of much looped yarn fastened to knitted and fitted foot sections. They're plenty goofy off the footlines, but all the youngsters love them; the price is very reasonable for all the fluff and color.

Other knitted yarn slippers feature multi-colored ringed patterns, and stretch to fit the foot. The last word in swank and glamor are the white fur scuffs with moderately high wedge soles and the cross-over instep straps.

Other fuzzy finds are the colored sports socks or everyday socks to wear with saddle shoes or brogues. You can buy and send gift boxes of either cellophane or quilted satin filled with socks. There is the godmother find, the boxes that hold a dozen pairs, 12 different colors, in the lovely Scotch angoras. Each pair when rolled and tucked into a compartment looks like a dab of colored whipped cream.

These are expensive, but less costly angoras are obtainable and some in trick mixtures of angora, rayon, and cotton for even less money are every bit as warm and colored as the imports. If a dozen pairs rate too much for the budget see the six and three combines as alternatives, either in quilted satin compartment boxes or the gold fish bowl cellophane.

Consumer Problems Topic for Conference Tomorrow

Consumer problems will be discussed tomorrow at an all day meeting sponsored by the Chicago commission on national defense in the auditorium of the service men's center, 176 West Washington street. Parent-Teacher associations are expected to send 200 delegates. Speakers include William H. Conley, director of the consumer information center opened here by the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply; Miss Edith Remeckar of the OPACS Washington staff, and Miss Mary Freeman, head of the Chicago Teachers' college home economics department.

The Housewife

Now that the days of cheery fires on the hearth are here again it's nice to know there is a clever little lighter on the market that will get the logs burning in double quick time. It's shaped like a small red block and it burns for ten minutes after you light it. Or you can get a box of larger blocks that burn for 15 minutes each. If you prefer matches there are, of course, the very long ones made especially for lighting fires. They measure about 12 or 15 inches.

Jumper Frock with an Apron

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK AND APRON.

This one simple pattern makes a jumper frock with companion blouse or a coverall apron for your kitcheneering. Heart shaped pockets are a detail of both models.

Style No. 3122 is designed for sizes 12, 14 and 16, and 36, 38 and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 2⅜ yards of 54 inch material for jumper; 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material for long sleeved blouse; 3 yards of 39 inch, with 2 yards of ruffing for apron; 1¾ yards of material for short sleeved blouse.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly. The fall and winter pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with pattern.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Bedazzled.

A student nurse, white collared and white capped, stood beside a patient coming out of the ether. He stared, still in an anesthetic haze, but bedazzled by her youth and beauty. "My, you're a pretty girl," he said quaveringly. "Why, you're the prettiest girl I ever saw." And then, with the manners of a Chesterfield, he added, "May I have the next dance?"

The Excess Word.

From a teacher of business English comes a postscript to the paragraph on business correspondence. She drops the hint that it is not necessarily the wrong word, but the excess word that contributes to poor letter writing.

And right she is. A large corporation recently found that over $20,000 a year could be pared off the budget by omitting needless words and phrases, such as "Yours on hand" and "Under separate cover."

"Please excuse this long letter. I didn't have time to write a short one," a woman once apologized. It does take time and thought to say exactly what you mean, courteously and directly. But it is good business.

Sometimes a strikingly short letter conveys the meaning as was humorously illustrated by the small boy who, on a vacation, wanted his cousin to know he was thinking of him. So he wrote a masterpiece of brevity:

"Dear Ted: TOM."

Pay or Security?

Does pay count more than working conditions and opportunity for advancement? Or does job security and reasonable expectation of advancement appeal even more than wages to the business girl of today?

A large insurance firm accounts for its unusually successful employer-employé relationships by the fact that "a beginner file clerk knows the next job to which she can be promoted, the salary increases that she can receive periodically in the group with which she is now associated, and with that to which she seeks promotion." Their employés know "where they are going and how to get there." An educational program which tends toward a better understanding of business and the rôle of the individual in it, coupled with a sense of permanence with the company and hope for advancement are found to be important long term interests of the woman employé.

Women are often accused of being unstable in business. Here is a company sufficiently wise to recognize that when women have something to look forward to they will stay on the job . . . and what's more . . . improve on the job.

Origin of Words.

Thoughts While Thumbing a Dictionary: It's fascinating how many modern business words have their origins in ancient customs which preceded, by hundreds of years, the dictaphone . . . the comptometer . . . and the typewriter. "Salary" comes from the same root as salt, and is derived from the allowance for salt given to the Roman soldiers. "Boss" comes from the Dutch "baas," meaning master, common among the early Dutch settlers. And "cash" from the old, old Chinese coin, "cash."

Good Morning!

Here's a picture that men will go for!

Men and women, too!

Vereen Bell's story, which ran serially in a magazine, was a fascinating yarn, and "Swamp Water" is a swell show. . . . One of those human opuses. Simple, sincere, and believable. Punch it has, and laughs—many, that verge on tears. And some of the things that happen sho' do make your hair raise right straight up!

Most of the action takes place in the Okefenokee swamp in Georgia, which covers some 700 miles of sluggish quicksand concealing waters, infested with alligators, and boggy forests where lives the deadly cottonmouth snake.

Not long ago these miles of cypress and marsh were a feared and unmolested wilderness to the state residents, one of whom was our hero, Ben Ragan. . . .

Ben, a fearless young trapper, goes into the swamp searching for his hound dog, Trouble. . . .

He finds the hound and also Tom Keefer, wanted, for five years a-back, by the law for a killing. . . .

A desperate man, Keefer, and all set to cut the throat of anybody who comes to take him back. But he doesn't cut Ben's throat. . . .

The two men form a partnership. There are rare pelts to be had from swamp animals, and Keefer knows how to get them. . . . Ben can sell them outside and none shall know that he has aid in obtaining them. . . . They fear no other hunters, for all men are afraid of the swamp and seldom go near it. . . . Which is why Tom has been so secure all these years. . . .

Tom has a daughter, Julie. . . . Ben has a girl friend, Mabel—a shrewd, pretty, jealous, vicious little cat who doesn't believe Ben's lone wolf stories. . . . Other important characters are Ben's father, Thursday, and his timid, gentle young stepmother, "Miss Hannah"—courted against her will by a sinister and most amusing guitar playing Romeo, Jesse Wick [John Carradine], during his dad's frequent coon hunting evening absences. . . . Then there are the Dorson brothers, between whom and Jesse there is some unholy bond. . . .

All of these weave colorfully, the warp and woof of the plot. The finished picture is a vivid and memorable piece of screencraft. . . .

Walter Brennan may be said to be the star, but I don't know that he gives any better account of his rôle than do every one of the other players of theirs—including the sad-eyed hound. . . . Charming is the word for Mary Howard as "Miss Hannah." . . . A still, lovely sort of person.

Needless to say, the authentic scenery is picturesque. . . . It was splendidly photographed, with aid of the state government.

The whole thing is downright "nateral!"

See you tomorrow.

Arts Club Giving Dinner Party Dec. 7 for Sir Thomas Beecham

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Arts club will have its first evening party of the season on Sunday, Dec. 7, when it gives a dinner for Sir Thomas Beecham, the noted English conductor. Following dinner, which will be served at 7:30 o'clock, the guests will move downstairs to the main lounge to hear the guest of honor lecture on "Mozart and the 18th Century." Sir Thomas is noted for his wit and is the possessor of a dynamic personality, so his lectures are said to be enormously interesting.

Sir Thomas has specialized in Mozart's music, as those who have heard him conduct know, and he is an authority on the composer, his works, and his times. The lecture will be illustrated at the piano. Dr. Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, which Sir Thomas led last summer at Ravinia park, and chairman of the club's music committee, is in charge of arrangements for the evening and will preside at the dinner.

The rattle of maracas and the twang of a Spanish guitar are welcome sounds to a little group of Winnetkans, for Latin-American music always gives them a chance to show their proficiency in the rhumba on the dance floor. They're members of one of the north shore's most unique clubs, which has no officers and is dedicated to the rhumba and to good companionship.

Twice a month the Rhumba club meets at the Hotel Moraine-on-the-Lake in Highland Park. After dinner at 7:30 o'clock the "students" are instructed in new rhumba steps. Among the members, whose rhumba technique by now has progressed far beyond the basic box step, are Mr. and Mrs. Neil B. Dawes, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Penfield, Dr. and Mrs. Francis E. Senear, Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Welsh, Mr. and Mrs. William V. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Dovenmuehle, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus R. Jefferis, Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Moore, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Moore.

The 24 couples will be meeting again next Wednesday, and again on Dec. 17, Jan. 7, and Jan. 21.

Winnetka Badminton Club Will Hold Saturday Teas.

The Winnetka Badminton club will have another interest this winter to add to its enthusiasm for badminton. Each Saturday afternoon, after birds and racquets are laid aside, the group will go to a member's home for tea. The first of the parties will be given on Saturday in Mr. and Mrs. John W. Miller's home. The following Saturday there'll be a similar gathering in the Robert H. Gardners' home, and the third party will find the Marquis Bowmans entertaining.

Mr. Bowman heads the club this year as president. Other officers are Dr. Paul Starr, vice president; Mrs. Mary Jacobs, secretary, and Mr. Miller, treasurer. The club holds its matches on Tuesday nights, Saturday afternoons, and Sundays in the gymnasium of the North Shore Country Day school.

Stewart Harveys to Give Party for Benefit Pianist.

The Stewart Harveys are giving a cocktail party on Sunday, Dec. 7, for Daniel Ericourt, who earlier that afternoon will give a concert in Orchestra hall for the benefit of Free French Relief. Mrs. Clinton King is chairman of the committee that is planning the benefit, for which the pianist is donating his services. Miss Mary Ryerson is assembling a group of girls to sell emblems at the concert. Among those who have taken boxes and who have planned luncheon parties to precede the program are Mrs. King, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr., Mrs. Thomas A. Connors, and Mrs. James Waller Rogers.

Mrs. Connors also is a boxholder for a talk by the Rev. Michael Coleman in Orchestra hall on Wednesday night, Dec. 10. The Chicago organization of Bundles for Britain is sponsoring it. Mr. Coleman is the vicar of All Hallows church in London. Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, Mrs. Duncan Browne, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Wallace Conkling, Mrs. Leslie Gordon, Mrs. John C. Slade, and Mrs. Samuel M. Rinaker are among other boxholders.

Yale Dramatic Club Show Assured 'Sellout' House.

Altho notices of the Yale Dramatic club's show in the Civic theater on Dec. 27 were not put in the mail until this morning, the ticket status almost has reached the "sellout" stage. Three more large parties are being planned for the presentation of "The Waterbury Tales." Mrs. Darrow Bruce Fulton and the Stuyvesant Peabodys will give a dinner party for debutante Eleanor Cochran

She'll See 'Little Red Riding Hood' Benefit

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

As do most little girls, Judy White knows the story of "Little Red Riding Hood." She'll have a chance to see it on the stage of the Haven school in Evanston on Dec. 6, when the Parent-Teachers association of the Miller school and the Evanston Junior league sponsors a benefit performance of the play by the Chicago Junior league players. Judy is the daughter of the George L. Whites of Evanston.

'Martha' Sung to Plaudits of Crowded House

"MARTHA."

Opera in four acts by Friedrich von Flotow to a libretto by Wilhelm Friedrich Riese. Presented by the Chicago Opera company in the Civic Opera house, Wednesday evening, Nov. 26, 1941, in an English version by Vicki Baum, Ann Ronell, and Richard Lert.

The Littlefield Ballet
Conductor, Carlo Peroni

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Flotow's "Martha," now threatening to reach the century mark [1947], seems to be suffering from no diminution in the public's regard for it. Last night, on the occasion of the Chicago Opera company's first 1941 performance of the work, a crowded Civic Opera house prepared to tap to its gay tunes and laughed at its comedy.

The opera was sumptuously mounted, for the company now possesses resplendent new sets that were created for it last season by William Wymetal. Stage pictures and stage movements were handled in a showmanly way, and the scene in the market square was actually dazzling.

"Martha" is an opera whose actual musical content is so slight that it requires every refinement of performance [exquisitely balanced ensembles, solo singing of a peculiarly pure and perfectly contoured sort, tempos that shall be sprightly without seeming headlong] if its keen, morning of the world sort of delight is to be adequately projected. Last night's performances, alas, fell measurably short of this ideal.

Conductor Carlo Peroni tried to push things along, Helen Jepson did a nicely inflected "Last Rose of Summer," and James Melton a warm "Ah So Pure," but this was not enough to make the performance jell. There was a lack of freshness and zest and pointedness—and when you subtract these things from "Martha" the situation is really serious.

Douglas Beattie, Coe Glade, Richard Wentworth, and Stefan Kozakevich worked hard to inject a little more comedy into the piece, and to some extent their efforts were successful.

The 4 week old pig which was supposed to have appeared in the production was scratched after rehearsal because its squealing was more than the director could bear. However, there was enough live stock to give the presentation the proper bucolic air. A pony pulled the principals to the farmhouse and a poorly lit cow stood patiently thru the entire second act.

Front Views and Profiles

Metropolitan Mosaic.

Anita Louise, looking more like a piece of delicate Dresden than an actress, transfixed before Alexander Brook's full length portrait of Katharine Hepburn at the Art institute. . . . The Howard street theater which offers, in bright lights, "Stage, Midnight, Dec. 25, Asylum of Horrors." . . . The girl in the rental library who asked the attendant, "Have you 'Soap Behind Your Ears?'" . . . The secretary who, when her employer dictated, "I understand the coach at Champaign has been let out," transcribed, "The coach had champagne and was let out." . . . The crescent moon riding low in an aura of mist over the Chicago skyline.

A Woman's Way.

From Washington comes explanation of why the British pamphlets dropped over Germany in the early days of the war failed as propaganda. "They weren't any good," a homing American told the war department, "because they were written by Mrs. Neville Chamberlain, who fancied herself a German scholar." "No!" exclaimed an army officer in disbelief. "Don't let Eleanor hear that."

Better When Iced.

This story is out of season, but we offer it in inverse ratio to all the tales of the country people who come to the big city. This deals with a city maid who went to the country. Her heart's desire was to go fishing. She mentioned it so frequently and so wistfully that her employer bought her a pail of minnows. The maid cleaned them carefully and put them in the refrigerator.

He Didn't Capitalize on It.

Mayor Kelly's recent trip to Washington was ostensibly for defense contracts, but with him went Mrs. Kelly and their youngest son, Steve. In New York they picked up their son, Joe, from the Canterbury school, and in Washington they retrieved their daughter, Pat, from the Visitation convent. Then they all sat down to Thanksgiving dinner.

And What Will?

The discussion of the war baffled the Swedish decorator. "Yus," he acceded, "but I yust can't see what is going to happen to the commentators when it is all over."

Outline of History.

Ben Abramson, Chicago bookman, tells the story behind the enchanting illustrations for Mrs. Solomon A. Smith's new books of children's verses, The House in the Tree. He was discussing the book with her in September, and agreeing that it should be illustrated, when the door to his shop opened. In walked a dark, attractive woman carrying a suitcase. It was Salcia Bahne, noted European artist.

"I have just come from Europe," she said. "My husband, an official of the telephone system in France, was arrested by the Nazis and thrown into concentration camp because they found a copy of Wells' Outline of History in our house. That meant we were dangerous communists! They took everything. The only possessions my husband and son and I have are in this suitcase."

So that very day Salcia Bahne began the illustrations for The House in the Tree.

Not Political; Political.

Mr. Morris Katz, press agent for the Chicago relief administration, takes exception to a story we used Tuesday. He says no applicant for relief is asked his political connection. What we should have explained in the original story, Mr. Katz, is that the old colored woman was asked, "Can't you get help from any [political] ward organization?" Then came her reply, "Nawsuh, mine is all dead or Republicans." Don't you think this is funny, Mr. Katz?

It's Here Again.

Well, happy Thanksgiving.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

The perfume presentations this year are wonderfully gay. We can't remember a season when fine fragrances were presented with such color and gayety. Usually perfume packagers operate on the jewel-in-a-gorgeous setting technique. There are stately offerings, of course, but the whimsical ones seem far in the majority.

There is, for example, the perfectly silly and perfectly delightful Ferris wheel, on which swing not one but five fragrances. Crystal bottles with frosted tops, containing some of the most loved perfumes you could name, are set in the swinging cars of the miniature wheel. It's great fun, very attractive—and it offers the lucky woman who receives it a good choice of perfumes, from the sultry to the sedate.

The same house has assembled four of its perfumes on a weather vane. The four points of the compass constitute the base, four perfumes mark north, south, east, and west—and a perky gilt cock presides over all. It's an amusing gift, and not nearly as expensive as we expected it to be when we first glimpsed it.

For the average woman a variety of perfumes is a joy of which she won't soon tire. She can change the type of perfume she wants to wear with her mood or her costume. You can't go wrong giving any woman one perfume; giving her two or more is insurance for successful gift giving.

Is In-Between Child Boring or Irritating?

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Once upon a time when some sanity and peace reigned across the water, I know a mother who had a chance to go to Europe. Her husband could not leave America, and this was the opportunity of a lifetime, they both felt. The fond relative who was making a gift of the travel adventure said: "Take with you any one you want. Who shall it be?" And the young woman answered, "Kim."

People were surprised, she told me afterwards, that she should choose to take her 8 year old son. "They couldn't seem to understand," she said, "that I chose him because I wanted to, because I enjoyed being with him and wanted besides, to share his pleasure and his surprise and interest in everything we were to see, and his questions, too."

Once upon another time I was calling upon an acquaintance who also had an 8 year old son. He came barging into the room, red cheeked and dirty and disheveled, to ask his mother a question about skates, or white mice, or something. His mother answered him and then, with a bored look, shooed him out as quickly as she could. "I'll be glad when Henry's in his teens," she said. "This is such an impossible and uninteresting age," she went on. "You just have to live thru it and try to see as little of them as possible," she finished.

What a difference! And what a difference there was in those children.

Of course, those in between years have lots of trying aspects. Boys and some girls seem to reach a new low of heedlessness and irresponsibility and indifference to manners, cleanliness, and clothes somewhere in this range of years from 7 to 12. And if that is all you can see, it is an impossible and uninteresting age, and you can just provide them with food [if you can] and clothing and shelter and keep out of their way. But there's much more to this stage between adolescence and little childhood than that.

If you take the trouble to think about it, you'll see that this age has something rather different and special about it. It comes in between two extremes of rapid growth and change. Babyhood and the early years and adolescence represent extremes of tremendous growth and fast learning of new things and new adjustments. These years between those two stages have, if properly handled, less strain in every way for a child. That may have something to do with the fact that these in-betweens are then so jolly, so full of pure nonsense [you may call it silliness], so carefree, and so above the mundane little concerns of everyday life in a busy household.

How may a child be taught obedience? Should children be permitted freedom of the house? You will find answers to these and other problems in "You and Your Young Child." Mrs. Gladys Bevans' latest booklet, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn streets and Tribune Tower. Price, 15 cents; postpaid, 18 cents.

Wieland to Address Women's Executive Committee Luncheon

John A. Wieland, state superintendent of public instruction, will give the keynote address at a luncheon meeting sponsored by the Women's Executive Committee for teachers and selected girl students today at the Merchants and Manufacturers' club in the Merchandise Mart.

A committee of women financial executives, headed by Miss Ellen L. Nylund, personal trust attorney of the First National bank, will present a survey of job data covering women's jobs in the financial field. The survey is the third in a series of 26 industrial studies sponsored by the Women's Executive committee to help young girls to find jobs for which they are suited.

By Evelyn Holmes

Nov. 27, 1941.

Universal day—See the head man rather than his subordinate on this strong day.

December—Those in a 7-year can look toward the coming month with anticipation of the unusual. You must be ready to stand alone in a new situation, and if you have spent the year in getting yourself mentally and spiritually ready as the 7-year indicates, then you can take whatever the changing circumstances bring to you. So don't be surprised if you are asked to face something new. Keep your faith which you should have been building up this year. If you feel that you went into somewhat of a decline this year, this next month is when you should put yourself out in front again and join the others. The hours of retreat are over and you must now get right into the thickest of the activity around you.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

LAST THURSDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 38: Rubber bridge. You are West, declarer at a six heart contract, the bidding having gone as follows:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 diamond | Pass | 1 spade | 2 spades |
| Pass | 3 clubs | Pass | 3 hearts |
| Pass | 4 hearts | Pass | 5 diamonds |
| Pass | 5 hearts | Pass | 6 hearts |
| Pass | Pass | Pass | |

Your hand and dummy are as follows:

| West [declarer] | East [dummy] |
|---|---|
| ♠ A K 4 2 | ♠ 10 5 |
| ♥ A K J 10 9 8 6 5 | ♥ Q 2 |
| ♦ A | ♦ 9 5 3 2 |
| ♣ None | ♣ J 9 5 4 3 |

North opens the diamond king. You win and cash the spade ace, both defenders following suit. Now what play must you make to insure your contract against any lay of cards and any defense?

Answer: At the third trick you must lead a low spade and concede the trick. Now, regardless of adverse distribution, you are 100 per cent safe. The defenders can knock out one of dummy's trumps, but you will still have the trump queen with which to ruff your remaining spade loser, and consequently no line of defense can break your contract. For fuller explanation see "Today's Hand." [No demerit for improper play, but if you played as indicated, take 30 points credit.]

TODAY'S HAND.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ 6
♥ 7 4 3
♦ K Q J 10 7

WEST
♠ A K 4 2
♥ A K J 10 9 8 6 5
♦ A
♣ None

EAST
♠ 10 5
♥ Q 2
♦ 9 5 3 2

SOUTH
♠ Q J 9 8 7 3
♥ None
♦ 8 6 4
♣ K 8 6 2

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 diamond | Pass | 1 spade | 2 spades |
| Pass | 3 clubs | Pass | 3 hearts |
| Pass | 4 hearts | Pass | 5 diamonds |
| Pass | 5 hearts | Pass | 6 hearts |
| Pass | Pass | Pass | |

This hand formed the basis of Question 38.

North opens the diamond king, declarer [West] winning with the blank ace. Now, obviously enough, declarer's entire problem consists of avoiding the loss of more than one spade.

After declarer is able to cash the spade ace without running into a ruff from either defender, he has available a play which guarantees success. He must lead a low spade to the 10 spot. Now, regardless of the defense or the lay of cards, declarer can claim the balance. He now has only one possible loser in his hand, the other low spade, and the defenders cannot prevent his ruffing that spade with the heart queen. Then, of course, he draws trumps and finally cashes the spade ace.

If declarer leads the ace and king of spades, North ruffs and declarer's case is hopeless. He still must ruff the four and deuce of spades in dummy, but he cannot do this because North will have the seven and four of hearts, thus making it impossible to utilize dummy's deuce of hearts.

This is a little known but standard safety play, and, considering that in this particular hand declarer is warned by South's spade bid that he may find a concentration of spades in the South hand, it goes without saying that the safety play should be employed.

Tomorrow's Hand

So the recipe calls for onion juice and you don't quite know how to extract it. Take a teaspoon to the cut surface of a fat onion and scrape away. But be sure there's a cup under your onion to catch the dripping juice.

That's a rib roast, lady. So please take the cover off. You don't want to make a pot roast of it, do you? If you want pot roast, you'd better have saved yourself some money by buying a piece of chuck.

A plate of fudge would taste good now, wouldn't it? Cool it to lukewarm before beating it, so you'll have fine, even texture.

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The pheasant season is over for Illinois hunters, but quail, rabbit, duck, and goose still are legitimate prey.

If you're lucky enough to come by some wild game for a dinner, don't, I beg you, soak it in water overnight for any length of time "to remove the gamy flavor." The gamy flavor is just what you want to keep, or you'd better not be cooking the game at all. Many old-time recipes call for soaking wild game, but soaking can take all the character from the cooked meat.

One little quail isn't much good for a meal, unless there's just a single diner. It takes a quail per person to provide enough meat to sink one's teeth into.

Quail.

[Allow one bird per person.]

Quail may be broiled or roasted. To broil, clean and draw. Season with salt and pepper, and rub thickly with butter. Cover with bacon strips and broil whole, turning once, in a moderate broiler, 350 degrees, for 15-20 minutes.

To roast a quail, singe, clean, and draw it, then rub inside and out with butter, salt and pepper. Cover with oiled cheesecloth and place in an open pan in a moderate, 350 degree oven for half an hour. Remove oiled cloth last 10 minutes. A whole mushroom may be baked inside each quail.

Wild Duck or Goose.

[1-1½ pounds per person.]

Young ducks, cleaned and singed, may be split down the back and broiled. Rub with salt, pepper, and butter or oil, or cover with bacon or salt pork strips. Broil 20 minutes, or until tender, in moderately hot broiler [350 degrees], turning at least once. Avoid overcooking. Duck may be served rare. Serve with melted butter to which lemon juice and chopped parsley have been added.

Roast a duck, salted, peppered and brushed with butter, at 325 degrees for 30 minutes to an hour, depending upon size of bird. Don't cook it well done. Put an apple, onion or celery stalk in the body cavity, and keep the bird basted with fat during roasting. Serve with gravy made from giblets.

More complete directions for cooking wild game [all kinds] are contained in my booklet, "How to Cook Wild Game," 5 cents, by mail. There's a recipe for wild rice dressing, too, for that's a popular accompaniment to most kinds of wild game. There are, as well, recipes for rabbit dishes such as hasenpfeffer and fricassee of rabbit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 26.—Dr. Roy G. Ross of Chicago, executive of the international council of religious education, announced before the 34th convention of the Daily Vacation Bible School association that the late Russell Colgate had willed $10,000 to the association. Colgate was president of the international council. Dr. Ross said that despite the 25,000 Protestant daily vacation schools of the country there is danger of "religious starvation" among all groups of the country, particularly in migrant workers' fields and in homes of wealth and privilege.

Olive Oil Is a Simple Dry Skin Remedy

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

A reader kindly writes us her own "discovery" on how to help a dry skin.

"My skin is very dry. I finally hit upon the idea of using plain olive oil, which I put on a piece of cotton. I gently massaged the oil into my skin, after I had creamed it with cleansing cream and a mild soap to remove all makeup. I usually did this before retiring, as I had more time then than I did in the morning. The olive oil should be worked gently into the skin for about 10 minutes. This treatment has made my skin softer."

Altho this treatment is not new, we report it for what benefit you dry skinned readers may derive from it. This reader likes the use of olive oil in preference to the good creams and oils for the purpose on the market. However, not every woman likes to use olive oil. She prefers a more "scientific" preparation, and we know that the creams and oils the better cosmetic houses put out contain many helpful ingredients. Women report on them favorably.

What is important, however, is that, no matter what kind of skin lubrication you use, you should use it. Being in steam-heated rooms may affect your skin. It may make it drier. Being outdoors in wintry winds will have the same effect on your skin. It needs to be cared for just as much during the winter as during the summer, when the sun's rays bake out the natural oils. Establish the habit of anointing your skin with oil or cream, as Cleopatra did, and you will notice how much fresher your face will look, and how much more velvety it will feel. Just a thin coating is enough to leave on overnight. It's not necessary to put it on thick.

Temporary Injunction Halts 'Tobacco Road' Ban

A temporary restraining order which prevents the city of Hammond, Ind., from banning the presentation by a road company of Erskine Caldwell's play, "Tobacco Road," was handed down in Hammond yesterday by Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick. Judge Slick set tomorrow for a hearing on whether to make the order permanent. The road company obtained the order after threats by Mayor Frank R. Martin to halt the show if profanity were used. The drama, which deals with southern share croppers, was to open today.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

A $5 prize goes to Mrs. W. J. McCormick, 519 Lange Court, Libertyville, Ill., for this recipe for a poppy seed cake which she calls "Black Eyed Susan Cake." The contest judges liked the texture as well as the flavor of the cake.

If you have a recipe which you consider worthy of a prize, send it to Recipe Contest, Chicago Tribune. A daily award of $5 will be made.

BLACK EYED SUSAN CAKE.

[Eight by eight by two inch cake pan.]

1 cup sugar
⅔ cup butter
2 egg yolks
½ cup milk
1½ cups cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup poppy seed
2 egg whites

Cream butter and sugar, add egg yolks and milk. Add flour sifted once before measuring, then sifted with baking powder. Add vanilla and poppy seed. Add beaten egg whites last and beat for three minutes. Bake for half an hour in a hot oven [Cooking editor's note: We prefer a 375 degree oven for 45 minutes].

[Save this for your scrapbook.]

Prairie Club Will Hold Hikes Every Week-End

Snow, ice, or cold, the Prairie club will brave the outdoors with regular week-end hikes this winter, the club announced yesterday. The Saturday hike this week will cover six miles along the north branch of the Chicago river, near Morton Grove. Hikers will leave the Union station on the 1:20 p. m. Milwaukee railroad train, and return at 5:40 p. m. The cost will be 60 cents each.

and will take their 27 young guests on to the show afterwards.

Mrs. George R. Nichols has reserved 30 seats. Her son, George III., is a member of the Yale Dramatic club. Beckwith Bronson, who was in last year's show and expects to be in this one, too, will have his own "cheering section" in the audience. His parents, the Roger B. Bronsons, have taken 20 seats.

Edwin Saunders Smith to Wed Soon in West.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Edwin Smith of Winnetka will be making a trip to the west coast within the not too distant future, for Mr. Smith's son, Edwin Saunders Smith, is to be married there. In Los Angeles, Cal., Lieut. Com. and Mrs. J. Ogden Hoffman, U. S. N. retired, this week announced the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Lea, to young Mr. Smith.

Miss Hoffman, who grew up in the southwest and has lived in Los Angeles for the last few years, is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hampton L. Carson of Philadelphia, Pa., and of the late Mr. and Mrs. John White Hoffman of Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Mrs. Winston L. May Jr. and Two Children Arrive.

Mrs. Winston L. May Jr. [Susan Badgerow] has brought her children, Linda and Peter Van Buren, from New Canaan, Conn., to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harve Badgerow of Winnetka. Mr. May will join them later for a few weeks.

Mrs. Robert F. Carr Jr. has returned from Pasadena, where she and Mr. Carr moved late last summer, and is with her brother and his wife, the Samuel A. Culbertsons II., of 1350 State parkway.

Paul Fairleigh, who will discuss "War in Europe Thru Diplomatic Eyes" at the Woman's Athletic club at 11:30 o'clock this morning, will be the guest of Mrs. Arthur W. Wakeley at luncheon afterwards. Mr. Fairleigh is a former attaché of the American embassy in Berlin. Among others who have made reservations for luncheon are Mrs. George Mason and Mrs. Jay Thompson, who will entertain together; Mrs. Edgar D. Smith, Mrs. Clinton Merrick, Mrs. William Kenly, Mrs. Otto V. McGrew, Mrs. Charles Ward Seabury, Mrs. Walter Engle, and Mrs. L. J. Brady.

Alliance Francaise Will Present Speaker Today.

The Alliance Francaise will present the Rev. Jules Bois at 3 o'clock today as the speaker of its regular Thursday causerie. Following his talk on "The History of the Bible," Mrs. Francis M. Gunn will be hostess at tea. Miss Mary West and Mrs. John R. Thompson will pour.

Mme. Daniel Brush Jr., a native Frenchwoman now living in Glencoe, will talk on "A Few Stops Between East and West" at Saturday morning's meeting of the alliance. In the absence of Mrs. James A. Winston, who is confined to her home with a sprained ankle, Mrs. Laird Bell will preside.

The woman's board of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society will hear further plans for its Christmas ball, to be given on Dec. 20 at the Drake hotel, at a gathering today in the home of Mrs. Jacob Baur. Tea will be served at 3:30 o'clock.

Garments, bandages, and other articles made by the Red Cross committee of the Chicago Woman's club were displayed in a fashion show yesterday morning at the clubhouse, 72 East 11th street. Mrs. Kenneth MacKenzie, co-chairman of the Red Cross committee, presented bars to seven members who had completed at least 244 hours of work within the last 12 months, and a moving picture showing Red Cross war relief work was shown. The Red Cross committee meets all day every Thursday at the club, with an average of 30 women in attendance.

DORIS BLAKE'S LETTER BOX

Have you a perplexing problem on which you need friendly counsel? Write to Doris Blake in care of the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. If you wish a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

They're Poor Friends.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl who loves me, but my friends say I will lose her. They tell her I'm conceited. What shall I do? ALAN T."

They're not very good friends, Alan. Pay no attention to them. Your girl won't, either, if she really cares for you.

Too Possessive.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been told that I am being 'too possessive.' Very kindly elucidate and offer a remedy. JOE R. P."

It means you're taking for granted she belongs to you. To fool her, take another girl out occasionally.

Man Who Will Desert a Sick Wife Is Cad

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"A year ago I met a man who now is 35 years old. He has been separated from his wife, who is 32, for almost three years. They have been married almost 11 years. He has told me, repeatedly, that he does not love his wife. He has promised to get a divorce if I will wait for him. He has a good job, and supports his wife [they have no children]. He lives with his mother.

"This man, whom I love, does not know that I visited his wife. She is a very sweet woman, and much younger looking than her age. She also is very pretty. She told me that her husband deserted her while she was very sick. She still keeps their home together, and said she loves her husband and will never give him up.

"Under the circumstances, do you think I should see this man any more? Do you think that, if I give him up, he will go back to his wife? She loves him as much as I do. —JOSEPHINE."

Any man who will desert his wife when she is ill is no good, Josephine. Have nothing to do with him. He doesn't sound like the man for any girl who wants a devoted husband, one who, "for better or for worse," will be her lifelong partner. A man such as this one does not deserve the love of a fine woman. All he deserves is scorn, or perhaps, pity.

There was a time when he loved, courted, and won his wife. They shared their lives together for eight years before they separated. His wife still loves him. You say she is pretty and sweet. Why should he, then, as her husband, want to forsake her for you, or for any other woman? Whatever reasons he gives you, don't be gullible. He deserted her when she needed him most. What assurance have you that he wouldn't do the same thing to you, should he eventually marry you? Try to send him back to his wife. Definitely say goodby to him, and mean it!

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

Food that stands by you like a brother! That's what America needs these strenuous days. For a breakfast to start your day, for a lunch with a punch, for a dinner that replenishes your store of energy, nothing excels Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausages ... sweet, juicy, deftly seasoned pork; fragrant to fry, toothsome to taste, chock full of flavor. Make them a "regular" on your shopping list.

George Rector
Food Consultant Wilson & Co.

BIG LINKS OR LITTLE AND HOW TO USE EACH

Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausages come in big or little links or Country Style (a long continuous link).

Here's a good recipe for the "little fellows":

"3 LITTLE PIGS"

Prick, then parboil one pound of Wilson's Certified Sausage (small links). Slice large unpeeled apples one inch thick. Cut a hole in the center and insert sausages. Sprinkle with sugar, broil until brown, turn, sprinkle with sugar and brown.

Stuffed Sausages

Take one pound of Wilson's Certified Sausage (big links—5 to 7 to the pound). Partially split each link and insert any of the following—wedges of unpeeled apples or of canned pineapple, or of parboiled carrots, or cooked and stoned prunes.

Lay the stuffed sausage on the broiler, broil until the sausage starts to brown. Place ½ pound Wilson's sliced Certified Bacon on the grill, broil five minutes longer.

How does HE like his bacon?

Do you consult your lord and master about how he likes his bacon sliced—thick or thin? We did and found that most men like it thicker—fried not too crisp. In fact, most men went for Wilson's Certified Bacon sliced Family Style. Reason—this bacon is sliced slightly thicker, then packed tightly back on the rind as though it had never been sliced. The result is that it holds its flavor longer, has a meatier taste, and lies flatter as it fries.

SOME LIKE IT THIN...

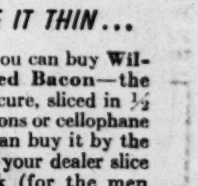
If this is you, you can buy Wilson's Certified Bacon—the same delicious cure, sliced in ½ or 1-pound cartons or cellophane packs, or you can buy it by the piece and have your dealer slice it—some thick (for the men folks), some thin (for you).



But no matter how you like your bacon sliced, for goodness sake, insist on Wilson's Certified Bacon. Then you get that sweet, rich, but mild cure, and nicely balanced fat and lean.

NOW—FRESH Gela Seald Meats at a new Flavor Peak

"Cooler-Fresh" beef, lamb and veal are now available for the first time. Wilson's new Gela Seald Process seals in all the original tenderness, delicate flavor and appetizing juices. Try Wilson's Gela Seald Fresh Beef, Lamb or Veal at your first opportunity. I promise you a most appetizing surprise.

See you next week. G. R.

BARE POLITICAL BACKGROUND OF U.S. DAM SEIZURE

Oklahomans Blame Feud of Lee and Phillips.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Muskogee, Okla., Nov. 26.—Politics, in the opinion of M. Duncan, is behind the recent seizure by the federal government of Oklahoma's 25 million dollar Grand river dam and hydro-electric project.

Duncan, a vice president of the Railroad Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employés, is chairman of the Grand River Dam authority, known in these parts as GRDA. He declared today that every move made by the GRDA was with the approval of the Public Works Administration, which furnished the funds for the project.

The dam authority, it seems was kept on the apron strings of PWA, and later, or the strings of Federal Works Administration. Hardly a stenographer could be hired without sanction of the Washington agencies, Duncan said, and construction and contracting always was under the watchful eyes of PWA officials.

President Roosevelt's order, for FWA to take control of the dam, said it was to prevent management difficulties of the GRDA from interfering with national defense.

Political Feud in Background.

Bickerings and controversies have been the lot of GRDA at frequent intervals since work on the project started. It often has been referred to as a political football. In the background of recent events, some observers say, is the political feud between Gov. Leon Phillips and Sen. Josh Lee.

"From the start," said Chairman Duncan, "the PWA and FWA had full control over the dam project. The GRDA was not permitted even to hire a stenographer or any other personnel, without first submitting the qualifications of such persons, as to fitness for the job, to PWA at Washington. The GRDA had to get PWA approval for expenditures of money.

"Some are criticising GRDA because of some power sold to a public utility. But no contract of any nature pertaining to GRDA was entered into without official approval from PWA or FWA.

Too Many Bosses.

"Too many people were trying to run the show—that has been one trouble. There was coöperation between the state and federal agencies, but on some things they did not see eye to eye.

"It is difficult to see how this latest step has anything to do with national defense. The dam board was coöperating all the way with the federal agencies, and we offered electricity to defense plants in the region. So that hardly looks like a reason for taking over. I don't know who is back of the seizure, but it has all the earmarks of a political move."

Last summer Gov. Phillips reorganized the GRDA board, after conferences with K. S. Wingfield, a PWA representative. Among other changes, R. L. Davidson was removed as chief counsel. He is a follower of Sen. Lee.

When Douglas Wright, of the Federal Works Administration, took control of the dam last Friday, Davidson was reappointed as general counsel of the project.

Political observers here and in Oklahoma City recall that Sen. Lee stands well with the Roosevelt administration, while Gov. Phillips, before the Democratic National convention last year, opposed a third term.

RINGLING CIRCUS TO ABANDON ITS NORTHERN BASE

Peru, Ind., Nov. 26 [Special].—Peru's long colorful reign as the site of winter quarters for big time circuses appeared near an end today following the announcement that the farm property of the Ringling circus interests will be abandoned as a winter home for traveling shows.

Map locates Peru, Ind.

Termination of the town's feature attraction was marked this week by the ceremonial burning of 126 massive circus wagons which had rumbled thru hundreds of the nation's communities in street parades "in the good old days." A number of old-timers saw the destruction of the worn out wagons.

The Ringling farm tract henceforth will be used entirely for farming and live stock breeding. John Ringling North, operator of the Ringling circuses, will use the farm as a feeder for his winter quarters at Sarasota, Fla.

ASK STREET CAR BOND HOLDERS BE PAID INTEREST

Attorneys for committees representing the $72,718,000 of Chicago Surface lines first mortgage bonds yesterday filed a report with Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe urging payment of semi-annual interest due Aug. 1.

The interest amounts to $1,817,950. The report said credit is needed to reorganize the surface lines and that maintenance of the "slender credit" now existing depends on continued payment of interest, which has been paid since 1907.

The report also said an increase in fares is an essential condition for any reorganization. The company has a request for a fare boost from 7 to 8 cents pending with the Illinois Commerce commission.

The surface lines management board last week recommended to Judge Igoe that the first mortgage interest not be paid at this time.

Luncheon to Boost Drive for St. Luke's Hospital

Trustees, officials, and friends of St. Luke's hospital are to attend a luncheon in the Stevens hotel at 12:30 p. m. today to boost the drive for the remainder of the $775,000 needed to construct a new nurses' home.

CITY STREET WORKER DIES.

Edward McConnell, 53 years old, of 4142 Maypole avenue, an employé of the city street department, died in his home last night of heart disease.

STREET CAR CHAT CAUSES MISTRIAL IN SLAYING CASE

Judge Julius H. Miner of Criminal court yesterday declared a mistrial in the murder trial of Thomas Pappalardo, 43 years old, because Pappalardo's sister, Mrs. Carmella Galassi, 46, of 4832 South Harding avenue, spoke to two women who had been called as prospective jurors.

The incident occurred on a street car near the Criminal court Monday when Pappalardo went on trial. Mrs. Galassi supposedly remarked, "Trouble, trouble, trouble. He's a nice man and he probably will hang."

Assistant State's Attorney Francis McCurrie informed Judge Miner of the incident and the mistrial was ordered. Mrs. Galassi will face Judge Miner today for possible contempt action. Her brother is accused of shooting Stanley Hoyne, 28, last July 4, because of suspicion that Hoyne was attentive to his, Pappalardo's, wife.

SET SCHEDULE FOR ALL-STAR BOWLING MEET

Field of 7 Ten-Man Squads Lined Up.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The schedule for the All-Star bowling eliminations and national match game finals in the Coliseum Dec. 7 thru 14 was given final approval by the tournament committee yesterday. It assures equal competitive conditions for every one of the 70 All-Stars as well as neutral conditions on the 10 new alleys.

The All-Star field is to be made up of seven squads, each composed of 10 All-Stars, including two Chicagoans. Each squad will bowl five games daily for the first four days, the period during which the first eliminations will take place. Its starting time will be different each day. Thus squad No. 1, which starts the event rolling at 12 noon on Dec. 7, competing on newly polished alleys, will be the last squad to go on Monday. Its schedule calls for starting times on the successive days of 12 noon, 11:20 p. m., 7:40 p. m., and 5:20 p. m.

Start Action at Noon.

Five squads will bowl each afternoon, the first going on the alleys at noon and the fifth at 5:20 p. m. This will bring the afternoon schedule up to 6:40. An hour then will be allowed for polishing the alleys, and at 7:40 p. m. No. 6 will go on. It will be followed, at 9 o'clock, by a 10 game block of the Ned Day-Lowell Jackson championship match. Squad No. 7 of All-Stars then will wind up the day's activities, starting at 11:20 and finishing its assignment at about 12:40.

During this period each All-Star will endeavor to pile up as high a pin count as possible, the scoring to be done on a total pins basis. At the end of the four days the high 11 men among the 70 will automatically move into match play.

The Day-Jackson match also is to wind up on the fourth evening. The champion and challenger then will have completed their 160 game schedule including 40 games—10 each night—in Chicago.

12 to Meet in Match Play.

Either Day or Jackson, at any rate the loser of the match, will join the 11 All-Stars in the match play. Every man in the field will meet every other man once in a five game match. Scheduling will follow a plan whereby winners will continuously be matched with losers until the closing day. Schedule for first four days:

BOBBY RIGGS.

FRANK KOVACS.

Kovacs, Riggs Turn Pro; to Tour Country

New York, Nov. 26 (AP). — The nation's two top ranking tennis players, National Champion Bobby Riggs and Frankie Kovacs, today turned professional and signed contracts for a series of matches with the two foremost pros, Fred Perry and Don Budge.

The four players will open a series of 80 matches in Madison Square Garden Dec. 26 under the promotion of Alexis Thompson, youthful owner of the Philadelphia football Eagles. Thompson said the complete itinerary would be announced later, but for the opening night's play Riggs will meet Perry and Kovacs will oppose Budge in singles matches. The doubles will pair the former amateurs against Perry and Budge.

Posts $100,000 Guarantee.

Thompson said he had guaranteed the four players $100,000. The players will be paid on a percentage basis with the number one of the quartet receiving 36 per cent of the players' share, second, 28 per cent; third, 21 per cent, and fourth, 15 per cent. For the first 10 matches they will play a round robin. Then they will be ranked with a player holding his position as long as he continues to win.

Under this plan no player will receive less than $15,000, but Thompson later explained he had guaranteed Riggs and Kovacs each a minimum of $25,000 as inducement for their turning professional. Thompson said he originated the percentage plan while watching his Philadelphia Eagles play a football game. He realized then that there had to be something at stake to draw crowds.

The youthful backer of the tour was first interested in the idea by Budge less than two weeks ago and after studying figures on 13 previous pro tours he became convinced that it would make money if properly routed.

Kovacs Bubbles Over.

In Oakland, Cal., where Kovacs quit his shipyard job this morning, the lanky player predicted that amateur tennis would be all washed up—now that he had left it.

"Without me they won't have any gate attraction," he asserted. "I was sick and tired of taking orders from the brass hats. They'll have to get off the gravy train now."

Asked how he had fared on expenses this year, Kovacs said: "I wound up losing $2.35. One of the big troubles in my case was that I grouped my expenses in a lump sum. I received $100 for expenses for playing in the Berkeley tournament last summer. Another player got $200 for the same tournament. He itemized his and everything was lovely. I didn't and got tossed out. It's all baloney, anyhow."

HANS LOBERT IS NAMED PHILS' NEW MANAGER

Gets Year Contract to Succeed Prothro.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 26 (AP).—The Phillies got a new manager today. John [Hans] Lobert, 60 year old coach of the team since 1934, was named to replace James [Doc] Prothro, the Memphis dentist who came up from the Southern association three years ago to try to hoist the National league club out of the cellar. Lobert's contract is for one year.

Lobert is the second new major league manager to be appointed in two days. Lou Boudreau, 24 year old Cleveland shortstop, last night became the Indians' new pilot, succeeding Roger Peckinpaugh, who was named vice president of the club.

Lobert, veteran of more than 30 years' service on the diamond as player and coach, becomes the second oldest manager in the major leagues, only Connie Mack of the Athletics is older. Mack will be 79 on Dec. 23.

Reward for Loyalty.

Gerry Nugent, president of the Phillies, said Lobert's elevation was a reward for "his sincere efforts and loyalty" under two managers.

"That the club didn't make any progress under Manager Prothro last season was not his fault," Nugent added. "He is a fine man and leader, but no one could have foreseen the blows that came right from the start, beginning with the loss of one of his star pitchers, Hugh Mulcahy, who was drafted into the army."

Lobert, a native of Wilmington, Del., began his baseball career with Pittsburgh in 1903. He later played third base also for the Chicago Cubs, Cincinnati, the Phillies, and the New York Giants.

PROTHRO TO MEMPHIS.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 26 (AP).—Ed Barry, president of the Memphis Baseball association, announced tonight J. T. [Doc] Prothro, former manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, had been signed as manager of the Memphis Chicks and would assume vice presidency of the club.

Prothro succeeds J. Harry Hannah, as manager of the Southern association team, resuming a position he held for seven years. Barry said Prothro acquired a financial interest in the club in conjunction with Frank Longinotti, vice president and business manager.

BOUDREAU GOES HOME.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 26 (AP).—Lou Boudreau, the Cleveland Indians' new manager, returned to the University of Illinois campus today tired, happy, and above all, hungry.

"I guess I haven't eaten for two days," declared the 24 year old shortstop upon arrival from Cleveland, where last night he was signed as Cleveland's playing manager.

"I had been instructed to keep out of sight," said Boudreau, "and I must have seen something like four movies in a row Tuesday afternoon. First thing I am going to do is eat a couple of steaks. Then I'll go down and buy a few bats with hits in them."

Boudreau conferred today with Doug Mills, University of Illinois athletic director, and then said he would attempt to remain as assistant basketball coach until February if satisfactory arrangements could be made with Cleveland.

IT DEPENDS ON FELLER.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 26 (AP).—If the army doesn't stake a prior claim on Pitcher Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indians will finish in the first division next season.

The Cleveland club soon will know whether it can count on the services of the Iowa strikeout king. A month ago Feller's draft board placed him in the 1-A classification. His number—2,857—was only eight numbers away from the board's last draft call, and another is coming up at his board in January.

May Be Inducted in February.

Unless his case is reopened on a request by him or members of his family, Feller probably will be inducted in February, the draft board indicated. Feller has said he would not ask deferment but his mother, Mrs.

ZALE FINISHES WORK FOR BATTLE WITH ABRAMS

Tony's Ready to Clear Up Middleweight Muddle.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 26.—Tony Zale, Golden Glove fighter from Gary, Ind., who is middleweight champion of all the world, except in Manhattan and New York state, finished his preparations this afternoon for his campaign Friday night to annex this territory. His opponent in the 15 round battle in Madison Square Garden will be Georgie Abrams of Washington, D. C., a professional of four years' standing whose amateur experience, however, includes Golden Gloves competition in South Bend, Ind.

The heavy-handed Zale, as Chicago and the west already well know, has been recognized as middleweight champion by the National Boxing association since July 19 last year, when Tony stopped Al Hostak in Seattle, Wash., in 13 rounds. Before that Zale whipped Hostak in Chicago to earn the NBA title match in Seattle, and he followed it up by knocking out Hostak in two rounds in Chicago last May in defense of his title. The third victory over Hostak gave Zale permanent possession, as it were, and sent him looking for more fertile financial fields.

Fights for Recognition.

Zale now is fighting for universal recognition as the world 160 pound king, and for 40 per cent of the Garden's net receipts, because the line of inheritance of the title authenticated by the New York boxing commission ended in the abdication early this month of Billy Soose. Billy no longer could make the weight limit, and advanced to the light heavyweight division.

This withdrawal did not throw Gen. John J. Phelan, boxing commission chairman, off stride, for the general dubbed Abrams as New York's flag bearer and stepped up the roundage of last July's Soose-Abrams nontitle bout, which Abrams won, from 10 to 15, the title route. Zale had been forced to cancel an earlier date with Abrams because of a foot infection. Thus this will be Zale's first battle since he knocked out Billy Pryor in Milwaukee last August.

Zale Completes Training.

Zale completed his training today with two rounds of boxing in Stillman's gymnasium, 54th street and Eighth avenue. He weighed 158½ pounds after the workout and he will have no more difficulty making weight Friday noon than photographers will have getting Gen. Phelan to pose. Abrams, who appeared in Stillman's gymnasium yesterday by commission order, also is at weight and is now sequestering in Madam Bey's Hillside camp just outside Summit, N. J.

When we talked with Zale today he was as confident of whipping Abrams as he had been of beating Hostak in Chicago, but he was as laconic as he was in 1934 when, as a youngster, he invaded New York as a member of the Chicago Golden Gloves squad. Tony was an alternate in the 160 pound class that included Fred Caserio and Billy Treest, and he was so anxious to fight in Madison Square Garden that he took on Mello Bettina in the next weight division.

Zale Knocks Bettina Down.

New York now thinks Bettina is quite a scrapper. But Zale knocked him down in the first round altho a weight handicap cost him a three round decision. Zale has fought here professionally against Enzo Ianozzi and Babe Orgovan, winning six round decisions. The last bout was a preliminary on the Pedro Montanez-Davey Day program. Thus Zale practically is unheralded in Gotham and tonight Abrams is quoted at 13 to 10 to win, altho Abrams never has fought over the 15 round route.

Friday night's match will finally end the title argument in the middleweight division created 10 years ago when Mickey Walker relinquished the crown to go into the higher classes. The NBA and New York each decided to hold elimination tournaments. Ben Jeby won in Manhattan and Gorilla Jones took the Chicago Stadium tournament. From here on the pugilistic trees resemble a page of regal lineage after the War of the Roses.

In Trophy Race

Nate Johnson, Illinois tackle, who yesterday was named the team's most valuable player for 1941. He becomes a candidate for The Tribune's Silver Football trophy.

Iowa's most valuable player is Bill Diehl, captain and center. He was named last night by teammates.

GAMES TONIGHT.
Chicago at Detroit.
Boston at Americans.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks, not too depressed at having lost Tuesday night to the New York Rangers after being the first to score in overtime, tonight have another chance to rise into first place in the National Hockey league standings. Or they can plunk into third place. They will play the Red Wings in Detroit and if they win they go into first. If they lose and Boston beats the Americans in New York, then it's third place for our skating heroes.

The Hawks should beat the Red Wings tonight. But we said the same thing about the Rangers before Tuesday's game—and look what happened. Two goals in overtime and a 5 to 4 victory for the New Yorkers.

Hold Victory Over Wings.

Chicago has whipped the Detroiters this season. In their one meeting here on Thanksgiving night they jolted the Wings, 3 to 2. Including that game, the Hawks have won five, lost two, and tied one. Detroit has won two, lost six, and tied one.

The Detroit team was hot stuff last season against all the teams except the Bruins, whom they have not beat in 14 tries. Last season the Wings beat the Hawks six out of eight and took two straight from the Chicagoans in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Wings Raid Farm Club.

Manager Jack Adams, who has been greatly distressed by the inability of his team to click this year, nearly swooned when the Bruins whipped his outfit, 7 to 1, Tuesday night and yesterday continued raids on the Wings' farm club in Indianapolis. Yesterday he recalled Defenseman Buck Jones, in exchange for Doug McCaig. Several days ago he called in Ken Kilrea, who had been the American league's leading scorer. He also has managed to get Defenseman Bob Whitelaw across the bridge from Windsor after a delay of seven weeks.

The Hawks will leave for Chicago immediately after tonight's game.

IOWA PLACES DIEHL IN RACE FOR '41 TROPHY

Hawkeyes' Center Defied Injuries.

Honor Roll

SIX Western conference teams now have chosen their most valuable player for the 1941 football season. Each of the following men so named will receive gold football watch charms and each also becomes a candidate for The Tribune's annual silver football award to the player adjudged most valuable in the conference:

Illinois—Nate Johnson, tackle.
Iowa—Bill Diehl, center.
Michigan—Reuben Kelto, tackle.
Minnesota—Bob Sweiger, back.
Purdue—Bill Combs, end.
Indiana—Bill Hillenbrand, back.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 26 [Special].—Big Nate Johnson's University of Illinois teammates today selected him as the team's most valuable player during the 1941 season.

The honor came to Nate at the close of three years of varsity football marked by ups and downs. Injuries at times balked him just when he was on his way to a regular's berth, but nevertheless he had won two varsity letters when this season started.

Held back at the start by injuries, Johnson's opportunity came when Elmer Engel, who was playing left tackle, was disabled. Johnson was placed at the post which he filled in the Michigan, Iowa, Ohio State, and Northwestern games. Nate played 228 minutes out of a possible 360 in the six Illinois major games, most of it in the last four games.

Took Iron Man Rôle.

Standing 6 feet 3 inches and weighing 218 pounds, Johnson was a veritable iron man, playing 60 minutes against Michigan and all except a few seconds against Iowa.

"Johnson deserves credit for staying in there—despite his being held back by injuries—and making good, an encouraging example to all," Coach Bob Zuppke said.

Modest to an extreme, Johnson was greatly surprised when Liz Astroth, who presided at the meeting of letter men, announced that the big tackle had been selected as the most valuable player.

Nate is a native of Benton, Ill., where he played high school football under LaJoie Foulk. He played tackle and end in Benton. Entering Illinois he won his freshman numerals as tackle.

Football is his only intercollegiate sport, but he plays intramural basketball with the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity team. Nate is a student in the school of physical education and plans to coach or engage in personnel work.

IOWA PICKS DIEHL

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 26 [Special].—Bill Diehl, Iowa captain and rated one of the finest centers in Hawkeye football history, tonight was elected by his teammates as the most valuable player on the squad.

Diehl is the second lineman in two years to be nominated for the annual award sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Mike Enich, durable tackle, received the honor a year ago.

Diehl has been the regular pivot man on the Hawkeye squad for three years, not letting a series of injuries that started in his sophomore year hold him back.

Altho bothered by leg and hand injuries this fall, Diehl played a majority of the time. He performed all except a few minutes in the Indiana game with a severe charley horse, a slight ankle sprain that had been bothering him for two weeks, and an injured hand.

A knee injury shelved him midway in his sophomore year, but an operation in the following spring helped him and he played thru the last two campaigns without a stop. He was elected almost unanimously to the captaincy, succeeding Enich, last spring.

Has Keen Football Head.

Not a spectacular player, Diehl is a steady performer and has perhaps the keenest football head of any one on the Hawkeye squad. He was used to back up the line and as a key figure in Iowa's pass defense which ranked first in the Western conference this fall.

Diehl was graduated from Roosevelt High school of Cedar Rapids after winning second all-state honors in football and honorable mention in basketball as a guard. He won a minor letter on the Hawkeye baseball team last spring as a catcher and outfielder.

Following his graduation next June, the 200 pound, 6 foot 2 inch senior plans to begin a career in personnel management. However, he has said he might be interested in professional football.

Diehl was married last spring to a home town girl, Mary Forrest. He is the seventh center to lead an Iowa team.

ASHLAND WHIPS SAVOY A. C. TEAM IN LEAGUE BOXING

Fort Sheridan Rallies to Tie Madison, 4-4.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Competition in the Chicagoland Amateur Boxing league last night reached a twin peak when the Ashland Athletic club fought its way out of a 3 to 3 tie to win, 5 to 3, and Fort Sheridan's soldier boxers rallied from a 3 to 0 deficit to earn a 4 to 4 tie, first in the interclub duels among the arena's best Simon-pure punchers.

The Madison A. C. set out to make the Fort Sheridan program a post-funeral by winning the first three bouts, but the young men in uniform came back to take the next three and earn a tie, the other two matches being decided by default.

The Ashland A. C. team knew, despite the fact that it was working in its home ring, the Social Turner hall, located at Belmont avenue and Paulina street, that it had a job on its hands in facing the Savoy Athletic club squad, one of the finest Negro boxing clubs in the land.

Savoy Rushes Into Lead.

The northwest siders permitted the visitors, making their league debut, to assume a 3 to 2 advantage, courtesy of a default by Light Heavyweight Joe Jawgiel, who yielded his match by forfeit to a light attack of influenza, and Fred Peller, his scheduled opponent. Then blond Bob Davis tossed a right in the second round of his bout with Clarence Holt of Savoy that was too much for Clarence, and Robert was awarded a knckout. Ed Baka and Joe Manjarrez finished up the job with three round decisions in the last two bouts on the program.

Gene Kenworthy, Ashland A. C., beat Robert Jones, Savoy A. C. [3], bantamweights.
Fred Peller, Savoy A. C., won from Joe Jawgiel, Ashland A. C., by default, light heavyweights.
Harold Lange, Ashland A. C., beat James Hodge, Savoy A. C. [3], heavyweights.
Julian Ford, Savoy A. C., beat Joe Baldassano, Ashland A. C. [3], welterweights.
George Adams, Savoy A. C., beat Jess Robinson, Ashland A. C. [3], featherweights.
Bob Davis, Ashland A. C., knocked out Clarence Holt, Savoy A. C. [2], flyweights.
Ed Baka, Ashland A. C., beat James Calhoun, Savoy A. C. [3], featherweights.
Joe Manjarrez, Ashland A. C., beat William Johnson, Savoy A. C. [3], welterweights.

FT. SHERIDAN GETS TIE

BY FRANK MASTRO.

It looked like a sad night for the Fort Sheridan boxers when the Madison A. C. color bearers won the first three fights on last night's card in the post gymnasium. But the near capacity crowd of 800 soldiers and civilians sent up a cheer when Paul David scored the first point for the soldiers in the fourth bout by stopping Lew Marino in the third round. Then they really hit their stride, winning two more bouts and splitting two defaults for the final 4 to 4 decision.

The uproar was terrific when Gene Konsler, soldier middleweight, hammered out a decision over Matt Slobotinik. It continued when Clem Lebuhn, light heavyweight, followed up with a second round technical knockout over Zanno Gailus.

Baratta Wins by Knockout.

In an exciting fight on the thrill packed card, Johnny Barata, Madison junior welter knocked out Jack McClintock in the third round. The end came at a time when McClintock seemed on his way to victory because of a no count knockdown he had scored earlier in the round.

John Mezzano, Madison A. C., beat Conrad Schurer, Fort Sheridan [3] featherweights.
Vince Pellegrini, Madison A. C., beat Joe McGinnis, Fort Sheridan [3] lightweights.
Jimmy Baratta, Madison A. C., knocked out Jack McClintock, Fort Sheridan [3] junior welterweights.
Paul David, Fort Sheridan, stopped Lenny Marino, Madison A. C. [3] welterweights.
Gene Konsler, Fort Sheridan, beat Matt Slobotinik, Madison A. C. [3] middleweights.
Clem Lebuhn, Fort Sheridan, stopped Zanno Gailus [2].
Pat Maloney, Madison A. C., won by default from Eddie Doyle, Fort Sheridan welterweights.
Bob Davis, Fort Sheridan, won by default.

WEST SUBURBAN AMATEURS MEET ARMY TONIGHT

West Suburban club representatives, who have been showing signs of going places as boxers, will get their first taste of Chicagoland Amateur Boxing league competition when they meet soldier fighters representing Camp Grant in the Service Men's club there tonight.

Because the Suburban color bearers will be making their league debut they will appear in the rôle of underdog. Fred Caserio, former international Golden Gloves middleweight champion, who manages the Cicero team, refused to make a prediction as to the probable result, but promised his protêges would make things extremely interesting for the opposition provided by Camp Grant.

Grimm Meets Thumbert.

Elmer Grimm, welterweight standard bearer, is reported to be Caserio's outstanding battler and as such, correctly enough, will face the army squad's most skilful fighter in Arnold Thumbert. Grimm is a rugged fellow who carries plenty of power in his right hand. However, Thumbert is no shrinking violet, as testified by his conquests of Joe Dugo, former Catholic Youth organization novice 147 pound title holder, and Eddie Doyle of Fort Sheridan in two previous league fights.

Camp Grant has won one and lost one since the fight for the league championship was started three weeks ago. Its victory was registered over Fort Sheridan, 5 to 3. Previously the team was dealt a 6 to 2 defeat by the CYO. Despite that setback the army boys' showing was encouraging, since they were making their first appearance in team competition and had not yet reached top condition.

MacDonald Another Winner.

In addition to Thumbert, Camp Grant's point getter against the CYO was Wallie MacDonald. Besides Thumbert, the post's points against its arch rivals from Fort Sheridan were recorded by Kirkland Pollacca, flyweight; Martin Hoskie, bantamweight Tom Partridge, light heavyweight, and Lyndon Sandford, middleweight. Pollacca beat Richard McLain, Hoskie stopped Benton Holder, Partridge defeated Clem La Buhn, Sandford scored a technical knockout over George Hoyte, and Thumbert conquered Eddie Doyle. MacDonald's victim was Bob Patterson.

MacDonald and Partridge are among those appearing on this evening's card, the former against Tony Denassio, and Partridge against Stanley Strand. Additional contests include those involving Johnny Levitino, West Suburban welterweight, and Bob Mathers, Fort Sheridan, and Walter Porter, West Suburban 175 pounder, and Jesse Swan, Fort Sheridan. Eight bouts are scheduled.

SQUASH RACQUETS MATCH.

Allen Wennerstrand of the Union League club and Louis Volpe of the Lake Forest Winter club will meet in an exhibition squash racquets match Saturday afternoon at the Lake Shore club.

Browns to Ask 14 Night Games at Joint Meeting

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis' annual party, known as the joint meeting, promises to be such a tame affair this time that outside entertainment may have to be called in. The session is scheduled for the morning of Dec. 11 in the Palmer House, the two previous days being devoted to the separate business conferences of the American and National leagues.

The Landis programs are conducted in accordance with a prearranged scheme. Proposals for action by the two leagues are submitted in advance, put together a la mimeograph as copies sent to each club. Proposals for the impending conference take up less than a half typewriter page, single spaced.

The only one that promises to bring up a debate involves expansion of night baseball which under the present rule is limited to seven games per club, if the club has a lighting plant. The St. Louis Browns want the maximum set at 14, a wish that was voted down when they offered a similar suggestion last year. Some of the other owners are reported to have become enlightened in the last 12 months.

President Clark Griffith of the Washington club is in again with one of his perennials. Just to let his fellow magnates as well as those in the National league know he is not easily whipped, Griff has resubmitted his proposal that Sunday double headers be prohibited until late in the season. This probably will result in the usual compromise. The two league presidents will promulgate a ruling prohibiting Sabbath bargain bills prior to the third or fourth Sunday of the season.

The major-minor pact which expires next January probably will be voted an extra year of life by the parties involved. The committees working on the revision of the agreement haven't completed their work.

If the Cincinnati Reds do as well on the ball field next year as they have done with their 1942 roster they're going to be pennant cinches. Their roster is already in circulation, setting an all-time major league record. The editor, Gabe Paul, explained to the baseball writers that the facts and figures might prove helpful during the impending big league meetings. The editor devised something new by including dimensions of all the minor league ball parks which the Reds' rookies called home during the 1941 season. A revised edition of the roster will be printed late in January.

Giants Spike Rumors of Long Contract for Terry

New York, Nov. 26 [Special].—Rumors that Manager Bill Terry is to be signed within a few days to a new long term contract with the New York Giants were spiked today by a statement that the front office has had no conference with Terry on a contract or any other subject since last September.

Chanute Field Quintet Beats Charleston, 50-39

Charleston, Ill., Nov. 26 [Special].—Bill Hapac, former University of Illinois star, scored 13 points as he led the Chanute field basketball team to a 50 to 39 victory over Charleston Teachers' college tonight. The score was tied at the half, 19 to 19. It was the opening game of the season for each team. Larry Walker scored ten points to lead Charleston't attack.

COLLEGE STARS BATTLE OSHKOSH FIVE TOMORROW

The second annual basketball game between a team of collegiate all-stars and the champions of the National Professional league, in this case the Oshkosh All-Stars, will be played tomorrow evening in the Chicago Stadium, but not until a preliminary game involving a couple of pretty good pro quintets is decided. That would be the opening contest between Chicago's Bruins and the New York Renaissance team, one of the game's most talented Negro clubs.

The main event is scheduled for approximately 9:30 p. m., but the duel between the Bruins and the Renaissance five will start at 8:15 p. m. The Renaissance outfit, which has been working its way in this direction on a tour originating in the east, brings with it a number of the lads who worked with the Harlem Globe Trotters, losers in last year's battle with the collegiate all-stars.

The Bruins, who finished just out of the playoff bracket in the pro league last spring, will have varying interests in tomorrow night's two games. For one item, they will introduce Jack Tierney, former member of the IAC's world champions, as their new coach for the 1941-'42 season. For another, the Bruins will include in their regular lineup Stan Szukala, one time De Paul star who scored the winning basket in the second overtime last year, and Ralph Vaughn, Southern California star.

Two prospective Bruins will be in the college all-star lineup tomorrow. They are bespectacled Joe Stampf, who led the Western conference in scoring for Chicago's Maroons in the last campaign, and Ed Sachs, who helped De Paul conclude another big season in his final year at the North Side school.

Texas, Irish, and 6 Big 9 Teams on N. U. '42 Schedule

The University of Texas will be the opening opponent on Northwestern's 1942 football schedule, according to the eight game card announced yesterday by K. L. Wilson, athletic director.

Northwestern again will play six Western conference teams in 1942. Five of the teams will be the same as last fall, with Purdue replacing Indiana in the sixth contest. Other Big Nine opponents will be Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio State, Wisconsin, and Illinois. Notre Dame will wind up the season at South Bend Nov. 21. The schedule follows:

Oct. 3—Texas at Evanston.
Oct. 10—Purdue at Evanston.
Oct. 17—Michigan at Ann Arbor.
Oct. 24—Ohio State at Evanston.
Oct. 31—Minnesota at Minneapolis.
Nov. 7—Illinois at Evanston.
Nov. 14—Wisconsin at Evanston.
Nov. 21—Notre Dame at South Bend.

Canadiens' Hockey Star Badly Hurt in Crash

VALLEYFIELD, Quebec, Nov. 26 (AP).—Tony De Mers, star of the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey league, suffered a possible broken leg, two broken ribs, and internal injuries last night in an automobile crash, physicians said today.

SAILORS' QUINTET STARTS OFF WITH 59 TO 44 VICTORY

Baumholtz Paces Great Lakes with 18 Points.

The Great Lakes Naval Training station basketball team, consisting of former college stars, successfully met its first test last night on its home floor by whipping Wisconsin State Teachers of Milwaukee, 59 to 44, before 5,000 sailors.

It took a bit of playing, however, before Lieut. J. Russell Cook, athletic officer and basketball coach, arrived at the squad's best combination, which took the floor trailing, 11 to 10. This unit promptly went into a lead Wisconsin Teachers never threatened.

Teachers Take Early Lead.

Great Lakes started John Lobsiger [Missouri] and Dick Klein [Northwestern] at forwards; Bill Menke [Indiana] at center, and Jim Van Orsdel and George Rung [Miami, O.] at guards. Against this team the Teachers moved into a quick lead, the margin at one time being 8 to 3.

Great Lakes began clicking at this point and moved into a 10 to 9 lead on a shot by Menke. It was short lived, however, for Walter Buehler gave Wisconsin Teachers an 11 to 10 edge with a field goal.

It was at this point that the winning combination went into action. It consisted of Forrest Anderson [Stanford] and Frank Baumholtz [Ohio] at forwards, Bob Calihan [Detroit], center, and Ernie Andres [Indiana] and Jim Currie [Northwestern] at guards.

Baumholtz Gets 18 Points.

Anderson promptly popped the ball into the net from 10 yards out and Great Lakes led, 12 to 11. With Baumholtz, Calihan, and Andres carrying out a consistent, fast-breaking attack, the sailors took a 26 to 16 lead at the half.

In the second period Great Lakes scored as it pleased, relaxing after leading by 30 points to take up a defensive game. Baumholtz scored 18 points.

Great Lakes will play Notre Dame Dec. 3 at Notre Dame. Lineup of last night's game:

No Bowl Games for Notre Dame—and That's Final

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 26 [Special].—The Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C.S.C., vice president of the University of Notre Dame and chairman of the faculty board in control of athletics, stated today that the board, in a regular meeting last night, went on record with a formal statement saying that the Irish will not play in any post season football game.

The board's action, Father Cavanaugh explained, is merely a reiteration of policy of long standing, but it was made to spike continued speculation that the Irish might accept a bowl bid or some other post season game invitation.

As badly as the university needs funds at this uncertain time, Father Cavanaugh said, the board agreed that the hardship of further training would be unfair to both the players and the coaching staff, who have already done a splendid job in finishing the season undefeated.

Father Cavanaugh said that net athletic receipts for the current school year probably will fall below the net of $211,915.46 of 1940-'41 because of a decline in attendance. Altho there were five sellouts for nine games, the estimated total of 426,000 fans, including thousands of children admitted free, was well below last season's 504,500.

The reason for the difference lies largely in the limited capacity of the Georgia Tech and Notre Dame stadiums. Only 31,000 saw the former game, as compared with 50,000 here last year, while 56,000 saw the Trojan game here, as compared with 85,000 at Los Angeles last season.

Rain hurt the attendance at the Indiana and Carnegie Tech games to an estimated extent of about 25,000.

ILLINOIS PICKS SMITH TO LEAD FOOTBALL TEAM

Seven Frosh from Chicago Awarded Numerals.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 26 [Special]. —Jimmy Smith, half back from Murphysboro, Ill., was introduced as the 1942 University of Illinois football captain at the annual dinner for the squad given by the Champaign Rotary club tonight.

Smith won his spurs as a sophomore in 1939 when he was a prominent factor in the upset of Michigan and defeated Wisconsin by a long run. He was not in the university the first semester last year, dropping out for an operation on a knee. He was regular right half back the last season.

Wells Is Chief Speaker.

Harry L. Wells, vice president and business manager of Northwestern university, was chief speaker. Other speakers included Prof. Robert B. Browne, Athletic Director Doug Mills, Assistant Coach Ray Eliot, and Freshman Coach Ralph Fletcher.

Director Mills announced that the athletic council had awarded Coach Zuppke an Illinois blanket.

A resolution congratulating Coach Zuppke on his long and distinguished service to Illinois was adopted by standing vote as follows:

"Whereas Robert C. Zuppke has for many years faithfully served this community and state as a neighbor, citizen, Rotarian, and coach, and

"Whereas he has now determined that he can best serve his school and friends by relinquishing his duties as football coach at the University of Illinois.

"Now therefore be it resolved that the Champaign Rotary club extend to Robert C. Zuppke its sincere and heartfelt best wishes for his future happiness and success in whatever endeavor he may choose to undertake."

Thirty-five Awarded Numerals.

Seven players from Chicago, including three from Fenger High school, are among 35 fresh football players recommended for freshman numerals today. They are:

Joseph Astroth, Wood River; Levon Biolchin, Fenger; San Filippo, Fenger; Ray Florey, Fenger; Russell May, Hirsch; Robert Powers, Tilden; Stanley Rosen, Hyde Park; Joseph Rosenstock, Hyde Park; Linell Bock and James Thon, Oak Park; Ray Bordner, Lewistown; Frank Buddenbaum and Houston Meyer, Indianapolis, Ind.; Jack Butt, Decatur; Marvin Clatt, East Peoria; James Craig, Champaign; Arthur Dufelmeier and Elmer Huss, Beardstown; John Garrett, Harvey; Jack Hendron, Chicago Heights; Mike Kasap, La Salle-Peru; Frank Kozel, St Bede's academy, and Don Walters, La Salle-Peru, Oglesby; James Malerich, Lincoln; Delmer Meyers, Freeport; Donald Peterson, Jamestown, N. Y.; Albert Pike, West Aurora; Lloyd Powers and Mac Wenskunas, Georgetown; Erwin Ridge, Sterling; Thomas Smerdel, Danville; Frank Wehrli and John Zedrow, Naperville; Dean Werts, Urbana; Herbert Zaremba, Evanston.

Almost half, 12 out of the 25, players awarded varsity letters by the athletic council today were sophomores. Two were from Fenger. Four seniors and nine juniors completed the awards, which were as follows:

Alex Agase, Evanston; Lavere Astroth, Alton; Anthony Butkovich, St. David; Ken Sheeley and Cliff Niedzelski, Foley, Minn.; Robert Cherry, Girard; Walter Correll and Richard Tumilty, Lincoln; Elmer Engel and Wes Tregoning, La Salle; John Genis, Fenger; Don Griffin, Fenger, Chicago; Richard Good, South Bend, Ind.; Maurice Gold, Bronxville, N. Y.; Ray Grierson and Robert Wilson, Champaign; Nate Johnson, Benton; Dominic Mattiazzi, St. Bede's academy, Oglesby; James McCarthy, Lockport; Thomas McCullough, Aurora West; Joe Pawlowski, Aurora East; Paul Molosecivh, Ziegler; Isaiah Owens, Gary, Ind.; Myron Pfeifer, Illiopolis, and James Smith, Murphysboro.

HOOSIER PAPER ASKS OPINIONS ON FOOTBALL TEAM

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 26 [Special].—Followers of Indiana university's football fortunes were invited tonight to use the Indiana Daily Student, campus newspaper, as a clearing house for an airing of grievances that can make for a better understanding.

The invitation was contained in a front page editorial written by Editor in Chief Winston C. Fournier of Frankfort. It was substituted for an editorial, reportedly critical of the I. U. coaching staff, which was withheld after inaccuracies were uncovered.

Today's editorial, while questioning some of the policies of Head Coach Bo McMillin, was only mildly critical and expressed confidence that new ideas offered by Hoosier followers would help improve the situation.

"By bringing all these ideas together we believe that the next five seasons will see the best football games and the best seasons Indiana university has had," the editorial stated. "Bo McMillin will be coach during those years—his present contract expires June 30, 1947."

The editorial credited McMillin with improving Indiana's football fortunes, altho pointing out that the record this past season was two Indiana victories against six defeats and McMillin's eight year record here was 25 games won, 32 lost and 7 ties.

SMILIN' JACK—SIGNAL CORPS SWING

Leo Seeks 1st All-City Title for 5th Time

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Aloysius Langford Cronin, the La Salle street attorney, who forgets courtrooms in the fall to develop Catholic league championship football teams at Leo High, smiles when his league record is mentioned, but there is a slight blush on his countenance when the results of the Lions' four previous appearances in Mayor Kelly's All-City charity game are brought up. However, Coach Cronin believes this year the Lions will roar loud and long against Tilden Tech in Soldiers' field Saturday afternoon.

Coach Cronin's elevens hold the record for the number of appearances in the interleague contest, but they have failed to score a point against their opponents, Lindblom in 1934 and 1935, Austin in 1937, and Fenger last season. The Lions are confident they have the key to solve the problem of crossing enemy goal lines and the chance to score their first victory in the series will depend upon Henry [Babe] Baranowski, 155 pound quarter back, whose dazzling runs and passes have led the squad to 10 consecutive victories.

Team Holds Drill.

Baranowski and his teammates gathered in Shewbridge field yesterday for the second workout of the week. Babe and five other senior members of the squad—Bob Quinn, Larry Forst, Jim Schmuhl, Tom McDonald, and Chuck Mehmel—will serve as active pallbearers this morning at the funeral services for Mrs. Josephine Lauro, mother of Guard Frank Lauro, who died last Sunday night. The services will be held in St. Theodore church, 62d and Paulina streets. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Lauro also suffered a rib injury in the league championship game against Fenwick last Sunday, but X-ray pictures revealed no serious ailment and the lineman is expected to rejoin the squad for the final practice session tomorrow. With the exception of a few bruises all other members of the regular squad are in condition for the engagement against the Public School league champions.

Two Yellow Jackets Ailing.

There also are two ailing regulars in the Tilden Tech camp. Victor Miezskowski, left guard, and Don Peterson, right tackle, were dismissed from practice yesterday by Coach Charles Harvey. The players are suffering with colds, but are expected to be available Saturday. Tilden's fleet trio —Ray Schumacher, Len Mazzaco, and Eddie Uvodich—will add the finishing touches to the offensive attack in workouts this afternoon and tomorrow.

The return of mild temperatures increased the sale of tickets, proceeds of which will be used to purchase shoes and clothing for Chicago's underprivileged children. More than 600,000 have received Christmas packages since the start of the series in 1934, and Barnet Hodes, secretary of Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit fund, said an additional 70,000 will benefit from the game if the $100,000 goal is reached.

MORTON STARS AWAIT RULING ON ELIGIBILITY

Morton High school last night awaited word from the American Legions national junior baseball tournament committee and the Illinois High School association regarding the eligibility of a group of athletes, who spent last summer playing with the Berwyn Legion post squad which reached the national finals. The players were reported to have been declared ineligible for further prep competition for accepting gold watches, illegal awards according to IHSA rules, from the Legion.

However, Norman Ziebell, Morton basketball coach, pointed out that the boys received watches two years ago when they reached the final round, but no action was taken by the IHSA at that time. Ziebell also said the Legion officials contacted the National Amateur Athletic union.

Among those who were members of the Berwyn squad are Charles Tourek, center on the Morton quintet, who this fall was captain and center on the football squad; Tony Demkovich, another basketball and baseball player, and Joe Vydra and Ray Eisbrener of the Morton nine.

Harder Is Top Ground Gainer in Conference

Pat Harder, Wisconsin sophomore full back who led the Big Nine in scoring, also topped the conference in ground gaining with a net gain of 590 yards in six games, figures released by conference headquarters yesterday revealed. Harder's average of 98.3 yards a game beat Capt. Bob Westfall of Michigan, who finished with an average of 98, and Bill Daley of Minnesota who had an average of 96.8.

Len Seelinger, Harder's sophomore teammate, led the Big Nine in forward passing with 26 out of 48 for a game average of 69.8. Otto Graham of Northwestern was second with 62.8 and Tom Kuzma of Michigan third with 53.4.

Jack Graf, Ohio State full back, played in only four of the Buckeyes' five conference games but led in total offense [rushing and passing] with a game average of 125.6.

Other Big Nine figures reveal that scoring reached a new high in the conference in 1941 with an average of 28.6 in 23 title games. This was one point above the 1940 average and two points ahead of the 1939 figure.

The new substitution rule did not cut down playing action in the Big Nine, either, as the rushes per game, 45.65 for each team, topped the 1940 average of 43.3. Yards gained on completed passes showed a gain this year, too, the average being 16.1 against 13.5 for last year.

Nonebetters Meet Gills in Randolph League Tonight

The Nonebetter Ice Creams, who won three games from the Joseph L. Gills in Windy City Major league play recently, will meet the Gills in tonight's most attractive match in the Randolph Bowling league at Bensinger's 29 West Randolph center. The match is scheduled at 9 o'clock. The Nonebetters have been one of the surprise teams of the circuit, having a team average of 1,003 pins per game. Jerry Peck leads with 206, Sam Saric has 203, and Jake Hansen, Al Schmitz, and Ray Koopman all carry better than 198.

MARINES TO GET BULLDOG FOR A MASCOT AT SHOW

Chicago Club Will Make Presentation Sunday.

BY BOB BECKER.

King of the Northwoods, a bulldog bred by Mrs. Laila Phillips of Elmhurst, has been fitted with a new "uniform" bearing the official insignia of the United State marines, and at 7 o'clock Sunday evening will be inducted as a member of the United States marine corps.

King will be presented to the local recruiting office of the marine corps by the Chicago Bulldog club, to serve as an official mascot. The presentation will be made during the annual Western Specialty Clubs' association dog show in the Coliseum. Lieut. Col. Chester L. Fordney, in charge of the local marine corps recruiting office, will accept the new mascot in behalf of the military organization. The dog show officially opens Saturday morning and will continue thru Sunday evening.

Entries from All Over.

A study of the entry lists for this thirty-first annual Western Specialty show indicates this event will by no means be a local show. Naturally, a large percentage of the entries are from Chicagoland kennels, but every section of the country is represented in the middle west's largest autumn dog show.

Dogs are arriving from California, Washington, Texas, New Mexico, Nebraska, Louisiana, Alabama, Virginia, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Maryland, Maine, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Minnesota, Wisconsin, District of Columbia, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, and other states. As is the case every year, the out of state kennels send only their best dogs on the cross-country dog show circuits.

Event for Children, Too.

The children's handling classes, always a popular feature with dog show followers, will be held at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. More than 35 boys and girls under 16 who win in these various classes receive trophies and pins from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

There will be no entry fee and contestants may take part merely by appearing at the show ring when the event starts. All contestants must handle dogs regularly entered in one of the breed classes, however. Mrs. Madeleine Roessler of Winnetka, and Thomas M. Halpin of Chicago, will judge the event.

William Feller, recently wrote the board secretary that Bob's ailing father was dependent upon the young pitching star's estimated $45,000 a year income. This letter has not been referred to the board as a whole.

Feller was reported on his way to Cleveland from Washington, D. C., tonight for a conference with Alva Bradley, Indian president.

Bradley said he did not know the purpose of the pitcher's trip to Washington, adding: "Of course, wherever Bob is concerned, it's not hard to guess that his trips have some connection with his prospects of being drafted."

ALL-STARS ROLL ON TED LYONS' ALLEYS TONIGHT

Three bowlers picked to compete in the All-Star tournament will figure in a doubles match to be rolled as the feature tonight at the formal opening of Ted Lyons' recreation center on 71st street at Jeffery avenue. The match will bring together Joe Wilman and Bill Hargadon against Paul Krumske and Adolph Carlson. The match will start at 11:30.

Lyons' recreation is one of the more elaborate of the city's new establishments. It features 32 alleys in line.

Air Corps Accepts Harmon; May Be Called in January

Mount Clemens, Mich., Nov. 26 (AP).—Tom Harmon has been approved for flying cadet training in the army air corps and probably will be called early in January, Selfridge field authorities announced today.

THIS IS A TOUGH SEASON FOR PRO FOOTBALL MARKS

Bears Break Six Records in Nine Games.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The National Football league race is nearing its zero hour to the accompaniment of a record breaking number of broken records, most of them set up by the Chicago Bears. While they were practicing yesterday for Sunday's game in Philadelphia against the Eagles, a recheck of the champions' statistics revealed that a new record went by unnoticed two weeks ago when the Redskins were de-emphasized on Wrigley field.

This one was in scoring touchdowns by rushing. The fifth Bear touchdown against Washington, scored by George McAfee, was the team's 27th of the season. The former record of 26 was jointly held by the Bears and Lions. Three touchdowns Sunday against the Lions raised the Bears' total to 30. They have written six new records into the book in nine games this year. The other five are:

Most yards gained in one game, 613.

Most yards gained passing in one game, 376.

Most first downs in one game, 25.

Most touchdowns in one season, 44.

Most points scored in one season, 313.

Packers Threaten Marks.

The first downs record really has taken a beating. When the season started, Pittsburgh and New York were tops with 21. This had been bettered by both the Bears and Packers this season against Cleveland before the champions raised it to 25 against Detroit.

McAfee, under normal circumstances, should at least tie another league record in Philadelphia. He has made 10 touchdowns, one less than the league mark held by Andy Farkas of the Redskins.

The Packers are concentrating on their final game of the regular campaign in Washington against the Redskins, but even so, may crack three league records. Don Hutson, the splintery end, needs only five points to eclipse Jack Manders' record of 79 for most points in one season. Don needs only three to break the former Bear's mark of 368 for total points scored in league competition.

Nears Manders' Record.

Clarke Hinkle is only four points behind Manders' all-time record. The big full back has scored 364 points since joining the Packers 'way back in 1932. If Cecil Isbell, the Packers' fine passer, pitches for only a total of 45 yards against the Redskins he will tie Sammy Baugh's league standard of 1,367 yards set last year.

Word from the Packers, who are headquartering in New York until Friday, is that all players are in good condition except Baby Ray. The giant tackle suffered rib injuries in the 54 to 7 rout of the Steelers last Sunday and may not be able to play against the Redskins. The last time the Packers and Redskins met was in 1939 when the Wisconsin team won, 24 to 14.

Three Cards Out for Year.

Al Coppage, who suffered a brain concussion in the Green Bay game 10 days ago, is definitely out for the season, Coach Jim Conzelman of the Cardinals said last night. Coppage, who played a steady game at end all season, was hit while going up for a pass. Conzelman also fears that a knee injury will keep Tarzan White, hard working guard, out of the game Sunday in Detroit and the following week in Comiskey park against the Bears. Ray Mallouf, freshman passing half back, also perhaps has played his final game of the year as it is considered unlikely his broken hand will be sufficiently mended.

By winning Sunday the Cards will finish third in the western division. The two teams played a 14 to 14 tie in Chicago last September.

RACING BOARD WEIGHS TRACK DATE REQUESTS

May Allot Meetings Today for 1942 Season.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Representatives of all Chicago area tracks yesterday presented their cases to the Illinois Racing board in the controversy over the allotment of dates for the 1942 season. At the conclusion of the session, Maj. Ednyfed Williams, chairman of the board, said that the dates would be announced either today or tomorow after he and the other board members, Frank Mandel and William Fay, had discussed the various statements made at yesterday's hearing.

The situation is even more complicated this season that it has been in the past. There is the perennial clash of interests between Hawthorne and Washington Park over Labor day. Washington Park has asked for an August meeting running into September including Labor day. Hawthorne has bid for a September meeting including Labor day and has offered to take August without Labor day.

Aurora Back in Picture.

Lincoln Fields, which has been running in early May and June, has applied for an August meeting. The reëntry of Aurora into the picture has complicated the spring setup, for Sportsman's Park has asked for another divided meeting, one in early May and the other in October. Aurora wants April 26 to May 30, including Memorial day.

This application conflicts not only with Sportsman's Park's wishes but also with Lincoln Fields' compromise bid for its old late May and early June schedule if it is unable to get midsummer dates. If Sportsman's Park can't get its spring meeting, it will want a longer fall session.

That is a summary of the dispute that the racing board will have to settle. The representatives of the tracks have conferred among themselves in an effort to reach satisfactory compromises but their various interests have been so conflicting that they have found no alternative to putting it up to the board for arbitration.

Officials Represent Tracks.

John D. Allen, president of Arlington Park, represented that track at yesterday's hearing. Walter Gregory and B. F. Lindheimer spoke for Washington Park. John D. Jackson, general manager of both of these tracks, also was present.

Charles Krutckoff and Charles Bidwill stated the case for Hawthorne. Matt J. Winn was there on behalf of Lincoln Fields, his case being presented by the track's attorney, George Barr. John Keeshin and Joseph Donovan represented Sportsman's Park, together with their attorney, Robert Barrett. D. C. Burnett and Attorney Arnold Benson were there for Aurora.

The dates for which the various tracks have applied follow:

Aurora—April 25 to May 30 [31 days including Memorial day].
Arlington Park—June 22 to Aug. 1 [36 days including Independence day].
Washington Park—Aug. 3 to Sept. 7 [31 days including Labor day].
Lincoln Fields—Aug. 3 to Sept. 7 [31 days including Labor day].
Hawthorne—Aug. 31 to Oct. 3 [30 days including Labor day].
Sportsman's Park—April 25 to May 16 [19 days with no holiday] and Oct. 5 to Oct. 31 [24 days with no holiday].

2 MILLION MAY LOSE JOBS, OPM OFFICIAL WARNS

Many Concerns Face Priorities Ruin.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—The nation faces "priorities unemployment" of 2 million or more persons and extinction of many business concerns unless they get rearmament orders soon, a high official of the Office of Production Management said today.

The spokesman was Peter R. Nehemkis Jr., assistant to Floyd B. Odlum, director of the division of contract distribution. The OPM released Nehemkis' remarks made in St. Louis, Mo., before a house committee investigating national defense migration.

It was Nehemkis who predicted several months ago that 10 entire industries faced a shutdown because of priorities and loss of business thru the rearmament program.

Order Vacuum Cleaner Cut.

While he was making his prediction that "there is bound to be suffering," the OPM cracked down on manufacturers of household vacuum cleaners by ordering an immediate 10 per cent cut in production. Nineteen companies reported that they would be affected by the order. Some transfers to arms production have been accomplished and the OPM will attempt to find employment for displaced workers.

Tonight the OPM recommended that the war and navy department award additional contracts to the Muskegon, Mich., area, as soon as possible to relieve unemployment. As many as 5,400 workers in the area may lose their jobs by the end of this month, the agency said.

Illinois also has been seriously affected by priorities regulations and a drive is under way, supported by THE TRIBUNE, t bring arms contracts to the second largest industrial area in the nation.

Large Orders Awarded.

Nehemkis told the committee that rearmament contracts totaling $31,577,090 have been placed in 10 defense areas, including more than 75 plants, where materials for civilian production were denied

"No one can predict with accuracy the trend of 'priorities unemployment,'" the OPM quoted Nehemkis as saying. "Some estimates indicate unemployment of 2 million persons, and others run even larger.

"For a considerable sector of business there would appear to be no alternatives except to convert or perish. Moreover, because we have been late in drawing our blueprints for the large scale conversion of industry, there is bound to be a certain amount of suffering. What must be done will have to be undertaken under more adverse conditions and with even greater hardships than if we had our master blueprints ready."

Records on 40,000 Firms.

Nehemkis, who had assisted the New Deal in its monopoly probe, said that the OPM had records on the facilities of about 40,000 manufacturing plants, but that these represented "only a fraction of the vast sea of available but unused plant and tool capacity of America."

"We have yet to learn the extent of our potential producing power," he continued. "Accordingly, we are undertaking in every part of the nation an inventory of facilities not being used for defense work."

He said that the spreading of armament contracts must be done on a "hit or miss" basis until "shopping lists" of all military items required but not yet ordered are available. Such lists are under preparation, he said.

Nehemkis also disclosed that the OPM is preparing legislation to be submitted to congress to remove legal impediments for aiding small business.

Laws Restrict Awards.

He said that existing legislation makes it impossible for the navy to award a regional contract if there is a responsible low bid from outside that region, and that bonding requirements also have worked against smaller enterprises in getting rearmament business. The OPM also is considering the problem of financing smaller businesses which want rearmament contracts.

Meanwhile Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] warned in a statement that there is no possibility of financing the rearmament program if civilian production is unnecessarily curtailed by the OPM thru the withholding of raw materials.

Some of these restrictions have been unjustified, O'Mahoney declared.

He said he has received additional support for his bill to establish an agency to hear appeals of small business for raw material allocations and that Sen. Harry Truman [D., Mo.], chairman of a special senate committee investigating the defense program, plans to call OPM officials before the committee on Dec. 9 for questioning on alleged failure to achieve maximum development of raw materials resources.

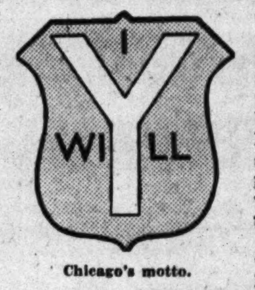
Unions Train for Arms Work; Pullman Shares Tank Contract

Rules Revised to Put Jobless Craftsmen on Pay Rolls.

BY HAL FOUST.

Illinois labor is eagerly awaiting the half billion dollars in armament business promised Gov. Green in Washington, D. C., this week. The business is to be allocated within the next three months. The governor passed thru Chicago yesterday en route from the east to Springfield.



Chicago's motto.

Gunnar Hallstrom, business manager of the Pattern Makers' association, delivered a report on labor to Victor A. Olander, secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor.

The report, a preliminary one, concerned the manpower available for munitions production under the expanding lend-lease and armament programs. Hallstrom said that priority shutdowns and pay roll cuts were creating unemployment but that the unions, nevertheless, were increasing the number of trained hands to make equipment and supplies for the army and navy.

Pledges Full Coöperation.

"We want to coöperate with employers and with public officials in getting defense contracts and subcontracts assigned to our territory," he said. THE TRIBUNE has been campaigning to get Chicagoland a larger share of the armament work. In the past, this area has not received its just allotments.

"In my survey," Hallstrom continued, "I find that the AFL locals so far have been losing jobs in this defense program, due to the priority curtailment on the use of materials. Quite a number of resident craftsmen have had to move to the east or west coasts, to sections of the country that have been favored in the allotment of war business.

"We anticipate that Chicagoland is finally going to get its share of the armament contracts and that there will then be a big demand for skilled labor. We're preparing to meet these demands.

Unions Changing Rules.

"The unions are changing their rules to make it easier for men to switch to trades in greatest demand for armament production from trades that will not be in demand in the war period.

"For the critical crafts, such as machinists, where there may be a shortage, we favor recruits from idle crafts with similar skill. The first men to get jobs from the defense program should be those who have lost jobs as a result of the program.

"We're arranging with employers for men to return to crafts they have not practiced for years. In the shops, at apprentice wage rates, they can burnish their dulled skill and then become journeymen by passing examinations. We don't want to relax standards for workmanship.

Ready For Conferences.

"Union labor wants to coöperate in this emergency. We want to be called into the councils of those directing the defense program to perfect this coöperation.

"We have the men and equipment to do the jobs. We have a better record for labor peace than any other industrial center. We have houses, schools, churches, police, and utilities to serve the workmen. We should get at least our share of the munitions contracts."

Olander said that Hallstrom's survey, when completed, will be taken before the executive committee of the labor federation for formal adoption of definite recommendations.

Plants in Chicagoland Turn Out Parts for Army Weapons.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

Small manufacturing plants, many of them in the Chicago area, will do three-fourths of the work on the new medium tanks which the Hammond works of the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company will build for the army, Ray M. Fox, works manager, said yesterday after completing arrangements with several subcontractors.

Fox estimated that of the first 20 million dollars' worth of the tanks to be produced, about 15 millions will be farmed out. He asserted the little manufacturer is playing an increasingly important rôle in arms production.

The subcontractors do machining or furnish parts which later are assembled at the Hammond works.

Small Plants' Share.

Chicagoland plants which will help Pullman in building the tanks, the nature of their contribution to the completed unit, and their representatives who made arrangements with Fox follow:

Peerless Mold and Machine company, Chicago; machining rotary cages and clutch throwout levers; Adolph Larson, engineer.

Victor Manufacturing and Gasket company, Chicago; pistol ports and track end connectors of which 316 units are needed for each tank; George Victor, vice president, and O. W. Clifton, purchasing director.

Burns Machine company, Ottawa, Ill.; machining of rotor cover and retainer, turret lock and spindle; Robert B. and Chester B. Burns, owners.

Aurora Metal company, Aurora, Ill.; bronze traversing racks; George Peters, engineer.

Lasker Boiler and Engineering corporation, Chicago; machining of turret; Frank Lasker, treasurer.

Viking Engineering company, Hammond; hinges and escape doors; Christian Christianson, treasurer.

Most Facilities in Arms.

The subcontractors reported that almost all of their facilities now are engaged in armament work. Lasker observed that 70 per cent of his company's work is for armament purposes, including the making of boilers for munitions plants and the manufacture of nose and tail parts for 4,000 pound bombs. He said, however, that his company is having difficulty in obtaining material for civilian customers.

In explaining Pullman's policy in dealing with small subcontractors B. H. Bradley, production agent, said field engineers are dispatched to make a spot survey of the plant to which a job is to be sublet. When the material is sent to the plant another inspection is made. Inspectors and field engineers also are sent to the subcontractor's plant to expedite production and watch precision operations.

Fixed Policy of Company.

Pullman's emphasis on spreading military jobs among smaller plants has become a fixed policy, officials said. In fulfilling its government contracts for 81 mm. trench mortars, army transport plane wings, howitzer gun carriages, shells, and tanks, it has brought into its fold almost 300 smaller plants.

Pullman already has built medium tanks for the British army. The new tank contract is its first with the United States army. The company shared a contract for more than 80 million dollars' worth of tanks with the Pressed Steel Car company, Inc., which received 48 millions.

Pullman is still making British tanks. The Hammond works now employs more than 3,000 workers in three shifts.

CEA ASKS MORE CONTROL OF SOY BEAN MARKETS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—The Commodity Exchange administration declared today that "excessive speculation" this season showed a need for increased government control of futures trading in soy beans.

In a report to Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard on a survey of open contracts in soy bean futures on the Chicago Board of Trade on Sept. 15, the CEA said that such control should involve increased margin requirements and restrictions on "excessive in-and-out trading or 'scalping'" operations.

Much of the speculative activity was prompted, officials said, by prospects that the United States would be unable, due to shipping difficulties, to secure as large a part of its vegetable oil requirements from abroad as in the past. Soy beans are a major source of such oil.

The CEA said the existing legislation was effective in curbing manipulation and excessive speculation on the part of large operators but was not effective in controling "undesirable market participation by small traders or scalpers."

OPM AID WARNS OF NEW CIVILIAN SUPPLY CONTROL

A warning that the civilian economy will be reduced to a "maintenance level" was voiced yesterday by John Gregg, assistant deputy director of the Office of Production Management priorities division. He spoke at a Chicago Association of Commerce luncheon in the Palmer House.

Describing the trend of the government's priorities system toward rationing of materials, he asserted that altho the OPM is attempting to cushion the effect of priorities on business, the direction is toward more curtailment of civilian supplies.

"In the policy laid down by the Supply Priorities and Allocations board at its first meeting," Gregg said, "the country was put on notice that civilian economy must be placed on a strictly maintenance basis."

Gregg said the armament program can be saved from "absolute disaster" only by strict control over material distribution.

SLASH SPENDING BY 2 BILLIONS, INDUSTRY ASKS

Manufacturers Set Up Economy Plan.

New York, Nov. 26 (AP).—Immediate slashing of nonmilitary expenditures by 2 billion dollars by the federal government and other reductions by state and local governments will be urgently recommended as a major plank in the 1942 platform of the Congress of American Industry, Charles E. Wilson, chairman of the resolutions committee of the National Association of Manufacturers and president of General Electric company, said today.

A report of the association's committee on government finance will be considered at the industrial convention early in December.

Says Waste Hinders Arming.

"Waste in nondefense spending, which must sooner or later be paid for in the form of taxes, can interfere seriously with the ability of the nation to pay for the defense this country requires," the committee's report stated.

In recommending a cut of 2 billions in the federal budget, the report said:

"This reduction in unnecessary spending would be felt in every household in the nation.

"The average middle class and small income family would be able to pay their newly imposed income taxes in entirety with savings which would accrue from such a slash in the budget. In real dollars, it would mean almost $60 per year to lower bracket taxpayers."

Lists Four Objectives.

The report specified: "The fiscal program required to place government finances on a sound basis during the present emergency should be directed to four main objectives:

"1. Elimination of wasteful and extravagant government expenditures;

"2. Raising of additional tax revenues by means which will not intefere with national productivity, dry up the sourcer of government revenue, or intensify the difficulty of post-war adjustments;

"3. Correction of unsound features of the tax structure whose deterrent effects have been amplified by recent substantial rate increases;

"4. Funds not secured thru economies in spending and by taxation should be raised by borrowing, subscribed to as far as possible by individual investors out of current earnings."

OCTOBER STEEL SHIPMENTS SET PEAK SINCE 1930

New York, Nov. 26 (AP).—Structural steel shipments during October were reported today by the American Institute of Steel Construction at 210,639 tons, the largest for any month since October, 1930. New orders, however, were the lowest for any month this year at only 126,488 tons.

The drop in new orders placed during October cut the backlog of the structural steel industry on Nov. 1 to 614,374 tons, all scheduled for fabrication and delivery by the last of February, 1942.

Total shipments for the first ten months of this year were placed at 1,885,271 tons compared with 1,213,025 tons in the comparable period of 1940.

MACHINISTS VOTE TO END ST. LOUIS STRIKE OF 8,500

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 26 (AP).—A general strike of 8,500 AFL machinists which had tied up production on millions of dollars in arms orders in this area for three days was settled tonight.

Lloyd Weber, business agent of the International Association of Machinists' local, said "The strike is over; that is all I can tell you now" as he emerged from balloting by the executive council on a formula for settlement of the strike.

OPA TOLD PRICES FOR PAPER WILL BE KEPT STEADY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—Makers of more than half the nation's supply of writing, book and printing paper, except newsprint, have notified the Office of Price Administration that they contemplate no price increase in the near future.

The OPA reported that this assurance was received in reply to queries sent recently to about 250 paper producers. They were asked to consult OPA before taking any price action and, if increases were contemplated, to submit data on manufacturing costs.

Producers of writing, book and printing paper do not make newsprint.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson said today that pulp producers had agreed voluntarily not to change domestic wood pulp prices thru the first quarter of 1942. The agreements will extend prices that have prevailed generally since June, 1940.

LACK OF SCRAP TO CUT INLAND'S STEEL OUTPUT

Forced to Close 3 Furnaces Monday.

Inland Steel company plans to reduce its ingot steel production 10 per cent Monday because its scrap iron supplies are nearly exhausted, Leigh B. Block, vice president, said yesterday. Three or four of the 36 open hearth furnaces operated by the company, largest independent steel producer in the Chicago district, will be shut down at that time, he reported.

The shutdowns will be the first in the Chicago district as a result of dwindling scrap supplies, for many months a major concern of the nation's steel industry and armament officials. It also will be the first significant curtailment of Chicago district steel production for any reason other than labor disputes since the arms program started.

Other Shutdowns Predicted.

Other curtailments are expected in the Chicago district, as well as in other sections, unless the scrap problem is solved. Daily Metal Trade, a trade publication, predicted sharp curtailment in steelmaking operations within two weeks, while the publication Iron Age said the industry is entering a "crucial period" in the matter of scrap supplies.

Officials of Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, United States Steel corporation subsidiary and the Chicago district's largest producer, said scrap supplies are "tight," but they declined to predict just when curtailments in steel production will come.

Block said further curtailments at

The Government Makes It Possible To Pay Less Gift and Estate Taxes By Acting Now

WHILE Congress, under the Revenue Act of 1941, made some taxes effective immediately, it allowed until January 1, 1942, before the higher gift tax rate would go into effect. This gives an opportunity to save substantially on gift taxes. Moreover, any gift, if properly made, reduces your estate tax liability.

The following situation—one of several we've had—illustrates what can be done:

A customer of our Trust Department, who had made gifts in trust of $50,000 and thereby exhausted the present $40,000 exemption, desired to make an additional gift in trust of $25,000.

| | |
|---|---|
| One of our trust officers pointed out to this customer that the tax on this gift, if it were made after January 1, 1942, would cost | $2,550 |
| But if made before that date, it would cost only | 1,155 |
| A present saving in gift tax of | $1,395 |

[The customer made this additional gift, thereby reducing his estate from $100,000 to $75,000.]

| | |
|---|---|
| The Federal estate tax, under the Revenue Act of 1941, on $100,000 is | $9,500 |
| Such tax on $75,000 is | 3,900 |
| A reduction in estate tax liability of | $5,600 |

This customer's Federal estate tax liability on his original estate of $150,000, under the Revenue Act of 1941, amounts to more than $23,000.

As a consequence of making the several gifts in trust, he has reduced his present Federal estate tax liability by more than $19,000.

In addition, savings in Federal income tax and reductions in State inheritance taxes will also result.

The possibility of similar tax savings for your estate is something the officers of our Trust Department would like to discuss with you or your attorney.

ADVERSE LABOR AND WAR NEWS LOWERS STOCKS

Rail Stocks Lead List in Downward Slant.

New York, Nov. 26 (AP).—The prolonging of the railway wage dispute and adverse foreign news helped to dislodge enough stocks to depress prices fractions to a point or so today. Rail shares sought lower territory from the start.

Recording one of the widest dips of recent months, the Associated Press 60 stock average was down .4 of a point at 39.4. Transactions totaled 850,600 shares against 835,090 yesterday.

War News Accentuates Trend.

Failure of the brotherhoods and railroad managements to reach an agreement on the wage demands affected speculative sentiment rather deeply, and pessimism was accentuated by reports of British reverses in Libya and stories of harder fighting by the Nazis on the Moscow fronts.

Potential buyers remained chary of new commitments as they watched the progress of United States-Japanese conversations and price control and taxation affairs in Washington. The market was given little opportunity for any bullish display in token of a further batch of extra and special dividends.

CHICAGO PRICES FALL.

Issues on the Chicago Stock exchange showed the sharpest general decline in two weeks yesterday. Of 138 issues traded only 27 advanced, while 74 declined and 37 closed unchanged. Transactions totaled 37,000 shares.

Volume leader was Commonwealth Edison, 4,050 shares, off 1/8 to 22 1/8.

In the last half hour, after the New York close, American Radiator, Commonwealth Edison, and Standard Oil of Indiana each declined 1/8, while Armour & Co. and Indianapolis Power and Light advanced 1/8.

Commodities

Cotton futures advanced 10 to 85 cents a bale yesterday on mill demand stimulated by expectations of a rise in the flexible price ceiling on cotton cloth. World sugar was unchanged to 0.04 1/2 cent a pound higher, altho traders were said to be still confused over the outcome of United States-Cuban negotiations for disposal of next year's Cuban crop.

Weakness in related staples forced cottonseed oil futures down 0.06 to 0.11 cent a pound. Coffee rose 0.03 to 0.16 cent a pound in an active trade, with Brazilian buying the main factor. Hides and cocoa futures each closed unchanged to 0.03 cent a pound higher, and wool eased 0.1 to 0.3 cent a pound.

EMANUEL CHIEF FIGURE IN DEAL FOR PLANE FIRM

Would Gain Control Thru Aviation Holdings.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Victor Emanuel, New York financier who has extensive interests in the utility and aviation fields, will become the dominant figure in the Consolidated Aircraft corporation if controling interest in the company is acquired by Vultee Aircraft, Inc.

Vultee officials disclosed Thursday in Los Angeles that "initial steps have been taken" for purchase of controling interest in Consolidated, one of the largest and most profitable of the aircraft manufacturing companies. This disclosure followed reports that the war department was seeking to remove Consolidated's president, Maj. Reuben H. Fleet, an outspoken critic of the administration's war policies.

Has Close Political Ties.

Emanuel has close political ties in Washington and was a generous contributor to the 1932 Roosevelt campaign fund. He is president of the Aviation corporation, which owns 62 per cent of the stock in Vultee Aircraft. Another company controled by Aviation corporation is New York Shipbuilding corporation, of which Wendell Willkie recently was elected a director.

Emanuel is a director in several corporations and a partner of the New York investment firm of Emanuel & Co. In 1937 he and other New York capitalists acquired control of the old Cord corporation after the Securities and Exchange commission forced the retirement of Errett L. Cord. After Cord lost control the corporation was changed to the Aviation and Transportation corporation and later was merged with an affiliate to form the present Aviation corporation. Besides Vultee and New York Shipbuilding, it controls Republic Aircraft Products corporation and has a large investment in American Airlines, Inc.

Once Headed Big Utility.

A year after he acquired control of the Cord holdings Emanuel gained new prominence thru his election as chairman of the Standard Gas and Electric corporation, one of the largest utility companies in the country which had been forced to reorganize by the Securities and Exchange commission. He replaced B. W. Lynch of Chicago. Emanuel's choice was reported at the time to have had the full approval of SEC officials.

Emanuel remained as chairman of Standard Gas until 1939, when Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, was chosen to succeed him. Emanuel remains a director and chairman of the finance committee of Standard Gas and Crowley retains his post with the FDIC, spending much of his time in Washington. Fifty-three per cent of the common stock of Standard Gas is owned by Standard Power and Light corporation, which Emanuel controls.

Consolidated Aircraft, control of which promises to pass to Emanuel, has been phenomenally successful in an industry which has experienced unprecedented expansion in recent years. It has orders on its books for more than 750 million dollars of aircraft, the largest backlog in the industry. Three years ago it had orders of less than 3 million dollars. In the first eight months of 1941 its sales totaled 53 millions and net profit was $3,611,000.

May Take Over Plant Dec. 1.

It is reported that Vultee will pay 6 million dollars for 348,822 shares of Consolidated stock owned by Maj. Fleet and an undisclosed number of shares owned by Fleet's family. This would give Vultee control. If the deal goes thru Vultee is expected to take over control of the Consolidated plant Dec. 1.

With assets about half those of Consolidated, Vultee would become one of the major units in the aircraft industry. It had $153,346,000 in orders on its books last June. It operated at a loss of $593,488 in the six months ended last May.

Emanuel is reported to have long cherished the ambition to create a "General Motors of the air." If present negotiations are successful he will have taken a long step toward achieving his ambition, observers declare.

'BIGGER JOB' FOR FLLET

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 26 (AP).—Maj. R. H. Fleet, Consolidated Aircraft corporation president, said tonight that reports government dictation had forced him to withdraw as the controling interest in the company were "without basis in fact." Fleet said that instead of withdrawing, he was "taking on an even bigger job."

Fleet disclosed yesterday that negotiations designed to effect transfer of his stock interest in Consolidated to Vultee Aircraft, Inc., were in progress. Reliable sources reported a stock deal might be involved, with the Aviation corporation, which holds an interest in Vultee, participating in the transaction.

BARLEY PRICE BID UP TO SEASON'S HIGH BY BREWERS

Wheat, Corn, Soy Bean Futures Decline.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Quenching America's thirst for beer is quite a task, according to the brewers, and their clamoring for more grain with which to make their brew sent cash barley prices climbing yesterday to a new peak for the season. The market advanced 1 to 2 cents a bushel with a top price of 91 cents reported.

In the futures market, moderate liquidation of December grain contracts dominated the action and prices slid lower. Trading was at a minimum with the brokers anxiously scanning the news tickers for a reassuring note from the capital that pending price control legislation might be revised.

Beans Off Around 4 Cents.

Soy beans sank within 1½ cents of the permissible 6 cent limit for one day's trading and closed 3⅝ to 4½ cents lower with the December delivery at $1.56 a bushel. Wheat was off ½ to ⅞ cent in light trading with December closing at $1.12¼. Corn finished ¼ to ⅝ cent lower; oats, ¼ to ½ cent lower; rye, 1⅞ to 2 cents lower, and lard, 5 to 7½ cents a hundred pounds lower.

Lend-lease purchases announced yesterday by department of agriculture officials included many items that require substantial quantities of grain to produce. Among these was the purchase of 28,840,000 pounds of corn starch which at the current market price of $3.20 a hundred cost the government approximately $922,880. Also purchased was 1,112,000 pounds of corn sugar on which the current market is $4.52 a hundred pounds when packed in paper containers.

Cost Near a Million Dollars.

Cost of the corn starch and sugar, therefore, was approximately $975,000, to which must be added the cost of packing for export and shipping costs to seaboard for loading for England. Grain dealers estimated that it would require 1,091,777 bushels of corn to make the starch and sugar.

Other grain products or related purchases announced were 2,540,000 pounds of cottonseed shortening and two million pounds of cracked wheat.

And while the governmental agencies made ready to ship these vast purchases to England and possibly Russia, another department of agriculture agency released figures showing how bountiful the harvest of wheat has been in the western hemisphere. Out of a total world crop of slightly over 6 billion bushels, the United States, Canada, Argentina, and Australia had almost half, according to the department of foreign agricultural relations. Europe's 1941 crop, excluding the production of soviet Russia, was estimated at 1 billion 410 million bushels.

SEAT AT 50 YEAR LOW.

A membership on the Chicago Board of Trade changed hands recently at $275, or $25 less than the preceding transfer, the exchange reported yesterday. This was the lowest price paid for membership on the grain market in nearly 50 years. It compared with a peak price of $62,000 at which memberships were sold in 1929.

More than 85 per cent of the Rudolph Wurlitzer company employés have voluntarily purchased United States defense savings bonds totaling in excess of $300,000, R. C. Rolfing, president, announced yesterday. The company has been coöperating with the treasury department's drive to enlist the aid of industry in the sale of defense savings bonds.

A meeting designed to acquaint bankers with the complex treasury regulations governing the control of foreign funds will be held in Chicago Dec. 2 and 3 under the joint auspices of the American Bankers' association and the United States treasury. The meeting is one in a series to be held in various banking centers in the country, each being in charge of the federal reserve bank of the city in which it is held.

More than 700 reservations have been made for the meeting of the Executives' Club of Chicago tomorrow noon at which Thurman W. Arnold will speak on "Antitrust Laws and Union Activities."

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad board of directors yesterday reëlected Danial Willard chairman, and R. B. White, president at New York.

Gilbert M. Clayton, executive manager of the Illinois Chain Store council, has been named chairman of the Illinois retailers advisory committee of the United States defense savings program.

FREIGHT FORWARDER.

Please send me information on the operations of United States Freight company. Does it ship by air? Have its earnings improved under rearmament transportation demands?—J. C. L.

Answer: The United States Freight company is the country's largest forwarder of freight. It operates thru subsidiaries engaged in consolidating and forwarding less than carload shipments and in trucking and warehousing. The company uses most of the important railroads in conjunction with a truck system for assembling and distributing shipments at various main points. United States Freight also is engaged in store delivery and coastwise and ocean transportation services. Air shipments were begun this year thru a subsidiary, Universal Air Freight corporation, by means of major air lines. United States Freight, organized in 1925, has its main office in New York City and has offices and warehouses in all principal cities.

For the nine months thru September this year, net income was $638,425, or $2.13 for each of the 299,566 shares of no par capital stock outstanding. This was a gain of 233.8 per cent over the $191,271, or 64 cents a share, in the same 1940 period. Gross revenue in the respective periods was $38,095,969 and $29,721,725.

Earnings for years ended Dec. 31 follow:

| | Gross revenue. | Net income. | Per share. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1940 | $40,023,460 | $342,652 | $1.14 |
| 1939 | 38,929,193 | 297,903 | .99 |

| 1936 | 48,877,887 | 514,127 | 1.72 |

*Loss.

Dividends were omitted in 1937 and 1938. In 1939, 50 cents a share was paid and $1 was distributed last year. Three dividends of 25 cents each have been paid this year and a fourth of the same amount is payable Dec. 5.

United States Freight listed total assets of $12,741,149 on June 30. The stock is traded on the New York Stock exchange.

INTERMEDIATE CREDIT.

What are the functions of the Federal Intermediate Credit banks?—M. B.

Answer: The 12 Federal Intermediate Credit banks extend credit to local financing institutions making loans to farmers and also make loans to coöperative marketing and purchasing associations.

Is the Texas and New Orleans railroad an independent line?—N. S. G.

Answer: This railroad is a subsidiary of the Southern Pacific system but it is independently operated.

EXTRA OR LARGER DIVIDENDS VOTED BY MANY FIRMS

Bond Stores Will Pay Two of 40 Cents.

Directors of Bond Stores, Inc., men's clothiers, yesterday declared an extra dividend of 40 cents in addition to the regular quarterly payment of the same amount.

Other extras declared in addition to regular payments included: Ingersoll-Rand company, New York, maker of machinery, $1; Mathieson Alkali Works, Inc., New York, 25 cents; Yale & Towne Manufacturing company, New York, maker of locks, 40 cents special; George W. Helme, New York, manufacturer of snuff, 50 cents; Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company, 10 cents; Fanny Farmer Candy Shops, Inc., Rochester, N. Y., 25 cents; National Bond and Share corporation, New York, 40 cents.

Westinghouse Boosts Total.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company declared dividends of $1 each on the common and participating preferred shares, bringing payments for the year on each to $5, against $4.75 each in 1940.

Zonite Products corporation, New York, declared a dividend of 15 cents, the first since one of the same amount was authorized in 1932. Rollins Hosiery Mills, Inc., announced a $4 dividend on the convertible preferred shares to apply on accumulations, the first payment on the issue since 1939.

Increases in total dividends this year over the preceding year included: Munsingwear, Inc., Minneapolis, Minn., maker of underwear, $2, bringing the year's total to $2.50, against 25 cents in 1940; Mesta Machine company, $3 this year, against $2 in 1940; Hercules Powder company, $3, against $2.85 in 1940; Union Carbide and Carbon corporation, $3, against $2.55 last year.

BONES OF INSULL SYSTEM RATTLED AGAIN BY MASTER

"Sinister Domination" of Utility Charged.

The skeleton of the defunct Insull utility system rattled again yesterday as a federal District court master in chancery charged one of the former units in the system with "sinister domination" of its subsidiary and recommended a searching examination of the dealings between this company and other old Insull companies.

Chester A. McDonald, the master in chancery, filed two reports with Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan in which the accusation and recommendations were contained. The findings were based on hearings arising from the bankruptcy reorganization proceedings of the Inland Power and Light corporation and the Commonwealth Light & Power company, its parent, both remnants of the old Insull empire. Both went into receivership in 1932.

Opposes $620,132 Claim.

McDonald recommended to Judge Sullivan that Inland should not be allowed claims of $620,132 against a $1,045,134 fund created more than a year ago by the sale of common stock of the Michigan Public Service company, owned by Inland, until holders of Inland's collateral trust bonds are paid in full.

The report said that Inland had broken faith with its bondholders and with its subsidiary, Michigan Public Service, by diluting the value of the Michigan stock which had been pledged as security for the bonds.

Finding that Inland forced its subsidiary to pay it dividends for five years by borrowing from Inland, McDonald asserted:

"Such a policy indicates sinister domination on the part of a parent corporation over its subsidiary which is shocking to the conscience of this court."

Asks Independent Audit.

McDonald recommended in the second report that an independent audit be made of the dealings between Middle West Utilities company [now Middle West corporation], one time top unit in the Insull system; Commonwealth, its subsidiary, and Inland before allowing claims of the first two against the $1,045,134 fund.

Middle West is Inland's largest single creditor. The nature of the relationship between Middle West and Inland would determine whether the former is entitled to the same treatment as the public holders of Inland bonds, the report said.

HOLIDAY CURBS PRODUCTION OF ELECTRIC POWER

Electric power output last week dropped less than was seasonally expected as the Thanksgiving holiday reduced industrial demands. The Edison Electric institute yesterday reported production at 3,205,034,000 kilowatt hours compared with 3,304,464,000 in the preceding week, and 2,839,421,000 in the corresponding period in 1940.

The holiday slowdown was apparent in the report of the Commonwealth Edison company for its output in the Chicago area. It reported its output for last week at 150,186,000 kilowatt hours against 160,361,000 in the preceding week and 138,017,000 in the corresponding week last year.

SHELL UNION OIL CORPORATION

RISING COSTS CUT OPERATIONS NET OF MORE ROADS

More slumps in railroad earnings, caused by allowances made to meet wage increases recommended by the President's fact finding board in the railroad-union controversy, were reported yesterday.

The Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific estimated that the wage increase would cost the corporation $610,842 in October and part of September, thereby reducing net operating income for October to $1,312,584 from $1,670,312 in the corresponding month in 1940. For the first 10 months of 1941 the road reported a net operating income of $15,647,382, against $6,139,717 a year earlier.

Gross revenues of the Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe last month showed almost a 30 per cent increase over 1940, but operating expenses rose about 40 per cent and railway tax accruals nearly 26 per cent to knock the road's net from railroad operations down to $3,567,222 from $3,653,298 in 1940. Ten months' net operating income was $33,445,509, compared with $17,750,993 a year ago.

Burlington Reports.

The Burlington reported its October net income after taxes and charges was $1,176,776 against $1,857,112 a year earlier. For the ten months it earned $9,196,386, the equivalent of $5.38 a share on its capital stock, compared with $2,123,955, or $1.24 a share in the first ten months of 1940.

The Northern Pacific estimated that the increase in wages would cost it $450,000 for October and $150,000 for one-third of September. Unlike the others, however, its net railway operating income for October showed a gain, totaling $2,108,422 against $1,770,001 in 1940.

SITE ANNOUNCED FOR ARMOR MILL AT EAST CHICAGO

The new armor plate castings factory of the Continental Roll and Steel Foundry company will be constructed on an eight acre tract just south of the company's East Chicago, Ind., plant at 144th street and Railroad avenue, Jay T. Osler, president, said yesterday.

The site is being purchased by the government's Defense Plant corporation, which has authorized the expenditure of $1,444,488 for land and buildings, and $4,049,000 for machinery and equipment. The DPC will own the plant and Continental will operate it under a five year contract.

Osler estimated that 1,200 workers would be hired to operate the plant. About 1,500 are employed in the present East Chicago works.

Dismiss Monopoly Charge Against Celotex Corp.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26 (AP).—The Federal Trade commission dismissed today a complaint charging the Celotex corporation, Chicago, thru purchase of the capital stock of Certain-Teed Products corporation, New York, had violated a section of the Clayton act forbidding a corporation from acquiring control of another in a manner to restrain trade or create a monopoly.

Plan to Dissolve United Light Is Given Holders

United Light and Power company, Chicago, top holding company in a half billion dollar utility system, sent to its stockholders yesterday a statement of the details of a series of corporate financial transactions designed to carry out a Securities and Exchange commission order requiring dissolution of the company.

The details were contained in a plan which has been filed with the SEC and on which a hearing will be held Dec. 16, William G. Woolfolk, president, informed the stockholders.

The program centers around a newly organized operating unit to be known as Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company.

Plan Transfer of Stock.

Steps in the plan include:

United Light and Railways company, all of the common stock of which is owned by UL&P, will pay the new company $13,375,000 and transfer to it all the securities of United Power Manufacturing company. In return, the railways company will receive all of the capital stock of the new company.

The new company will pay UL&P $13,375,000 for the securities and indebtedness of a group of operating companies known as the "first lien" companies. These are Cedar Rapids Gas company, Fort Dodge Gas and Electric company, Iowa City Light and Power company, Ottumwa Gas company, Peoples Light company, Peoples Power company, Tri City Railway company, and Moline-Rock Island Manufacturing company. Indebtedness to be assumed by the new company consists of 16 million dollars of first lien and consolidated mortgage bonds of United Light and Power.

Common Stock Sole Asset.

The first lien companies and United Power Manufacturing company then will be dissolved, and their assets taken over by the new company.

After UL&P is thus relieved of its obligations on the first lien and consolidated mortgage bonds and after certain other minor transfers are made, UL&P will have as its sole asset, except for residual cash, the common stock of United Light and Railways company. The top company proposes then to distribute the railways common among UL&P stockholders.

No action by security holders on the plan is required or requested, Woolfolk said. The SEC will pass on the fairness of the proposal.

BIG PROFIT GAIN IN QUARTER MADE BY TRUAX-TRAER

Earnings nearly three times as large as a year earlier were reported yesterday by Truax-Traer Coal company, Chicago, for the three months ended Oct. 31, the second quarter of its fiscal year. The profit was $316,716, equal to 71 cents a common share, again $112,796, or 24 cents a share, in the corresponding period in 1940.

The company, which operates 11 mines located in Illinois, North Dakota, and West Virginia, also reported for the six months ended with October a net income of $441,101, equal to 97 cents a share, compared with $2,381 in the six month period a year earlier.

LACK OF SCRAP TO CUT INLAND'S OUTPUT OF STEEL

Inland are probable before many weeks have passed.

"For more than a year there has been a steady drain on our scrap reserves," Block said. "For the last 60 days we have been receiving only about 50 per cent of the scrap needed from the open market for our operations, and our inventories are nearly exhausted."

In 1943 Inland expects to complete a 34 million dollar expansion project which will give the company an additional 900,000 tons of pig iron capacity. This program will help in solving the scrap problem, since pig iron can be substituted in part for scrap.

Carnegie Output Rising.

Carnegie-Illinois steel production, reduced by the recent captive coal mine strike, was at slightly more than 101 per cent of theoretical capacity yesterday, but officials said that near the end of the week it will be back at 103 per cent, near the practical peak rate for the company.

Government price ceilings on scrap iron and administration of these regulations are blamed in part by many responsible steel industry leaders for the scrap shortage.

These ceilings, they say, discourage collection of scrap from remote places and are not sufficiently flexible to meet conditions in some local areas.

In commenting on the steel situation, Iron Age said that in view of work stoppages, "overdoses" of priorities, scrap and pig iron shortages and other retarding factors "the steel industry this week felt more than ever it was doing a good job in keeping steel production so close to capacity." Loss in ingot output in the Pittsburgh area alone as a result of the captive coal mines strike was 21,000 tons, the publication estimated.

SPECIAL REPRESENTATIVES
Wurlitzer, World's oldest and largest music house, has a unique opportunity for a few young men who are looking for a real job with a permanent future. We need 2 or 3 good men to start in our educational department to offer the famous Wurlitzer 3-for-1 music lesson plan. While sales experience is helpful, it is not essential. No knowledge of music is required. Frankly, we're not looking for men who take on one "proposition" after another. We hope to reach some earnest, willing men who really want to go places. We will offer such persons a most attractive arrangement of a weekly drawing account and commission that will enable you to make good money to start with, and from then on you'll be given a substantial opportunity to get ahead.
We're not making any fancy promises in this ad, so you'll be let down later. Actually, here's a forthright chance for a few capable people to get connected with the biggest, most aggressive music company in the country. Ask to see the manager. To prove our good faith, the head of the Wurlitzer Chicago stores will see you in person.

CASH FOR Winter Bills

Don't let winter expenses get you head over heels in debt. Ask the Commonwealth manager to help you. He will show you how to arrange small, easy-to-meet payments on any bills you now owe. He will also go over, with you, the numerous extra items of expense that are associated with the winter season and show you how to pay for those things with the very least effort and inconvenience. By providing you with the cash to buy what you need now, he can protect you against rising prices and thus save you much more than the cost of the loan. Why not stop in today, or better yet, phone for complete details.
